- Hulu wants us to improve aspect ratio of video cover art images for NF. Worth noting that they are working with Twitter on improving video stories being shared.

[Books]

- Goodreads on Kindle: OOBIE & OG integration slated to launch by late Nov for both Fire & e-Ink. Hold-ups on Amazon Platform Agreement are not slowing down GROK integration.

[FITNESS]

- Fitbit working through resource assessment around OG. Meeting next week.

- Nike launched their FB & IG photo experience for running last week. We pushed out a complimentary improvement to photo + OG Fitness action story for iOS where users will be able to swipe between running maps & photos.

[OTHERS]

- Uber coming in for an all-day Wed hack. Login, Auto-fill, and Events are potential project that will be worked on (Bryan)
- PicsArt (50MM installs on Android) discussions around integration optimization and Neko ramp-up (KP)

PRODUCT PARTNERSHIPS & BD UPDATE (9/30-10/11)

Entities (Jackie)

[DATA & AFFILIATES]

- Live Event Ticketing (Hunch & Events): TM projected to close by end of Oct. Agreement meets our data goals and provides us the best pay-out with reasonable give on our side re:commission window. Evaluating Eventbrite head data. Stubhub to provide data sample for both themselves and ZVents with affiliate discussions picking back up next week. Likely moving forward with Eventful data deal given their data coverage. Initial pitch to Active (local activities from marathons to conferences) and Ticketfly successful, next step to meet decision makers & begin discussions around data needs.

- Movie Ticketing (Hunch & Pages): Fandango's first draft is pretty far off. Reassessing their commitment to launch. Projected close now TBD until we reconnect this week.

- Media Consumption (Hunch): One more open item for TMS, projected close by EOW. TMS provides content mapping, working now on approvals from Netflix and other content partners to display their links on entity cards. Apple sent first draft which is farther off than initial thought, projected close now TBD until we reconnect with them next week.

- Music (Ridge & Minutiae): Close to closing the UMG deal; Sony is close (a couple weeks); and still working on WMG.

- Restaurant Reservation (Hunch & Places): OpenTable affiliate deal closed.

- Location (Places): Beginning to scope Q1 '14 data priorities with Emily Grewal, which include: menus, food imagery, & POI. Reached out to by Bookings.com (largest OTA w/ 337k hotel properties ww) to engage on data & affiliate partnership.

- Books (Hunch & Pages): Book data set as low-pri on product side, pausing conversations with Bowker, Barnes & Noble. Strong interest from B&N for an affiliate partnership. Random House now merged with Penguin to become the largest book publisher. Strong interest from publishers to provide direct book sampling in FB.

PLATFORM (Simon & KP)

[POLICY & ENFORCEMENT]

- Platform Simplification: Decision made to move forward with hashed UUIDs - all apps impacted. Working with data analysts to quantify and capture severity of impact, especially for verticals like Games & Marketing.

[LOGIN]

- Auth Referral Deprecation: Spotify & iHeartRadio at 100% complete, which closes out overall deprecation.

- Login v4: iHeartRadio and Rdio declined beta due to new model not passing user email, which is core to their use of login. Pandora to confirm this week if Login will make the 6 month roadmap.

[ACTION IMPORTERS]

- Action Importers for Timeline Collections: Feedback from Mark to hold and re-scope this product as a broader functionality for Login, Collections, and App Feed. Updated Netflix, Endomondo, Runkeeper on this indefinite pause. Partners have less and less bandwidth for FB requests, this is a good lesson to thoroughly vet out product before approaching partner given that it lessons credibility for future product asks.

[SAVED]

- A new product in the works to create a private means for users to bookmark content they want to view later. Objects saved in FB will default to 'only me' privacy. Still working through how we will treat third-parties using common 'want' actions given concerns around potential user confusion created for existing partner integrations.

[SEND-TO-MOBILE]

- Desktop Plugin: Simon to present to Zuck at a mini-prototype forum next Tues.

HOME (Ime)

[APP FEEDS]

Successful launch of Pinterest, Instagram, Tumblr, and Flickr integrations.

MESSENGER (Bryan)

[STICKERS]

Relativity Media (Free Birds) launched.

[MSG PLATFORM: TITAN API]

- Messenger as a platform: Exploring Bundling, Preload, and Platform opportunities for Messenger with Ameet Suri .

VERTICALS (Ime)

[MUSIC]

- Mobile Radio Stations: iHeartRadio presented ideas to our product team on & Pandora now working on the same.
- Event Playlists: Rdio to start end-to-end testing of export flow

[FITNESS]

- Ime & Aryeh attending NikeFuel Forum to explore ideas around Movement, Motivation and NikeFuel with experts from Nike, and in the industry of health, fitness, and motivation

PRODUCT PARTNERSHIPS & BD UPDATE (9/16-9/27)

Entities (Jackie)

[DATA & AFFILIATES]

- Live Event Ticketing (Hunch & Events): TM affiliate deal moving forward with lowered commission to replace window constraints. Placement guarantees for official primary and secondary is remaining sticking point. Exploring Eventbrite &

Stubhub as additional affiliates and talking with Ticketfly this week. Still evaluating legal risk of an Eventful data-only deal for torso & tail events.

- Movie Ticketing (Hunch & Pages): Fandango Internal Evaluation Agreement done, opening up showtime and theater data this week. Affiliate deal projected to close by end of Oct.
- Media Consumption (Hunch): TMS sent over draft and opened data for evaluation, still projected to close by end of Oct. Apple open to covering IAP and FAS for media content (in addition to apps) under a standard 7% commission. Projected to close by end of Nov. Hunch to move forward with TMS movies/tv iTunes mapping and Ingram ISBN matching with Apple search API as short-term launch strategy.
- Restaurant Reservation (Hunch & Places): Getting close to wrapping up the OpenTable affiliate deal by beginning Oct.
- Music (Ridge & Minutiae): Redline out to all 3 major labels (UMG, WMG, SME). Expect them all back next week.
- Sport Scores (Springfield): Sports Data deal complete. Marie Hagman to manage data use/access.
- Books (Hunch & Pages): Exploratory conversations with Bowker (ISBN agency & data broker) around robust author, bestseller/media mention, & additional ISBN data coverage. Exploring affiliate program with Barnes & Noble this week.

PLATFORM (Simon & KP)
[POLICY & ENFORCEMENT]

- Platform Simplification: Delivery XFN formed to focus on execution of changes. Areas of focus will include: (1) Auditing partners with non-standard Platform Agreements (2) Capabilities clean-up and (3) Auditing partner impact for proposed deprecated APIs

[LOGIN]

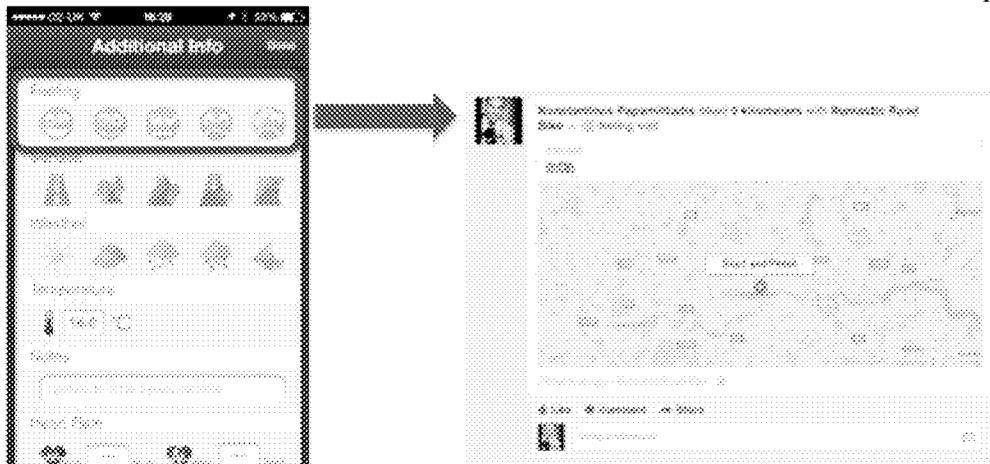

- Auth Referral Deprecation: Spotify & iHeartRadio at 50% removal with goal of 100% within 2 weeks.
- Login v4: Pitching Pandora & iHeartRadio this week as test partners. Spotify excluded due to current issues around login & registration.

[ACTION IMPORTERS]

- Action Importers for Timeline Collections: Netflix agreed to 10% testing in the US. Endomondo cleaned-up auth dialog and wants to test first before providing confirmation. Waiting for Runkeeper's confirmation for 20% testing.

[MINUTIAE]

- Minutiae API: Runtastic launched minutiae for bike action stories to 100% of Bike App users.

HOME (Ime)

[APP FEEDS]

Rebrand from "Facebook Home" to "Home" and new logo. Partners ready for the 10/3 beta launch date.

MESSENGER (Bryan)

[STICKERS]

Relativity Media (Free Birds) and King.com (Candy Crush) targeting launches of Oct 7 and Oct 14.

[MSG PLATFORM: TITAN API]

- Netflix: Initial testing shows 4X higher FB Connect rates with private sharing entry point vs. OG.
- Messenger as a platform: Exploring bundling models with partnerships evaluated on a growth driving basis.

VERTICALS (Ime)

[MUSIC]

- Mobile Previews: Deezer launched tags, Spotify launched tags for 50 songs (still working on full catalogue), & Rdio still negotiating with labels.
- Event Playlists: Rdio to build simple endpoint to enable testing by EOW.
- Subscriptions: Deezer extended trial to another 10 countries. Low figures still.
- Growth: Expanding international coverage by targeting new market leading partners: (1) Spinlet is the biggest music service in Africa & SEA (2) Musicqubed is a white-label music player platform for mobile operators committed to integrate with SDK & Native Share Dialog by end of Oct. Spotify furthering international expansion with recent launches in Taiwan, Greece, Argentina, and Turkey.

[BOOKS]

- Readers: Reviewing wireframes new Goodreads on Kindle e-ink & Fire flows allowing users to share past Kindle purchases & in book progress & quotes set to launch ~Nov '13. Would like to re-initiate conversations around progress-based og book stories.

[FITNESS]

- Photos: Nike to release new photo support for FB & Instagram on 10/9 to coincide with a new OG Fitness photo story update in iOS.

PRODUCT PARTNERSHIP & BD UPDATE (9/3-9/13)

Entities (Jackie)

[DATA & AFFILIATES]

- Movie Ticketing (Supports Hunch & Pages): Fandango on board with a v1 deep-link experience off mobile Movie Pages. Affiliate and data deal discussions underway.
- Live Event & Ticketing (Hunch & Events): EventSource deal done but data ingesting revealed some data gaps. Evaluating legal risks in using Eventful as another source to fill the gaps. TM on board with v1 deep-link experience off new mobile Live Event Pages; affiliate and data deal discussions underway.

- Media Consumption (Hunch): TMS reduced fee in exchange for a similar feed that we provide Rovi. Planning on deep-linking to installed iOS apps (I.E. Netflix, Hulu, etc.) and prioritize streaming experiences first. Re-initiating affiliate discussion with Apple. Will not likely have an agreement in place by initial Hunch launch due to blockers on data usage.

- Restaurant Reservation (Hunch & Places): In negotiations with OpenTable but will likely end up with $.80/reservation affiliate structure.

- Music (Ridge & Minutiae): ~1-3 weeks away from closing the UMG and Sony agreements. Far off for WMG, but working on bridging the gap.

- Sport Scores (Springfield): Sports Data lowered price and offered 18 months free. Aiming to close end of Sept.

PLATFORM (Simon)

[POLICY & ENFORCEMENT]

- Platform Simplification (Previously 3.0): Still evaluating ecosystem impact, announcement tentatively set for Jan '14. Working with legal to audit special platform agreements. Review boards for exemption/extension to be created in Oct. '13

- Capabilities Clean-up: Goal is to account for all outstanding GK & Capabilities being used by partners and future streamlining of approvals. Initiating xfn conversations with Games and PMD to account for their partners. Audit in ~3-4 weeks.

[OG INTEGRATIONS]

- Action Importers for Timeline Collections: Goodreads out per Amazon. Netflix and Runkeeper are in, but questions long-term value. Working with legal on the necessary coverage to testing .

- Rdio happy with recent spikes in Impressions/Clicks. Not entirely sure of cause, but may be attributed to artist exclusives like Paramore & MGMT. (see attached chart)

[MEDIA - INTERNAL]

- Music

- Mobile Previews: Deezer shipped tags for new Mobile Music Preview URLs with Rdio & Spotify 2-3 weeks behind.
- Event Playlists: Spotify punted to Q4 & Rdio still undetermined.
- Login v4: Pandora concerned around strength of profile data and lack of password.
- Subscriptions: Deezer trial launched on 9/10. Spotify evaluating deprecation due to inability to maintain or optimize this api. No further partners being on boarded due to lack of resourcing.

- Movies/TV: Intel demo'd new set-top box and discussed integration opportunities from Auth/OG to Ads.

- Books: Kindle Fire RCP agreement will likely sign this week. Likely launch in Oct with updated OOB, native share, and contact & event sync.

Description	Apps which have enabled the platform simplification migration won't get access to non-app friends. That means calls to /me/friends will only return the subset of the user's friends who have also TOS'd the app. Some apps have a valid use case to access non-app friends. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Venmo allow you to send a payment to a non-app friend- Bing needs this to display public data from your friends which they acquired via the firehose As such, we will need a new capability: "can_read_non_app_friends" When apps with this capability request /me/friends AND where the user has granted the user_friends permissions, the API will return the full set of the users friends, including friends who have not TOS'd this app.

Hi all,

Is there any possibility of moving forward with beta testing here? Hinge and Kickoff (formerly Firefly) are interested in integrating the new mutual friends APIs (and migrating to API v2) if possible. Thank you!

Best,
Michael

Hey KP:

We're currently awaiting privacy XFN approval. Im working worth Josh and Shirine to drive this. I suggest we don't share deets until then.

In terms of timeline, the all mutual friends api is easy to build and we can likely have this built within a couple of weeks of approval.

The second indexing api is more complex and will take longer - unknown at present.

I hope we get privacy XFN approval next week at which point you can share deets, How's that?

Hello gents,

Just following up on this thread to confirm if we have made any progress against those two new APIs.

I have been in discussions with both Tinder and Badoo the past few weeks walking them over the objectives of those APIs and they are both happy with the proposed solution, albeit Badoo have not yet given up on their efforts to petition for the full friends list as this gives them the opportunity to connect users with 2 or 3 degrees of separation.

Anyway, the next steps for me here would be to share a timeline and docs that explain in more details those APIs. Could you please let me know when we could socialize those?

Thanks a lot,
kp

Thanks for the feedback:

1/ re testing timeframe, we'd like to build the all_mutual_friends API pretty fast (weeks) and get them testing right away. The indexing API is a non-trivial eng task so is further away. We don't want to block on this.

2/ This would only be available when specifying v2.x in their URLs, but they can do that just for these calls and keep all their other calls on v1.0.

3/ the deep linking review criteria is a suggestion at present – for discussion. Good feedback. Agree with Eddie. I'll soften the language in the doc – also also don't think its reasonable to surface all mutual friends. One would do – as that's the trip advisor UI.

Michael: thanks for following up; happy that this will work for them.

RE linking to the FB app: linking to the FB app from mutual friends isn't part of the review criteria ATM – just two features they can combine. That said, it's a good idea. :) If we did ask them to link, I would be fine with just linking from the Full Profile.

They would be able to use both 1.0 and 2.0 APIs concurrently - so would be no need to migrate to use the new APIs.

Subject: Re: Login + Dating Apps (Hinge and Firefly)

This looks great!

I had a call with Hinge on Friday, and they believe this will fit with their use case and are therefore pretty happy about it. They did have a few follow up questions:

- What's the timeframe for beta testing the APIs? They'd love to lock down an upgrade to API v2 by end of year, so the sooner the better from their end.

- Their CEO was wondering if there was any way to access these APIs in API v1 so that they could test before API v2 goes live and ensure a smoother transition – is this possible?
- Around the Review criteria requiring that the app surface mutual friends in the UI and deeplink to the Facebook profile:
 - They have two different use cases:
 - Match Cards: Shows a preview of the dating match (lists one mutual friend and no other information)
 - Full Profile: Shows the full profile of a dating match
 - Would they have to surface all mutual friends and deeplink in both instances, or would they meet the review criteria if they only did so from the full profile but not from the match card? They're concerned about doing so with the match cards, since they (a) don't want people to inadvertently click on the mutual friend and link to their profile when they meant to click through to the full profile and (b) they want this to be a "teaser" and therefore only list a handful of the mutual friends.

Thanks!

Best,
Michael

Hey guys,

I've written up the first draft of a proposal based on what we've previously discussed and what Eddie presented to Mike: <https://quip.com/j3poAQBUCI4x>

But this is just a straw man. Harsh, Eddie, Eugene: need your input to work this up to a state we can share more broadly – especially around the specifics of the APIs.

Thanks,

Tinder, Badoo, Airbnb, Tripadvisor and Vinted one of the e-commerce apps we work closely with and are great beta testers all have a dependency on common friends and are reserved to move to V2 until they have a plan B on how to mitigate the loss of common friends. The below solution works great for them and I would encourage us to deliver this on a timely way to ensure those folks are on V2 this side of the holiday season, mainly for optics.

Thoughts?

Yes – we can build a way for partners to open FB.app from their apps. We planned to launch this in December, though F8 work might defer that a bit.

Is it important for any of these scenarios – e.g. does Hinge do this today? Last time I checked, Hinge was NYC only, so I haven't used it myself.

Eddie, can we engineer a way for User B's profile day to deeplink into the user's timeline within the facebook app?

The rest is absolutely fine for all other use cases (outside dating) i have shared with you earlier.

My only other question is; how soon can we make this available to partners?

Thanks a lot for this - it will certainly unblock a few key migrations!

Hi Michael – we plan to make some additional info available through the Social Context API to support two key dating scenarios.

Given this graph:

User A friend with User B
User B friend with User C
A, C use the app
B does not use the app

The new APIs would support:

- 1/ showing User B as a mutual friend when User A looks at User C's profile
- 2/ letting the app use User B in algorithmic matchmaking to match User A and User C

These APIs would return info including first name, last name, profile pic, and an opaque token.

They may not be happy with this because they don't get the raw data, but suggest that we explain this to them and get feedback.

Thoughts? Sound good?

Hi Michael – thanks for the detailed note; this is good info We're discussing this with Mike mid-next week, so we won't have an update until at least Thursday.

For context: we have a tentative plan to propose to Vernal about how to support these scenarios but plan to emit this data throughout the Social Context API rather than giving them back the raw friend list. I expect we will support some of their use cases, but they may not be happy with the amount of data they get back from us.

Will let you know what happens Wednesday.

Subject: Login + Dating Apps (Hinge and Firefly)

Hi Eddie and Jason,

As noted previously, Hinge and Firefly leverage friends of friends to make dating matches (and in the case of Hinge, also friends-of-friends-of-friends), and are concerned about losing access to mutual friend data under API 2.0. Were requested that both Hinge and Firefly reach out to us with proposed solutions for their particular use cases.

I've attached both statements from Hinge and Firefly and have pasted a summary below. Hinge in particular is looking to move quickly for a solution, so would love to circle back on this early next week if possible. Please let me know if you have any questions. Thanks!

Best,
Michael

Current use cases

Hinge

- Permissions: Basic + friend list
- Data use:
 - Uses mutual friends to display potential dating matches to users - does so for both friends of friends (2nd degree) and friends of friends of friends (3rd degree)
 - For 2nd degree: when there is a mutual match, will display mutual friends to each (including non-app friends)
 - For 3rd degree: when there is a mutual match, will display mutual friend (but doesn't surface 3rd degree connections)

Firefly

- Permissions: Basic + friend list
- Data use:
 - Introduces users to their friends' single friends a few people at a time by leveraging friends-of-friends data

Proposed solutions

Hinge

1. Whitelist for full friend list

- Indefinite whitelist of API 1.0 or with a long term extension OR
- API 2.0 with global IDs with access to the user's full friend list and basic info for non-app friends OR
- API 2.0 with app-scoped IDs, but allow querying the user's full friend list and basic info for non-app friends

2. 2nd degree connections + mutual friends (two parts):

- Allow Hinge to query for 2nd degree connections (friends-of-friends) who are Hinge users. In addition to the friend list query which returns a list of Hinge users who are friends with the current user, also provide an ability to query for the list of friends-of-friends who are current Hinge users. This option would only return a list of Hinge users, but would still allow them to make 2nd and 3rd degree connections between users. AND
- Grant access to all mutual friends, either by:
 - Allowing the call to work the way it does now (returning UIDs) OR
 - Simply returning the name of the user (with photo)

Firefly

- Allow users to share their full friend list

I had a chat with Peter on Messenger about this, but I want to understand if the group has any concerns giving an extension to Skype for XMPP beyond 04.30.

My recommendation would be to do so for a short period of time, i.e. until the end of May to avoid having other partners like Yahoo! or AOL complaining about unfair treatment. Skype advised us that due to their migration to Graph API v2.x and the deprecation of read_stream, they need to make a considerable amount of changes in their Apps during the next few weeks that won't give them enough time to make all the changes on time.

The proposed approach is fine by me! Two minor things:

1/ I am happy to look back at the legal docs to confirm if we have any contractual notice periods longer than 12months with any of the 3rd parties listed below

2/ I'd rather product partnerships sends the alert to managed partners like MSFT/Skype etc that we have not talked to already about this (AOL) Vs getting this delivered as a Dev Alert to admins of the app

Thanks a lot,

One important thing about whitelisting the "Facebook Chat" application -
<https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/id2/473707746037475/>
This is an internal app that is used as a "proxy" app for plain password login, i.e. Some chat clients (e.g. Pidgin) can prompt with user + password to gain access to our chat infra.
Given the effort to keep applications that match a certain criteria, the plain password authentication scheme is an easy breach, as we can not (reliably) identify client applications using this scheme.
We shouldn't whitelist the plain password app, correct me if I'm wrong.

Subject: Re: XMPP Privatization on April 30th

Hey folks – I wanted to circle back on this thread – apologies its taken a lot longer than expected.

TL;dr: we think we should whitelist just 9 apps for the XMPP API, and let the rest go dark on April 30th.

As a reminder, the XMPP API gives apps read/write access into Facebook Messages as well as access to the full friendlist and online presence.

Ronen pulled data on the apps making use of the XMPP API, and we've canvassed opinion from a few folks (especially Peter's context below). I've summarized all the info and data here: <https://quip.com/AijXAHg8t7tR>

There are 9 Facebook-branded clients on the list – the rest are chat aggregators which we no longer want to have access to the Messenger API.

The apps I think we retain are: BlackBerry Smartphones App, Facebook for Android, Facebook Chat, Facebook for USSD, Facebook for iPhone, BlackBerry PlayBook tablet app, Messenger for BlackBerry 10, Facebook for iPad, Facebook for USSD

This means the following apps are among those who will lose access to the XMPP API on April 30th:

- Microsoft (Windows Live Messenger)
- Skype
- Rounds
- Garena
- Nimbuzz Mobile
- ooVoo
- Go!Chat
- Trillian
- Adium
- Etc

Next steps:

1/ does this group agree with this plan? I'd like to lock it by the end of the week if not sooner. If you'd like to suggest changes, please shout now. I'll assume silence as tacit approval.

2/ check we're not bound by notice periods in contracts with any of the folks who're losing access – we shouldn't be since we announced the deprecation on April 30th 2014, but we should double check. KP and Peter – can you take the lead here?

3/ we need to send developer alerts to the affected apps. There's potential for blowback here as we're clearly refocusing on our own clients, and affecting other folk's business in the process. I'd like to send these next week (w/c 12th Jan). I'll work with PMM and PR on proactive and reactive messaging.

4/ We need to whitelist the relevant apps and test they'll still function correctly after April 30th. Again, I'll work with Ronen + Harsh and his team to implement this.

Peter, Eugene, KP, Ronen –let me know if you'd like to suggest changes to this approach.

Thanks guys,

Simon

Before f8 2014, any app could rock up to our self-service developer site, code against the XMPP api and ship that product to people.

At f8 we announce the public deprecation of the XMPP API. Apps created after f8 could not use it, but those created before f8 have until April 30th 2015 – after that date, the XMPP API will no longer be publicly available.

There are >200 apps using this API today. We need to determine who, if any, we want to continue having access to this API post April 30th 2015. As part of this we need to decide how we'd judge future requests to have access to this API.

For example, we need to know the answer to the question: do we want Adium, iChat, eBuddy etc to be able to have programmatic access to Facebook Messages?

If yes, we need to whitelist them, If not, we need to decide if theres ANY current user that we'd say yes to.

Nikhil, Shie

We're looking for who on growth/messaging can own the decision to which apps we're going to whitelist for XMPP.

Context: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/chirpbugs/permalink/670387093009909/>

The rationale for the privatization is as follows (reiterating Simon's explanation):

1. We don't want to give regular developers the ability to send and receive private FB messages - all the other API methods to read and write to the inbox are tightly controlled, but the XMPP API was a hole. The significance of this issue increased when we moved folks over to the messenger app where each msg results in a push notif.
2. in v2.0 and above, we only grant apps access to the subset of a Person's friends who also use the app. To give XMPP clients a useful service (allowing you to message any friend) we'd have to break this paradigm - which is not something we want to do en masse.

3. with FB Messenger, strategically we're moving to a world where we don't want FB messages aggregated with other messaging providers except in a few cases by companies who we trust/value - e.g. Building FB messaging into Apple iChat. For those folks, we can still provide XMPP via a whitelist.

FB's strategic position is enhanced by offering XMPP access to FB messages as a broad self-service developer product.

The deprecation has already been announced to developers (at f8 on April 30th) and we took this decision along with a broader set of platform simplification and reduction efforts to improve user trust, and ensure our public API surface area is more aligned with FB's overall strategy.

How do you guys think about this categorization and potential process? I really want to get these decisions to be made by Dan's team with us throw exceptions as needed, but happy to discuss other models.

I get a ton of requests like the below. I imagine Mike does too.

We have a tool (that we just rebuilt — Marie Hagman has a demo of it — it should really help) and a lightweight process (internal people post to <https://www.facebook.com/groups/420494141332540/>), and Eugene/Eddie approve) but we really don't have the level of rigor I would like to have on these requests.

As we move into the world of Platform 3.0, I am starting to talk about the APIs as follows:

Facebook App APIs

Private APIs used by our iOS, Android, etc. apps. Approval: Cory and/or Chris Daniels.

Partner APIs

Private APIs that we will make available to Partners like the News Feed API (not GraphQL), Coefficient API or requests like this. Private Beta APIs are in this bucket too — prior to a big launch. Approval: Chris Daniels

Platform APIs (Core)

Publicly available APIs that we make generally available to all non-competitive developers that we have an SLA and backward compatible guarantees. Competitive developer get a restricted access to just Login and Sharing. Approval: Justin (via Ops Unified Review but Justin is the ultimate approver)

Platform APIs (Experimental)

Publicly available APIs that we make general available to all developers with no or limited SLA and back compat. Once these APIs are moved into Core, they get the strong SLAs. Approval: Justin (via Ops Unified Review but Justin is the ultimate approver)

Chris/Justin: do you guys agree (broadly) with this frame and with you taking this role?

Mike/Dan: feedback?

Chris met Dick. He goes back a ways with Mike and I. See the below context. This API is no longer available as part of Core Platform APIs that are available to all developers, but part of the Partnership APIs. I'll leave it to you to make the determination if this make sense for the business.

Dick met Chris. He is also ex-Microsoft and runs our partnership team. He is the final approver on all requests like this. However it turns out, would love to see a demo. Hope all is well.

Interesting ... I'd like an opportunity to pitch my case (again). I've asked and gotten access a couple of times now from FB. :)

FWIW: Twitter and LinkedIn don't give out their API easy either.

Are you part of the group that decides who has access? If not, who?

I'd like to setup a meeting in mid September if possible? The demo rocks!

It falls under the terms of our search engine policy.

You can ask to crawl the site or graph via that policy, but i don't think we approve many of those requests.

Thanks for getting back to me Doug.

I have that API for Twitter and LinkedIn. Without having it from Facebook I won't be able to show much data from Facebook.

Is it possible to get access so that I can show the value? Demoing Facebook data is difficult without it.

Hey Doug

I've dusted off Bubbler and am making some great progress. Was wiring in my previous code that searched on email to get the Facebook profile and I am now getting:

{ error:
  { message: '(#200) Must have a valid access_token to access this endpoint', type: 'OAuthException', code: 200 } }
```

when calling

GET /search?q=jennifer%40blame.ca&type=user&access_token=XXXX

The same access token works making other calls such as:

GET /jenniferhardt?access_token=XXXX

This used to work (Vernal shared the API with me). What am I doing wrong? Is there a bit somewhere that needs to get flipped so I have access?

Maybe this problem is already solved but here's what I was getting at - in general I understand we want to make it hard for a developer to grow a new app by cross promoting from existing apps. The one exception is canvas - we want developers to be able to grow a new canvas game by cross-promoting from an existing canvas game, and this is what the lookup API would solve.

Is my understanding correct? If so my question is about how we would enforce that the developer does not abuse the lookup API to grow games off canvas (for example zynga.com). If we prevent this by policy, how do we enforce such a policy?

Thanks

We strive to have parity with our policies, but there are times where we make decisions like these that will help our products gain distribution. I wasn't personally involved in the decision to pre-fill Messenger, but this is my best guess behind why we do this.

We have allowed some third parties to pre-fill in the past, but for the most part we prohibit doing so in order to preserve the quality of certain channels (ex: we allowed apps in App Center to pre-fill user-generated photos w/ the URL to the app).

The main goal behind the pre-fill policy is to prevent apps from taking over a person's voice. Apps like FarmVille or promotions from advertiser's would have "Come join my farm!" or "I just entered for a chance to win, you should too!" It was less about the URL being inserted, and more about encouraging unique content to be created by people when they chose to share. That said, we still prohibit URL inserting and I think we should continue to do that despite the fact that we may elect to do so ourselves (such as here with Messenger, and with the recent Lookback Video).

Well, as a product Messenger is willing to sacrifice some trust and experience for growth. We aren't letting platform developers make the same tradeoff because we don't value their trust-vs-growth tradeoff the same way. I think it will just be inevitable that what our own apps do will not be on the same playing field as platform apps unless we have some way to consider ourselves to benefit from unpaid growth for platform apps.

Kevin that seems a little...unfair especially when our stance on some of these policies is that they're about ensuring trust and a great experience. My mental model on how platform is a level playing field could be way off though.

How do we think about prefill policies (section IV.2 from <https://developers.facebook.com/policy/>) when it comes to our own apps. For example, Messenger and Paper both now add a download link at the end of messages.

It seems a bit odd that we block other developers from doing things on our platform that we're ok with doing ourselves. Do we consider ourselves exempted?

>So we are literally going to group apps into buckets based on how scared we are of them and give them different APIs? How do we ever hope to document this? Put a link at the top of the page that says "Going to be building a messenger app? Click here to filter out the APIs we won't let you use!" And what if an app adds a feature that moves them from 2 to 1? Shit just breaks? And a messaging app can't use Facebook login? So the message is, "if you're going to compete with us at all, make sure you don't integrate with us at all."? I am just dumbfounded.

Thanks Gareth.

BTW...I hope this is not surprising to anyone. We sold developers a bill of goods around implicit OG 2 years ago and have been telling them ever since that one of the best things they could do is to a/b test and optimize the content and creative. Now that we have successes like Criminal Case in 2013, we're talking about taking it away. The metrics quotes below only tell half the story...not only do they get an important amount of traffic from this channel now, they have invested a lot of time to establish that traffic in our system. Even if we were to give them more traffic on home page in some other way, it still nullifies all of their work to integrate OG for the last 2 years.

The more I think about this, the more concern I have over the pile of asks we're making of our developers this year. PS12N is going to require them to alter how they deal with APIs (and for limited value), removing implicit sharing reverses a storyline that we've been pushing for 2 years now, and login v4 complicates the permission structure. We can measure the quantitative impact, but the qualitative impact is what could severely and irreparably hurt our canvas ecosystem.

I know you've all heard our concerns, but we're reaching a poignant moment here where it should be clear to everyone that this could be a very very painful transition.

Hey Ling, here's the feedback on implicit OG we've had from partners so far. I asked the team to send through to me by EOD Friday, so there may still be some more to come tomorrow, which I'll share with you if so.

Pretty Simple Games / Criminal Case (FB Game of the Year 2013):

"...for every new player coming from an invite, five were coming from an OG story. We had worked hard on creating interesting OG stories, with compelling art and narrative..."

Wooga / Diamond Dash / Pearl's Peril:

"OG (as it was) is the most important viral channel beside requests to generate new users and we were optimising all our games for this (interesting stories, compelling art). Since November even the App Center drives more new users and the game teams are very disappointed, because they put a lot of love and effort to Open Graph.

- In the past 33.1% of new users were coming from requests and 24.8% from Open Graph
 - Requests: 13.9k / OG: 10.5k
- Today 37.5% of new users are coming from requests and only 11.7% from Open Graph
 - Requests: 8.8k / OG: 2.8k

Plarium / Total Domination:

"Total Domination's success in this area is borne out by impressive results: 13 million stories driving 136 million impressions in January 2013 alone."

See attached pic from Plarium's GDC presentation last year: "75% increase in viral registrations with Open Graph"

Nordeus / Top Eleven:

"At Top Eleven, we are seeing OG actions as VERY valuable and useful part of the platform. It improves our virality significantly. To make this statement more prominent I have to say that we are seeing more than 150k clicks on OG actions DAILY, with users that are already using our app. That drives game re-engagement very nice. Also other but not less important thing is that we are having quite a lot of new installs via OG channel, and by that it enables us to continue growing.

Having all that in mind I hope you can imagine how BIG are OG actions for us."

A bit more background – about six months ago, I spun up an XFN group to investigate building a standalone contacts app (Sam, Javi and others were part of it). See attached deck for a high level what we were looking at from a market challenge/opportunity standpoint.

Where it landed:

1. Sam's focus for now re: contacts is on building an awesome contacts experience within the FB app
2. Javi is interested in building a standalone contacts app, as he sees it as a good way to fight the messaging battle (get ahead of the point of where the user decides which service to use to send messages). Sam is supportive of this parallel path, but lack of resources is the gating item (for now).

Based on the above two points and the challenge of monitoring which 3rd party apps become competitors vs. are ok (if Xobni is not ok, what is?), feel like we should keep this pretty tied down (enable OEMs' core/contacts apps to access the contact sync provider in FB4A as we currently allow).

Bcc some folks

Simon/Aaron - One suggestion would be to categorize these implementations as 'contact' implementations. This is the experience that Xobni has created but product (including Mark) wanted to shut off. We need to reconcile these divergent POV. The other POV that hasn't weighed in on these 'contact' implementations is Sam and the Identity team. We need to figure out whether these integrations are in strategic conflict with what they are doing. KP has time with Sam coming up soon and can plug you into that conversation.

Aaron - can you and Vikas help us identify ones like those that David describes below that provide great ux on phones that we could replace by working with OEMs and work with Simon on a mitigation plan for them?

I'm not sure which is the right group to post this in and this is probably the wrong one (Platform Feedback, maybe? Someone say the word and I'll move the post there), but I was thinking about the Platform 3.0 friend_list change a bit as I was using my Android phone tonight and realized that two of the apps that most impact my day-to-day mobile experience will be completely, irrecoverably broken by this change.

Both of these apps are using my friend list in similar ways. One is an app that helps me by associating high-resolution contact photos of my friends with the contacts in the various contact lists from my attached email accounts. This rather fundamentally transforms my phone -- when a friend calls, I see their face; when I pin contacts to my home screen, I can easily identify them by their contact photos; text messages show up with my friends' photos next to them. The contacts synchronized by the Facebook app are low resolution, and leave my phone feeling like a cheap piece of junk whenever someone calls, since I see a full-screen blurry photo on my phone's 1080p display. Furthermore, on some devices (like my old Galaxy Nexus), the contact sync option is completely disabled, so this app was a way to fill that gap.

The other app I'm using is an email app that provides some social context for people whom I'm exchanging emails with. When I look at an email from a person that I'm friends with (on various social networks), it adds on a little information about how I know that person.

In both of these cases, the apps are adding real value to my experience, and in both of those cases, I have zero expectation that any of my friends will be using the app. The fundamental problem I'm having with this change is that my friend list is _my_ information - it's part of who I am, and for Facebook to shut down this access primarily comes across to me as FB intruding upon and shutting down my own access to my own information.

No matter how you slice it, this change is going to have a significant negative impact on my day-to-day smartphone experience. I wish there were some way to sidestep this -- perhaps with a policy/enforcement change to address abuse rather than a platform change that sweeps up good actors (and whole classes of apps -- e.g. those that use social context as a supplement) along with the bad?

>When I talked to George about this last Thursday, we both wanted to understand Javi's concern here.

Edward O'Neil:

>The separation between those categories doesn't feel clean to me - e.g. apps can transition from aligned => competitive and will ultimately make us sad that we leaked a bunch of data to them when they were aligned.

>

Douglas Purdy:

>Javi doesn't care about games

Douglas Purdy:

>The separation is not clean.

Douglas Purdy:

>That is why there is a bucket between.

Edward O'Neil:

>Really? Last time we talked to him, he brought up Zynga as an example of what we didn't want to have happen.

>If Javi doesn't care about games, then it's not clear that we should be doing any of this opaque ID stuff.

Douglas Purdy:

>The only why to do that is removing email from Login.

Douglas Purdy:

>We aren't going to do that.

Edward O'Neil:

>Not sure I follow...

Douglas Purdy:

>A lot of the canvas ecosystem is still email based.

Douglas Purdy:

>I made a mistake here. I ask you guys to talk to Javi before we were lined up internally. Vlad told me that, but I didn't listen. Can we all meet before everyone talks to Javi again? I'll even bring in mike so you guys know we are really on the same page. This is my fault. Will fix.

Edward O'Neil:

>Well, Mike asked for the same thing. :)

Douglas Purdy:

>Are you talking to him about this now?

Edward O'Neil:

>No - he asked for us to talk to Sam and Javi in the last Core Platform review two Thursdays ago.

Douglas Purdy:

>He is ok with it -- if we have the right framing.

Douglas Purdy:

>We don't

Edward O'Neil:

>This was when he asked that we re-think this from first principles...

Edward O'Neil:

>Maybe it is worthwhile to spend tomorrow's meeting fixing this information asymmetry?

Douglas Purdy:

>Exactly. Our motto should be to remove all I18Y.

Edward O'Neil:

>Okay - then let's do that. :) Assume that's worth everyone's time?

Douglas Purdy:

>I think so....

Edward O'Neil:

>Okay - sounds good.

>Do you consider Dropbox aligned? Or competitive?

Douglas Purdy:

>Possibly competitive, could move to aligned with a big deal between us.

Edward O'Neil:

>Makes sense - does that imply there's a 4th category of apps?

Douglas Purdy:

>I think three is enough for this model, but i am still thinking about it. We have really complex connections, but I would like a simple model for most cases and then an exception process as a check/relief here.

Edward O'Neil:

>Yeah, agree... In that case, we'd assume Dropbox is competitive, which matches my expectation.

Douglas Purdy:

>What are the three states in your model?

Edward O'Neil:

>I'm just reusing yours - competitive now, competitive future, aligned.

>And would assume Dropbox is future.

Douglas Purdy:

>Yes

Douglas Purdy:

>Exactly.

Douglas Purdy:

>Partner is the other state, but I think we can omit.

Edward O'Neil:

>Agree.

Edward O'Neil:

>And, a partner could move from aligned => competitive * - e.g. two mid-level game partners merge and buy Layer for messaging?

Edward O'Neil:

>Okay - thanks for the context. Will be good to discuss in more detail in the AM.

Apologies for the slow response. I was off the grid in Big Sur. My response would've largely been the same as Kevin's.

It does suck that Platform has been built in a way that led to this situation. I can assure you that your concerns are our concerns and they are not going unheard. I talk about this in every single meeting I have with Mike, Doug, Zuck.

Lobbying to reverse this particular decision is not the most productive thing we can do here. The underlying organizational issue would come up again and again in a bunch of different APIs in the future. There are beginnings of a plan to "reset" Platform to a state where the rest of the company is happy to provide a rock solid stability guarantee to developers.

So, I'm glad you're holding this rant because there's just a lot of things in flight day to day regarding this whole issue. We made a pretty good breakthrough in our lobbying late last week and should sync in person.

Thanks for the thorough response. I will delay posting this until after we've had a chance to talk about it. I think Tom and David would benefit from hearing your response as well, since they've had the same concerns as I have.

Hmm. Well I basically agree with 80% of this rant. But, my suggestion is to hold off on posting this rant, because I think I have the answers to a few questions that you are missing here and I think you will agree with my suggested strategy once I fill in more answers.

My initial reaction to the friends thing was also, hey this is retarded. But in the course of complaining I have gotten a lot more context.

"Stealing the graph" is precisely the reason. It is neither of the other two. The concern is specifically that big competitors like specifically Google and Wechat and the various Wechat-like competitors will manage to scrape the graph of friend connections.

"That sends a clear message to developers: Facebook Platform comes second to Facebook the Social Networking Product."

Well, it's awkward but that is just true. The internal deal that made it possible for platform to exist in the first place was that the social networking product could demand the revocation of any feature at any time, even if it sucks for developers. In return, platform could build whatever APIs they wanted. The deal is sort of an implicit thing, but it's how it works. The social networking product is now demanding the revocation of friends.get and also the ability to read one's feed. This will also break products like Flipboard that provide an alternative to reading Facebook content on Facebook.

"why should any of us work on a product that could be crippled at any time to benefit another team?"

Indeed, platform has been losing engineers for some time for this reason. This makes the remaining engineers unhappy, and one of the reasons I hesitate to say go ahead and post this is that I think this part of your rant feels like poking the remaining folks in the eye.

So, the things that suck, I agree that they suck. Where I disagree is the "ask". The rationale of "this makes Platform terrible" is not sufficient to make the social network side of the business take back their requests for this breakage. They would rather have the platform shut down entirely, and under the terms of the deal, they could have that if they wanted.

What I think we should do and what Ilya and I have been pitching and what I think is actually possible and going to happen is to revisit the terms of the deal between platform and the social network. We need to be able to offer features that do not break at any time, and we need the social network to accept that. We need features that, if they really are being revoked, at least we can keep them maintained for a period of years, and not break mobile developers' apps. In return, the other part of the deal will have to be stricter. Instead of "platform can build whatever APIs it wants", new features will have to be either pre-vetted by the social network side or there must be some fallback plan where they do not actually break if they are bad for the business.

How we get there from here is an interesting question, because the current surface area of platform is not something that platform can even maintain, let alone get the social network to commit to. But there are parts that the social network will commit to. So there are a whole lot of execution details here and perhaps at some point rather than counter-ranting it would be more effective for us to chat in person.

Tldr I hope this has been compelling enough to get you to delay posting this rant ;-). Let me discuss this with you in person first.

Hi guys,

I just wanted to give you a heads up about a status I'm planning on posting later today unless I hear a really extremely compelling reason not to.

Also if you have any particular feedback about it, I'm glad to hear it.

Thanks,

Hi folks,

I need your help. I'm trying to write a post about how bad an idea it would be to remove the api that lets you get a list of the user's friends from Facebook Platform. In order to illustrate my point, I'd like to satirically suggest removing some API that is so core to the developer experience that removing it would be ridiculous on its face.

For example, removing the Windows API method that lets you create a new window. Or removing the Twilio API method that lets you send a text message. Both suggestions are utterly insane. The problem is, for Facebook Platform, removing the method to let you get a list of friends literally is already that ridiculous. I can't think of an example more ridiculous to parody it with.

Before we discuss it in more detail, I'd like to clear up some misconceptions about the deprecation. I've heard some rumors floating around about why we are doing this. But many of them are clearly pablum designed to make engineers think this decision has solid technical reasons. It does not.

1/ This API can be abused so we should remove it.

False. That is a non-sequitur. Lots of our APIs can be abused. Our whole product can be abused. That's why we have one of the best teams in the industry at detecting and stemming abuse. That team, plus Unified Review, is more than sufficient to deal with any theoretical abuse coming from this API. Even if this were true, who wants to be in that classroom where the whole class is punished for the transgressions of a few?

2/ It's okay to remove because we've provided alternatives for the common uses.

False. If you think that's true, then I don't think you realize why developer platforms exist. If we wanted to limit Facebook to the set of use cases we've already imagined, we could just do that ourselves, and not even have a Platform. The purpose of a Platform is to let people build new things on top of it. It's to enable the whole universe of ideas that anyone in the world could think of. Developers out there will have all sorts of crazy ideas. We want them to build those crazy ideas on top of Facebook.

Do you know why Facebook was originally built for the WWW instead of being part of CompuServe or AOL's proprietary networks? It's because the web is an open and extensible platform. It lets developers make their craziest dreams become reality. Tim Berners-Lee never imagined someone coming along and building what Facebook is today on top of it. If we make our Platform a rigid box and try to force developers into it, all we're going to do is encourage them to jump out of that box. And Facebook will be the next AOL.

So, if neither of those reasons explains why we are doing this, what's driving it? The only reason I've heard that makes sense it that we are worried about people "stealing the graph". We are doing this as a protectionist grab to make sure no one else can make a competing social network by bootstrapping with our social graph.

Okay, so let's assume for a minute that the social graph does belong to us, and not to our users. And let's even go so far as to assume that this is a real problem, although I'm not convinced it is. I mean, concerns that other companies will steal our friend graph may just be paranoia. But for the sake of argument, let's say it's not.

Then what? We're removing the core API in our developer platform. Out of concerns that someone will steal our social network product. That sends a clear message to developers: Facebook Platform comes second to Facebook the Social Networking Product. This has been a criticism all along with our Platform. When you go read the blog posts critical of our Platform, they all hit on this same point. When our APIs are subjugated to the whims of our other products, they can't be stable. And an unstable platform isn't really a platform at all.

So then you are left with 2 big problems.

1/ How do you convince external developers to build on a platform where the most basic core APIs may be removed at any time? I mean, the only big value we bring to the table right now is in distribution and discovery, and that's going to encourage developers to do only the most superficial integration with Facebook. Basically, they're going to do just enough to be able to use Neco ads.

2/ How do you convince internal developers to work on Platform knowing it's only ever going to play second fiddle to the rest of the company? I mean why should any of us work on a product that could be crippled at any time to benefit another team? If I worked on Platform, I would be seriously reconsidering my options if this API gets deprecated.

You might wonder why I care about this issue enough to write all this. After all, I work on Parse, and this doesn't directly affect Parse. It's simple. I care about developers. I care about Facebook Platform. And I care about Facebook. I want to be proud to tell people I work at Facebook and on the Facebook Platform. That means building something developers love. And I want Facebook to grow the way only a platform can. I want Facebook to be the next Windows, not the next CompuServe.

If you agree, feel free to reshare this post or a link to this post within Facebook.

Thanks,
-Bryan

>do you think this is push centric or not really

Kevin Lacker:

>like can we translate this into some metric

Kevin Lacker:

>and there are kind of two separate teams involved in most ops incidents

>- either push or api

Kevin Lacker:

>the human processes for each one are likely to be different

Kevin Lacker:

>one thing i'm concerned about is that if we move support to be done by >some other team, then our distance from the customer will be even >larger and it will be even harder for something important to get >escalated

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah, but if we have a process to escalate, well that will be good

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>ok i'll think about this

Kevin Lacker:

>i agree we need something better here

Kevin Lacker:

>btw vlad said one current goal of the api team is to turn off friends-birthdays permission

Kevin Lacker:

>which to me seems like a mistake

Kevin Lacker:

>nobody really feels invaded when your friend shares when your birthday is

Kevin Lacker:

>and it's just another random breaking

Kevin Lacker:

>if you do end up PMing the api team

Kevin Lacker:

>then, you should use your power to not break the friends-birthdays api

Kevin Lacker:

>if PMing the api team would not entail that kind of power over what the api does, then, well it might be a job that has responsibility for the api sucking but does not have the authority to fix it

Kevin Lacker:

>FWIW vlad was very reluctant to tell me what the api team was working on, probably because he knew i would be against it

Ilya Sukhar:

>The friends API is getting totally fucked

Ilya Sukhar:

>We should talk about it. I have a proposal to at least make it less painful

Kevin Lacker:

>interesting

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah I can't decide whether I want to engage with the graph API or leave it for dead

Ilya Sukhar:

>They are making it so that apps can't see any of your friends that aren't also on the app. Everyone's invitation flow is dead man walking.

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah it sounds fucked and like developers will hate us

Ilya Sukhar:

>Funny that Vlad won't even tell you

Ilya Sukhar:

>They seem focused on custom Apis for partners right now

Kevin Lacker:

>what sort of custom API

Kevin Lacker:

>well vlad wants me to encourage you to do API pmming

Ilya Sukhar:

>Like a real time stream of updates so espn can show fb updates next to tweets

Kevin Lacker:

>it sounds like developers would be dumb to use any product built by the API team

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>it annoys me that this stuff is considered pm stuff rather than em stuff

Kevin Lacker:

>I feel like it leads to quality issues being downgraded

Kevin Lacker:

>or maybe it's just that people don't really put "quality of the API" as a goal that gets attention

Kevin Lacker:

>rather than em vs pm. It's not like harsh has some great strategy here

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:

>it's hard to tell

Kevin Lacker:

>so the api team seems like it's in a tough position

Kevin Lacker:

>i find it hard to imagine any product direction that ends up being a net positive

Kevin Lacker:

>i feel like the main product goal should be "don't break things"

Kevin Lacker:

>which is pretty not-aligned with their current set of goals

Kevin Lacker:

>but, at least for me personally i can't fight everything at once

Kevin Lacker:

>I was thinking of a strategy more like, when they bail out a bank and separate its loans into performing and non-performing

Kevin Lacker:

>make the "good bank" which continues to exist and the "bad bank" which gets mauled by some government process and generally produces no future value

Kevin Lacker:

>the mobile sdk is the "good bank"

Kevin Lacker:

>the graph api is the "bad bank"

Kevin Lacker:

>not really clear to me where login falls

Kevin Lacker:

>but, the whole deprecating of friends APIs and encouraging some tweet-search-stream api, all of that seems like it's doing more of the same inventing things that maybe we can't maintain

Kevin Lacker:

>who knows if in one year, the data from a hash tag stream will be considered strategically too valuable to share

Ilya Sukhar:

>i don't think the mobile sdk is any different in that view of things

Ilya Sukhar:

>but yeah i agree

Ilya Sukhar:

>i was just talking to doug

Ilya Sukhar:

>and bringing up the breakage

Ilya Sukhar:

>and he was encouraging me to think about it as either a bunch of small cuts or one big one

Ilya Sukhar:

>and said you should consider whether we want to just do one big one

Kevin Lacker:

>the functionality in the mobile sdk that is not tied to the graph api is a lot better in terms of breakage

Ilya Sukhar:

>well

Ilya Sukhar:

>i think you're thinking too much about individual apis

Ilya Sukhar:

>and not enough about the contract with devs

Ilya Sukhar:

>they are just ratcheting down the openness of the platform

Ilya Sukhar:

>and all these things are small tactics in the overall goal

Kevin Lacker:

>the contract with devs is so far from working

Ilya Sukhar:

>indeed

Kevin Lacker:

>"ratcheting down openness" is a good way to think of it

Kevin Lacker:

>but, it sucks going forward if people perceive the whole thing as undependable

Kevin Lacker:

>there should be a subset which platform can promise to maintain

Kevin Lacker:

>for a reasonable period of time

Kevin Lacker:

>i feel like that's already implicitly happened for some stuff

Ilya Sukhar:

>doug also finally opened up to me about the dev adv reorg

Kevin Lacker:

>oh ho

Ilya Sukhar:

>he was like "yeah the entire company hated james pearce and everyone he managed. i didn't have the energy to have that in my org anymore"

Ilya Sukhar:

>we shouldn't push for prashant moving

Ilya Sukhar:

>he is poisoned too

Kevin Lacker:

>a lot of people hate prashant?

Ilya Sukhar:
>fran does

Kevin Lacker:
>ashley also hates fran

Ilya Sukhar:
>indeed

Kevin Lacker:
>maybe fran is incompetent

Kevin Lacker:
>but, dating someone else in platform

Ilya Sukhar:
>haha

Kevin Lacker:
>and therefore is a constant source of organizational trouble

Ilya Sukhar:
>well, theres an interesting story behind this CMO thing too

Ilya Sukhar:
>apparently this move will make the org more adoption focused and less launch focused

Ilya Sukhar:
>doug claims fran has been trying to fight his boss and do better things but ultimately was hamstrung by the approach the whole org took

Kevin Lacker:
>hmm

Kevin Lacker:
>well, I don't really have a great plan around marketing or prashant

Kevin Lacker:
>I do think that prashant's energy has been helpful

Ilya Sukhar:
>i think we should let it be for now

Kevin Lacker:
>and I think that, even if he couldn't work with the rest of the org, he can do some great stuff with docs and probably a lot of stuff

Kevin Lacker:
>yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>the whole org needs less reorging

Kevin Lacker:

>so, when in doubt, there is a value to not reorging things

Kevin Lacker:

>just let working styles organically develop

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>so basically the graph api is full of mistakes

Kevin Lacker:

>i think platform should focus on making some subset of API usage into a high-quality API

Kevin Lacker:

>biggest issue, whether it breaks a lot

Kevin Lacker:

>making the whole thing not break is too immense a task

Kevin Lacker:

>Parse should be part of the high-quality subset and we should keep it that way and we basically are

Kevin Lacker:

>if we get involved in future projects where we collaborate with non-parse platform, like deep linking, we should enforce one way or another the same sort of quality

Kevin Lacker:

>I think Eddie's team is set up pretty well to produce a high quality api. I think we can collaborate with them well

Ilya Sukhar:

>ok

Ilya Sukhar:

>so .. what.. you think i shouldn't take on the other team in any formal way?

Kevin Lacker:

>ehh this is more like, what i think that team should do

Kevin Lacker:

>for you taking stuff on, i am more worried about the impact on marketing/sales/dev adv

Kevin Lacker:

>but, don't take it on and then turn into them

Ilya Sukhar:

>haha

Ilya Sukhar:

>dead in the eyes

Kevin Lacker:

>maybe running the api team is like

Kevin Lacker:

>stealing the one true ring

Kevin Lacker:

>it feels powerful

Kevin Lacker:

>but then over time you turn into a monster. it's just inherent in the design of the ring

Ilya Sukhar:

>haha

Kevin Lacker:

>don't like, just say yes because the ring is powerful

Ilya Sukhar:

>if it were that - i would've already said yes

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah but now i have a more concrete request

Kevin Lacker:

>which is that you make sure that you can get the api team going in a direction that is good

Kevin Lacker:

>this is a good time for you to make requests. it's like steve jobs saying, i'll come back to apple but only if i can fire the board and replace them with my cronies

Ilya Sukhar:

>ha

Kevin Lacker:

>but really if i could run either eddie's eng team or four api teams, i would pick eddie's

Kevin Lacker:

>we are probably going to get disconnected in scope eventually since doug is much more reorgy than vlad

Ilya Sukhar:

>well, step one is already disconnecting us

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah i mean it seems inevitable either way

Kevin Lacker:

>and i dont really want to be responsible for engineering teams that i dont think can build a good product

Kevin Lacker:

>like, if the pm blows, i dont want to em it

Kevin Lacker:

>if you doing more stuff results in me doing more parsey pm ish things, thats ok

Kevin Lacker:

>if it results in parse gets some random shitty pm in the future, that's not good

Ilya Sukhar:

>i doubt it means that

Kevin Lacker:

>what, does parse scale up but never get more pms

Kevin Lacker:

>theres only a few outcomes

Kevin Lacker:

>in the long run either the parse team stops growing or it gets more PMs or it operates with an oddly low amount of PM input

Ilya Sukhar:

>well, they would report to me in any reasonable future

Kevin Lacker:

>well, hopefully they aren't shitty

Kevin Lacker:

>i guess folks are already somewhat aware of the problem hiring PMs, if the alternate plan for api team is get a "tpm"

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:

>well, i think part of the problem is who wants to work on dev tools at fb

Kevin Lacker:

>not really your typical PM

Kevin Lacker:

>a lot easier to find engineers who care about dev tools

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:

>i think that's why they're going the TPM route

Ilya Sukhar:

>these are some meager salary bumps that vlad is proposing

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:

>i dont think it's worth it

Ilya Sukhar:

>you?

Kevin Lacker:

>dunno but i'm inclined to agree with you

Kevin Lacker:

>on the other hand, i do feel like it's good to fight for whatever we can get our people

Kevin Lacker:

>but... it is small

Ilya Sukhar:

>well, i just feel like we'll come out net negative

Ilya Sukhar:

>i'd pay 30k not to have the conversations of "why'd only some people get a raise?"

Kevin Lacker:

>heh

Ilya Sukhar:

>man michael cohen won't even talk to me about rsus

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah that makes sense

Ilya Sukhar:

>he's like "you need to talk to vlad first. he owns the goal of breaking it you"

Kevin Lacker:

>lol

Ilya Sukhar:

>vlad says stanley and christine are 7000 rsus above the high range of offers already

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>he told me that same thing

Ilya Sukhar:

>oh

Kevin Lacker:

>so, vlad can't do it within the realm of "normal eng comp"

Ilya Sukhar:
>i'm curious who killed it

Ilya Sukhar:
>vlad or someone in corp dev

Ilya Sukhar:
>or someone in HR

Kevin Lacker:
>vlad seems like he totally changed his tune at some point

Ilya Sukhar:
>i suspect vlad

Kevin Lacker:
>so I think he got overruled from elsewhere

Ilya Sukhar:
>oh

Ilya Sukhar:
>i guess i haven't talked to him about it in person at all

Ilya Sukhar:
>so i haven't seen his change in tone occur

Kevin Lacker:
>vlad was originally like, i thought it was a bad idea, but now it sounds like corp dev will free up some money so okay if it comes from their money pot it's fine with me

Kevin Lacker:
>and then he was like, actually talking with corp dev is not working because the rsu amounts are so high anyway

Kevin Lacker:
>if vlad thought it was a bad idea i would have expected him to just oppose from the start

Ilya Sukhar:
>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:
>i implanted the idea

Ilya Sukhar:
>and he ran with it way faster than i expected

Kevin Lacker:
>rather than like, inject himself and then leave himself with the shitty job of explaining to us why we can only get a 29k bump

Kevin Lacker:

>this seems like a henele situation

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>vlad is like, ok ok lets do this crazy thing

Kevin Lacker:

>then vlad gets overrule

Kevin Lacker:

>and is like... oops

Kevin Lacker:

>well, ok you can at least leave the bucket of poop in my front yard

Kevin Lacker:

>i'll deal with it

Ilya Sukhar:

>oh well

Ilya Sukhar:

>i was never mentally attached to this rsu thing

Ilya Sukhar:

>it seemed like a longshot

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah it was a good longshot to try for

Ilya Sukhar:

>who thinks that plenty of apps do deep linking?

Ilya Sukhar:

>i don't think that's true at all

Kevin Lacker:

>it's more, what would this hypothetical product do

Ilya Sukhar:

>i think the main piece you're missing is ads

Ilya Sukhar:

>and retargeting

Kevin Lacker:

>ok

Kevin Lacker:

>like the twitter ads deep linking product just does it via asking for a bunch of info in their ad product

Ilya Sukhar:

>i think search is another piece

Ilya Sukhar:

>so far this is a more high minded approach

Kevin Lacker:

>well, my question is not really "how many facebook products could do deep linking in some way"

Kevin Lacker:

>and more, what exactly do people want to build, besides integrations from various teams

Kevin Lacker:

>most ways of doing deep linking do not have public standards

Kevin Lacker:

>so you need to configure them with the linking app

Kevin Lacker:

>like, twitter ads

Kevin Lacker:

>if we don't really want to create a standard

Kevin Lacker:

>we could just do what twitter does for ads

Kevin Lacker:

>and that would probably be ok

Ilya Sukhar:

>i guess i'm saying that so far we do want to create a standard

Kevin Lacker:

>that's cool

Kevin Lacker:

>so the question i am trying to get at is, a standard for what

Kevin Lacker:

>i get that we should make all our products use the standard

Kevin Lacker:

>but, does this standard include discoverability

Kevin Lacker:

>does it include UI direction for apps doing a link

Kevin Lacker:

>etc

Ilya Sukhar:
>i see

Kevin Lacker:
>i like eddie's description of all the different groups that touch deep linking

Kevin Lacker:
>but, the part I am not sure about is, the existing state of the world, why is it not good enough

Ilya Sukhar:
>i imagine the answer is largely up to us and eddie

Kevin Lacker:
>the existing state AFAICT is this state where every site that wants to send deep links configures it separately

Kevin Lacker:
>yeah I agree

Kevin Lacker:
>this email is kind of a communication between us and eddie and there are some bystanders

Kevin Lacker:
>i just want to make sure that the way i perceive the problem maps onto how facebook folks perceive the problem

Ilya Sukhar:
>ok that makes sense

Kevin Lacker:
>the coolest thing would be an open standard for how deep links would be publicly discoverable

Kevin Lacker:
>something that would still help facebook, but would be less cool, would be a standard way for apps to communicate to facebook how their links should be deepified

Ilya Sukhar:
>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:
>i agree

Kevin Lacker:
>something that would still help facebook, but be even less cool, would be a standard for describing a deep link, that didn't let you take a public url and deeplinkify it

Kevin Lacker:
>that last thing is all you need for ads, really

Kevin Lacker:
>because each ad deep link will be entered through some custom system

Kevin Lacker:
>also, the current deep link api lets you share a deep link from the mobile app

Kevin Lacker:

>that's another "okay but not the complete vision" thing

Ilya Sukhar:

>we should think through the upgrade process from "just for ads" to "something really cool"

Kevin Lacker:

>the nice thing is that eddie is competent and wants to do something cool here

Kevin Lacker:

>also in practice eddie's team does a lot of stuff with the graph api

Ilya Sukhar:

>its too bad he is remote

Kevin Lacker:

>so, for a feature we want to actually happen, all the stuff can go through him

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah it's too bad

Kevin Lacker:

>basically having eddie report to you seems fantastic

Kevin Lacker:

>we can work together and get parse invovled in more cool shit

Kevin Lacker:

>if you could do that, but not involve with the api team, that would be great ;-)

Ilya Sukhar:

>ha

Kevin Lacker:

>vlad wants to start up a parse team in seattle at some point btw. definitely after our current set of people stabilizes some

Kevin Lacker:

>he's like, you guys will just be able to recruit so many good engineers up there

Ilya Sukhar:

>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:

>well at least vlad's goals somewhat align with ours

Ilya Sukhar:

>in the sense that he wants more good engineers

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah

Kevin Lacker:
>its a venn diagram

Kevin Lacker:
>getting more good engineers onto parse is in the intersection

Ilya Sukhar:
>yeah

Ilya Sukhar:
>Can you forward me that ppt?

Kevin Lacker:
>yeah let me find the link to the FB discussion

Kevin Lacker:
>It seems like if we figured what we think the right answer is we might just be able to make it happen

Kevin Lacker:
>I don't know the right solution though. Definitely a case of too many cooks right now

Ilya Sukhar:
>Yeah

Ilya Sukhar:
>Vernal is looking for more ideas

Ilya Sukhar:
>And was frustrated that Doug had merely "strategery" to offer

Kevin Lacker:
>Lets try informally taking this over via competence

Ilya Sukhar:
>Yeah I'm up for it

Kevin Lacker:
>Ok let me sleep on it and let's discuss at founders meeting tomorrow

>We seem to be losing the battle to get required permissions into Login v4.

Ilya Sukhar:

>I'll add you to the relevant thread so you can see.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Also, unrelated, why does the latest ps12n proposal disallow login for competitors? What's the scenario we're worried about?

Edward O'Neil:

>RE v4: thanks - that'd be great. Jeffrey is obstinate and doesn't have >a good developer sense, so I don't think this battle is over yet. :)

>RE competitor login: eh?

Ilya Sukhar:

>In the slide about ps12n and what you get based on how competitive you are, why don't you get login if you're wechat?

Edward O'Neil:

>So we're not brokers of authentic identity to competitive networks.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Hmm, I see. Do we think Pinterest for example will end up in this boat?

Ilya Sukhar:

>btw, added you to the ling thread

Edward O'Neil:

>FWIW, it's not clear that this proposal is right...

>Yes, certainly possible Pinterest could end up there. Depends on what moves they make.

>I actually thought Pinterest was more aligned, but Doug put them in bucket #2 because that bucket includes things he thought Mark might want to buy.

>Tinder might be a better example - as a dating app that rides in the graph, they're pretty aligned, but if they add chat, they become some form of competitive.

Ilya Sukhar:

>I feel like the shut-down-growth-vectors story is pretty clear but the shut-down-everything story is tenuous. We're almost creating more strict competitors by taking away a dependency on FB. Pinterest is more likely to make Login with Pinterest if we take away FB from them.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Just a thought.

Ilya Sukhar:

>On a more general note, I think one piece of context that would be useful to some consumers of this proposal (e.g. David, Bryan) would be the expected numbers of competitive apps. They have an impression that we'll just outright crush every messaging app but realistically (or at least in my expectation), we only care about the top 10 and only when they're huge already.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Anyway, everything else looks good to me and I am in strict >defend-the-proposal mode to said consumers like David & Bryan ;)

Edward O'Neil:

>Hm - in practice, I agree there are few (dozens) but we're going to >remove permission to read your inbox from the public surface area and make that a part of the OEM client program.
>
>If they're able to use any of these messaging apps today, it's a hole >in our data policies because FB employees aren't allowed to grant inbox >permission to 3rd party apps... :/
>And, thanks for the aircover. :)

Ilya Sukhar:

>Oh, I meant messaging in terms of just WeChat - not FB inbox readers. I >didn't know those were really being used :)

Edward O'Neil:

>Oh. I see. Yeah, there are a few apps that are FB chat clients.
>
>On WeChat: certainly happy to revisit that part of the proposal. It's one of the über controversial parts of the proposal.

Edward O'Neil:

>It's not really blessed until Mike / Mark are on board. :)

>man, this v3 effort is going to be immense to get everyone on board

Ilya Sukhar:
>What specifically

Ilya Sukhar:
>V3 is a term that means so many things

Kevin Lacker:
>yeah v3 term blows

Kevin Lacker:
>thats just how constantin and alan describe it all the time

Kevin Lacker:
>i mean the effort to define a "core" subset and then not break it

Kevin Lacker:
>there are many different people advocating some random mixup of the core api

Kevin Lacker:
>and some parts of it that are clearly bad

Ilya Sukhar:
>Yeah it's a total mess. Apparently Mike got pissed about poor execution lately

Kevin Lacker:
>what group's poor execution

Kevin Lacker:
>i mean, i have my own perception of what is being executed poorly ;-)

Ilya Sukhar:
>No clear plan for v3 - falls on Doug / Constantin

Kevin Lacker:
>heres a fun acronym

Kevin Lacker:
>CORE = Clean Or Remove Everything

Kevin Lacker:

>hmm, yeah ok v3 is a bad name

Kevin Lacker:

>the part i think developers really need is the separation into "beta" vs "core", and core being something that we will not intentionally break

Kevin Lacker:

>next step is to improve unintentional breakage, and docs

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah we shouldn't tie ourselves to this v3 effort. It's a mess.

Kevin Lacker:

>it seems like folks are occasionally referring to the whole "define some subset as stable" as "v3"

Kevin Lacker:

>kind of ridiculous how much time spent arguing about the name of projects

Kevin Lacker:

>i need to dig in and understand the api set

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah people want me to drive this initiative alongside v3 but it seems unrealistic

Kevin Lacker:

>what is v3 exactly

Kevin Lacker:

>just creating a clean core is hard enough without tying it to a bunch of other random stuff

Ilya Sukhar:

>V3 is the deprecation stuff

Ilya Sukhar:

>And half hearted attempts to provide replacements

Kevin Lacker:

>i see

Kevin Lacker:

>yeah all this concern is around message

Kevin Lacker:

>when the messaging is not really as important as having a good product at the end of the day

Kevin Lacker:

>so v3 is like, "whenever we remove friends.get and stream.get"

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yep. Constantin made some doc. I'll forward to you when I get a chance

Kevin Lacker:

>man

Kevin Lacker:

>this v3 stuff blows

Kevin Lacker:

>a bunch of people halfassedly driving

Kevin Lacker:

>in em sync just now everyone was talking about v3 as if the plan was very set, we were going to remove stuff but offer people more to compensate, and the date is nov 1

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah basically it's a cluster duck

Kevin Lacker:

>hard to get much done by nov 1

Kevin Lacker:

>like, cleaning up junk like is_verified

Kevin Lacker:

>there's gonna be 100 things like that

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah

Kevin Lacker:

>ok so that just seems fucked and i agree we don't want to tie our efforts to any platform v3 talk

Kevin Lacker:

>unless it's scrappable i guess

Kevin Lacker:

>so many people proposing shit

Kevin Lacker:

>this doc is so schizo

Kevin Lacker:

Kevin Lacker:

Kevin Lacker:

>i'm gonna look through the api and take notes

Kevin Lacker:

>i gave you access to a zoho doc

Kevin Lacker:

Kevin Lacker:

Kevin Lacker:

Yeah, we really need to close on the f8/ps12n dates. So – how did we get to March 12th? Was that based on eng estimates or a gut feel?

I think the switcharoo plan is reasonable but I worry that we're adding another two months of potential scope creep and risking an H2 launch which probably would not go over well internally.

1/ ok – we do have a Coefficient API, but the Custom MFS API is subtly different. Apologies if the difference seems pedantic – there's just a lot of legal sensitivity around even the name "coefficient". Custom MFS API (aka: Invites API) is just an ordered list of people that are likely to convert wrt an Invite / Request in a game. Games team owns the ranking.

2/ interesting. We're driving the team toward a ~March 12 launch. If we want to move the date, we should make that call ASAP so the teams have a little bit of breathing room – otherwise, I'm starting to push people pretty hard and it's very hard on teams to get pushed and then have the date slip. Much better to just pick a reasonable date. Don't want to repeat f8 2011.

How do we close on these decisions?

I was referring to the deprecation part of Platform 3 -- unified review is just another product feature to improve quality, not the "protect the business/model/data" that the API changes represent.

In terms of the roadmap, I'll ensure that we also include the policy and ops changes which will play an important role in the overall dev reaction. For instance, as we launch Unified Review, the narrative will focus on quality and the user experience which will potentially provide a good umbrella to fold in some of the API deprecations and canvas redirect enforcement.

Per my action item from our last 1:1:1:1.

Marie owns all the changes we previously called Platform 3.0.

She is new, but Mike and I already have reasonable amount of confidence in her based on some other deprecation work she did recently.

We are going to run these changes through the standard product process, but look at the overall messaging of the complete set of changes.

Vlad and I reviewed a cut of the plan last week and Marie/Fran are still working on the product plan which will be discussed in the right XFNs.

Justin: I think we agreed that you and Swain would help to drive messaging here (rather than just review in the launch meeting) as this is sensitive. I think a way to do that is to just plug in with Fran and Marie directly as they work on the product plan?

I feel like this is a pretty drastic change from POR and I am not sure what is the new information we learned that caused us to change our mind. I also was also just gone for two days before we decided to change something major :)

If we are going to have an event that occurs at a regular time every year - there will be years that is not convenient. But we will have to work through those years in order for it to be a regular event. So I think our first question should be - do we want a regular event ? This question determines what our approach should be. Then - what time of year do we want a regular event ? Then - what year do we start ?

It doesn't feel right that a product schedule and an ownership change would deeply affect these questions

Thanks,
Vladimir

Curious to get some more context around the thinking here. This to me sounds like something that will become a "permanent" migration because granting some friends_* info feels exactly like the type of thing that we'll want to give a small set of whitelisted partners so I'm wondering if we've thought about enforcing this entirely via perms review.

The current proposal

(https://www.facebook.com/groups/555208077861145/permalink/642043572510928/?stream_ref=2) is to prevent friend_* from showing up in the perms dialog in v1 mode.

In addition at runtime, if the API call is made in v1 mode we will ignore any friend_* perm even if the user did not TOS using login v4. If the user TOSed via login v4, they will never have friend_* perms because we would have filtered them out at TOS time (we need to have a task for the TOS time filtering)

Don't think we have a master task for all of app ids, app friends, review, friend perms, gdp v4.

One question – are we going to enforce the inability to request friends_* perms via permissions review, or do we also want a migration that's tied to v1.0 to remove all friends_* perms?

Hey guys – do we have a task where we're tracking adding the Login v4 model (app-scoped ids, app-friends, login review, no friend_* perms) to the login v2 pixels? I couldn't find one here: <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/projects/milestones/?id=512827885501631>

With the adoption model we're shooting for (no migration switch) – developers opt into the new model by coding against the v1.0 API and including v1.0 in the OAuth Dialog URL. We'll need to give Canvas developers the same opt-in model, but display v2 pixels to them.

Jeffrey/Sean/Vish are doing the work this week to ensure users who TOS via v1.0 get app-scoped ids, can't read non-app-friends etc. (see <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/tasks/?t=3896304>).

Looking forward to being able to properly test this stack for the first time later this week.

Subject: Re: PS12N, OG, SN, LV4

This sounds good. One clarification on the login model changes being proposed for Canvas:

1/ app-scoped IDs + app friends changes - this isn't referring to opt-out of friends permission, right?

I'm assuming the above means we will roll out with the API changes that result in only friends who authed the app being returned in /me/friends, plus the invites API for non-app friends.

If that's correct, all sounds good to me.

Thanks all!

The plan for Login Dialog pixels is:

- 1/ leave Canvas on v2 for the time being
- 2/ find some partners to test v4
- 3/ make a decision about v4 based on #2 and organizational to push v4 into Canvas [e.g. Mark, Mike, etc]

Would suggest planning for #3 to be rolled out on Canvas in early 2015 at the latest.

The plan for Login v4 model is to apply the following to Canvas:

- 1/ app-scoped IDs + app friends changes
- 2/ friends_* permission deprecation
- 3/ Login Review

HTH,
Eddie

For reference, per-version features of Login Dialog:

- 1/ GDP v2 / 2.5 lets apps ask for read + publish permission on a single screen and does not let people x-out permissions
- 2/ GDP v3 forces apps to separate read + publish
- 3/ GDP v4 forces apps to separate read + publish, lets people x-out permissions, and makes user_friends optional

In my point of view, launching v4 on canvas holds a great deal of risk and it's better to punt, at least until we have more data. We haven't tested v4 with partners on canvas yet and AFAIK don't have clear understanding on the impact it will have - launching such a drastic change will be very hard to rollback if the results are too painful, so I think it's better to exclude canvas from v4 until we are more confident with the tradeoffs we are making.

As for x-platform games, devs will need to deal with x-out permissions coming from mobile to canvas but I think it's more manageable comparing to the alternative.

Want to make sure we're all on the same page wrt what "login v4" means, since it has also been overloaded as an uber term for all ps12n work.

By keeping gdpv2 on canvas are you referring to:
1/ Allowing read and write perms to be asked in a single GDP screen
2/ Not allowing perms to be x-outable in GDP

Thanks

re: login V4
My personal view here (and something you should all chime in on) is that we keep canvas on GDP V2 and consider doing some work to improve the experience specific to canvas games. I understand that this actually does not solve the problem given our push on cross-platform and the fact that people who start on mobile and then hit canvas may be in a permission state that developers will need to deal with. But the case we're more concerned with in the shorter term is just canvas conversions and the "perception" that we're not changing anything here.

Thoughts?

Folks,

I think we've gone through this 100 times already so this email isn't intended to re-summarize the issues. My sense is that we have appropriate plans in place for all changes and deprecation. The only question I believe is outstanding is whether we choose to enforce Login V4 on canvas. We also have plans to reveal all of these at f8 except for the implicit take down which is going to happen over the coming weeks.

So, I think the key now is to work on packaging it up appropriately so it can be delivered in the best possible way to our developers. There will probably be some discussion after f8 on whether the reaction from developers warrants some fallback or other kind of response, but I don't think we can spend any more time speculating. We just need to get this stuff out there and figure out what the implied impact will be once we get developer feedback.

@amir/gareth are you guys feeling ok about everything at this point?

@constantin I assume we're on track with the invites api?

Any additional thoughts?

Probably worth mentioning that we are also launching some social context APIs (which of my friends have liked this page, or watched this movie, what likes do I have in common with my friend etc.) to make some valid use cases possible that developers currently infer by asking for friend data.

Konstantinos Papamiltiadis

Julien, the only exceptions/extensions were around the grace period for the deprecations and not the deprecations themselves. Those will be based on prior contractual agreement (Tinder certainly does not have one) but even in this case the recommended time by Eddie and Simon for 9-12 months sufficiently exceeds the contractual one in most cases. I hope this helps.

The f8 scene is tricky.

If we roll this out before f8, we need a separate big PR moment to explain this to our universe of partners and people. Given that we're targeting an end of April timeframe, that doesn't leave us with much time for folks to absorb the changes and cool off if they're affected negatively. So, we'd muddy the waters for the cool stuff we want to launch at f8 and expend a lot of duplicate effort getting the trust message out to people.

If we roll it out shortly after f8, that'd undo the buzz with some partners about any cool stuff we launch, potentially come off as deceptive, and again we'd need to duplicate effort on getting the word out.

After discussing a bunch with Zuck, we landed on making user trust a core theme of f8 and rolling things out simultaneously. After all, this is a big change to put the power in the hands of people and we need to do it the justice of a thorough announcement. Who better to do it than Zuck?

Now, that doesn't mean we'll be enumerating specific deprecations on stage or anything. It probably means we announce the new Login and have a workshop about the changes later in the day.

Not ideal, for sure, but I think it's a reasonable compromise.

Hi all – we want to let you know about major changes coming to the Platform app model. In the last year, we have done detailed studies about how people feel about apps and Platform. We've heard overwhelming feedback that people are sensitive about what info they share with apps, are confused when apps ask for many permissions, and want control over the info about them their friends can share with apps. This has created or deepened trust issues that people have with Platform and Facebook.

We have a lot of value to offer people and app developers but need to reset expectations for both audiences. We want people to have delightful app experiences that inspire confidence, give them control, and minimize surprise.

We also face additional data abuse challenges where people's info is misused in ways that further erode trust. Eugene described one such example here [<https://www.facebook.com/groups/617486608299958/permalink/629095473805738/>].

The changes below put people first, reset the model for developers, and protect data. This puts us on track to improve trust and gives us a firm foundation atop which we can launch great products over the next year and beyond. While some of these changes will be seamless, others will be difficult and painful for developers and Facebook - so we want to let everyone know that these are coming this spring as part of Facebook Login 4.0.

Here's a short summary of the changes we're making – more details are below:

- 1/ adding a review process for most permissions beyond your name, profile pic, etc
- 2/ giving people a line item veto on permissions so they control info they share with apps [Screenshots: <https://www.facebook.com/pxlclld/10cS>]
- 3/ removing access to detailed info about a person's friends [e.g. friends' likes, photos, etc]
- 4/ separating access to your list of friends from your basic info [name, profile pic, etc]
- 5/ removing implicitly shared stories from News Feed / Ticker
- 6/ changing to app scoped user IDs and only letting apps access friends who also used FB to login to that app

These changes will impact many developers in the ecosystem – from Canvas Games to indie mobile developers. They strike a balance between the complex system of concerns that affect people, developers, and Facebook while still giving developers room to build great apps.

We expect a range of reactions from joy to concern about how this will affect your favorite app or a friend's startup – please send any questions / comments / feedback / flames to the Platform Trust group [<https://www.facebook.com/groups/382115345170420/>] or reach out to me directly. We want to hear your feedback.

On timing: we're planning to launch in the spring. Ilya will have an update on that soon.

On giving apps time to update: we're planning give developers 9 months to migrate and to deprecate the old model on Feb 1, 2015. Note: apps won't use a "breaking change window" and will instead opt into the new model using a new version of the APIs / Dialogs.

More info

1/ a growing FAQ: <https://www.facebook.com/notes/platform-trust/facebook-login-40-faq/633745506674068>

2/ data on how people feel about Platform and apps: <https://www.facebook.com/pxlcld/10f7>

Detailed changes

1/ Login Review. Facebook will review how apps use Login including approval of the permissions apps can request from people. We've found that apps asking for too many permissions is a key trust issue for people, causes confusion, and that many times such info isn't used to improve the app's experience. Review will help fix this problem.

2/ Line item permission veto. Login 4.0 gives people control over the info that's shared with apps by letting you veto any permission except "public profile" [e.g. your name, profile pic, etc.]. Screenshots: <https://www.facebook.com/pxlcld/10cS>

3/ Separating basic Login and access to your list of friends. Today, Login lets apps read your friend list. We've heard from people and developers that this is confusing – especially in apps that use Login for account creation but otherwise don't use friends. With 4.0, apps must ask for permission to read your list of friends akin to how apps ask to read your likes and photos. As per #2, people may choose not to share this info with an app.

4/ Removing access to detailed info about your friends. Today, you can grant an app permission by proxy to see your friends' likes, photos, and other info. This is confusing, makes people uncomfortable, and ultimately reduces trust. So we're removing this from Platform's public API.

5/ App-scoped user IDs. Existing IDs for user + app pairs won't change, but going forward, we will move away from using global user IDs and will issue app scoped IDs for people – this protects people's info and lets us audit data leaks [see Eugene's write-up above for an example].

6/ App friends. Today, apps you've logged into can see your whole list of friends. With 4.0, apps can only see your friends who also logged into that app using Facebook. This change will be a no-op for most apps since they don't use non-app friends. For others, this will have more impact that can be partially mitigated by a new Invites / Requests product that we're building.

7/ Removing implicitly shared content from News Feed / Ticker. Implicit stories can surprise people and have impacted trust over time, so we're removing them from NF / Ticker and exploring alternatives that let people explicitly share such content. Vernal wrote a summary about how our perspective on this has changed since 2011 [https://www.facebook.com/mhudack/posts/10151961293286194?comment_id=29648268].

8/ API versioning. Yay!! Platform will version APIs / Dialogs / Plugins so apps can smoothly transition over the next year from the current platform model to Login 4.0. We're also committing to 2 years of stability for a "core" set of Platform APIs / Dialogs.

Many people have been involved in this to date (thanks!); here's a non-exhaustive list of additional points of contact:

Ilya Sukhar:

>What do you guys want to do about the competitive thing? Last time we discussed I think consensus was not to push it to preserve option value.

Michael Vernal:

>How acute an issue do you think it is in the ecosysteme/

Michael Vernal:

>E.g., if we mention it in the keynote, it seems like it has a high likelihood of "breaking into jail."

Ilya Sukhar:

>I don't disagree.

Michael Vernal:

>Does that mean you agree?

Michael Vernal:

>:)

Ilya Sukhar:

>I think it would just be a modifier on the stability guarantee rhetoric. "no matter what you're building..."

Ilya Sukhar:

>My double negative was to emphasize that I think that we've all in agreement that it risks breaking into jail. The question is whether it's worth it to solidify our message/positioning on the Platform. I don't really know. Probably not but we don't have a good alternative.

Ilya Sukhar:

><http://pando.com/2013/07/23/move-fast-break-things-the-sad-story-of-platform-facebooks-gigantic-missed-opportunity/>

Ilya Sukhar:

>Thoughts?

Ilya Sukhar:

>(Not trying to be negative with that link. It's just what we're up against.)

Michael Vernal:

>I haven't heard that again recently.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Yeah. I think we could do fine without "stability" as the #1 talking point. I was trying to say that in the meeting today.

Ilya Sukhar:

>What do we say tomorrow when Mark asks if we have another point to make about stability?

Michael Vernal:

>The question here is coming from stability not having enough talking points.

>I don't think we'd even have a slide on this "Open to All!" Too prominent.

Michael Vernal:

>So we're really arguing about a sentence in the script, I think.

Michael Vernal:

>I'll start an email thread.

Ilya Sukhar:

>Sounds good. To be clear, I'm not arguing that we should do it. :)

Vladimir Fedorov:

>I think we should do it but not in keynote :)

Vladimir Fedorov:

>I think it is not a good point for the stability part of the keynote, but I think Login is the key pillar and we want it to be the universal login system

Vladimir Fedorov:

>It will help us achieve that if we make the promise

The New Facebook Login and Graph API 2.0

by Jeffrey Spehar - April 30, 2014 at 10:40am

Today at f8, we introduced a new Facebook Login experience that gives people more control over the information they share with apps. We also announced a two-year stability guarantee for core products along with a new version of the Graph API to help you build, grow, and monetize your apps.

The new Facebook Login and the announcements below are available to all new apps starting today while existing apps have a full year to upgrade (April 30, 2015).

Giving people more control with the new Facebook Login

Facebook Login is a fast and convenient way for people to sign into their favorite apps without having to remember another password. In 2013, we updated Login to clarify when an app is requesting permission to share back to Facebook. This change contributed to a 10% increase in Login conversion rates over the past year.

Today, we're making additional improvements to Login based on people's feedback:

First, people want more control over sharing their personal information with apps. The new Facebook Login lets people edit the info that they provide:

We've also introduced a new design for when apps are requesting permission to post back to Facebook. This design highlights the audience that apps will post to:

Second, we've heard from people that they're often surprised when a friend shares their information with an app. So we've updated Facebook Login so that each person decides what information they want to share about themselves, including their friend list.

Third, people tell us that some apps ask for too many permissions. To address this, we're extending our existing App Center and Open Graph review process to Login. During Login Review, we'll look at and approve any permissions that an app requests beyond public profile, e-mail and friend list. Our goal is to help apps follow best practices while still keeping the review process fast and lightweight.

Finally, some people want to log into apps without sharing their Facebook information at all. With Anonymous Login, people can do just that. Apps will still get the benefit of Facebook identity verification and cross-platform sync, and people can easily upgrade to the full Facebook Login experience later on.

We know that you've spent a lot of time building a great app experience, and we are confident these changes will continue to help more people get into your app quickly and easily.

A more stable platform with Versioning and Graph API 2.0

At f8, we also announced API Versioning and a two-year stability guarantee for core products such as Login, Sharing, Requests, SDKs and frequently used Graph API endpoints. This means that if we make any changes to these products, we'll continue to support the previous version for at least two years. Versioning also gives you control over how you upgrade different instances of your app to use the latest platform features.

Important new elements of Graph API 2.0 include:

- App-scoped user IDs: To better protect people's information, we will begin to issue app-scoped user IDs instead of original user IDs for people who first login to your app using Graph API 2.0. People who have already logged into your app will still retain their original user ID. If you operate multiple apps, the Business Mapping API lets you map the same person's ID between them.
- Test Apps: An easy way to create and manage apps for use in testing, development and staging, test apps also serve as a central place to manage people's roles across all of your apps.
- Social Context API: A simple way to surface a person's friends' activity alongside your content.
- Tagged Places API: An easy way to build experiences using the places where a person has been tagged.
- Tagging and Inviting APIs: New APIs to help you build interfaces for tagging friends in stories and inviting friends to use your app.

In addition to the above, we are removing several rarely used API endpoints; visit our changelog for details.

if you don't provide a way of finding friends who are not part of a list, why don't you allow another application to do so? if we want to give permission, we WANT TO! This is ridiculous

Facebook Platform Changelog

This changelog covers what's changed in Facebook's APIs. These changes include Facebook's server-side APIs, Facebook SDK for JavaScript, dialogs and other services.

The most recent version of the API is Version 2.4, which was introduced on July 8, 2015.

To learn more about versions, please see our overview of how versions work.

For more info on upgrading, including code samples, please see our expanded upgrade guide.

Versions:

Version	Path	Date Introduced	Available Until

New Features

English (US) ▾

Give Feedback

Facebook is introducing a new metric to help you track the performance of your app. This metric is available via the `/v2.4/{object}/metric/{metric_id}` endpoint. These metrics require the `read_insights` permission.

New Video Features

The `video` node now contains the following fields in GET, POST operations to `/v2.4/{object}/video`:

- `category` which supports categorizing a video during video upload, and can be used for suggested videos. Content categories include: Business, Comedy, Lifestyle, etc and a full list of categories can be viewed on the video node docs page.

- `unpublished_content_type` will expose 3 new types (Scheduled, Draft, and Ads_Post) which will help coordinate how the video is posted.
- `expiration` and `expiration_type` allows the video expiration time to be set, along with the type (hide, delete).
- `embeddable` boolean flag is now available to control if 3rd party websites can embed your video.

Accessing Timeline Posts

We've simplified how you access content on a person's Timeline. Instead of handling different object types for statuses and links, the API now returns a standardized Post node with attachments which represent the type of content that was shared. For more details view the User reference docs.

For Marketing API

For Marketing API (formerly known as Ads API) v2.4 new features, see Facebook Marketing API Changelog.

Changes from v2.3 to v2.4

Permission related changes

- Operations that reference the `admin_creator` object of a Post in now requires a Page access token.
- `POST /v2.4/{page_id}/offers` and `DELETE /v2.4/{offer_id}` now require a Page access token with `manage_pages` and `publish_pages` permissions.
- `GET /v2.4/{page_id}/milestones`, `POST /v2.4/{milestone_id}`, and `DELETE /v2.4/{milestone_id}` now require a Page access token with `manage_pages` and `publish_pages` permission.

Changes to Pages APIs

- Calls made to the Page node `GET /v2.4/{page_id}/promotable_posts` now require a user access token with `ads_management` permission or a Page access token.
- The `global_brand_parent_page` object has been renamed to `global_brand_root_id`.
- `GET /v2.4/{global_brand_default_page_id}/insights` will now return only insights of the default Page insight data, instead of the insights for the Global Brand hierarchy. Use the Root Page ID to retrieve the integrated insights of the whole hierarchy.
- `GET/POST /v2.4/{page_id}/promotable_posts` has renamed the field `include_page_id` to `include_page_id`.
- The maximum limit for Page related objects is now set to `limit=100`. This will impact `get` operations made on the `edges`, `posts`, and `promotable_posts` edges.

Post Edit History

The `edit_history` field of a Post is now available via `GET /v2.4/{post_id}`.

Event Ordering

The default pagination ordering of `GET /v2.4/{event_id}/events` now begins with the newest event first, and is ordered in reverse chronological order.

Improved Filtering

Graph API v2.4 now supports filtering of `GET /v2.4/{page_id}/accounts` with new boolean fields:

- `is_promotable` filter results by ones that can be promoted.
- `is_business` filter results associated with a Business Manager.
- `is_place` Include Place as results filter.

Declarative Fields

To try to improve performance on mobile networks, Nodes and Edges in v2.4 requires that you explicitly request the field(s) you need for your GET requests. For example, GET /v2.4/me/feed no longer includes likes and comments by default, but GET /v2.4/me/feed?fields=comments,likes will return the data. For more details see the docs on how to request specific fields.

Deprecations in this version

2-year deprecations

- GET /v2.4/{id}/inbox and GET /v2.4/{id}/statuses will no longer be available beginning in v2.4. As an alternative, we suggest using GET /v2.4/{id}/feed.
- GET/POST /v2.4/{page_id}/feed?global_brand_parent_page_id is being deprecated in this version and replaced by /v2.4/{page_id}/feed?global_brand_root_id.
- GET/POST /v2.4/{page_id}/global_brand/default/{page_id}/global_brand_children will no longer function in v2.4. As an alternative, please use the root page ID.
- GET /v2.4/{page_id}/promoteable_posts will no longer support the filter and type params in v2.4. For example, a call to GET /v2.4/{page_id}/promoteable_posts?type=STATUS will return an empty result set.
- The Event node no longer supports GET operations on the endpoints /v2.4/event/{id}/invited, /v2.4/event/{id}/likes, or /v2.4/event/{id}/sharedposts.

90-day deprecations (effective Tuesday, October 6, 2015)

- The GET /v2.4/{user_id}/home, GET /v2.4/{user_id}/inbox, and GET /v2.4/{user_id}/notifications operations as well as read_stream, read_mailbox, and manage_notifications permissions are deprecated in v2.4.
- the user_groups permission has been deprecated. Developers may continue to use the user_managed_groups permission to access the groups a person is the administrator of. This information is still accessed via the /v2.4/{user_id}/groups edge which is still available in v2.4.

From October 6, 2015 onwards, in all previous API versions, these endpoints will return empty arrays, the permissions will be ignored if requested in the Login Dialog, and will not be returned in calls to the /v2.4/{app_id}/permissions endpoint.

Next Steps

Read Upgrade Guide \(v2.4\)

March 25th, 2015 - API version 2.3

New Features

- user_posts Permission - We have a new permission user_posts that allows an app to access the posts on a person's Timeline. This includes the someone's own posts, posts they are tagged in and posts other people make on their Timeline. Previously, this content was accessible with the read_stream permission. The user_posts permission is automatically granted to anyone who previously had read_stream permission.
- all_mutual_friends Edge - This Social context edge enables apps to access the full list of mutual friends between two people who use the app. This includes mutual friends who use the app, as well as limited information about those who don't.

Both users for whom you're calling this endpoint must have granted the `user_friends` permission.

If you calling this endpoint for someone not listed in your app's `Roles` section you must submit your app for review by Facebook via App Review.

Although this edge is new to Graph API v2.3, to make it easier for you to migrate we also added this edge to v2.0, v2.1, and v2.2.

- Debug Mode - Provides extra information about an API call in the response. This can help you debug possible problems and is now in Graph API Explorer, as well as the iOS and Android SDKs. For more information see Graph API Debug Mode.
- New Pages Features
 - Real-time Updates - As of March 25, 2015 We now send content in Page real-time updates (RTUs). Previously, only the object's ID was in the RTU payload. Now we include content in addition to the ID including: statuses, posts, shares, photos, videos, milestones, likes and comments. In order for the app to receive these types of updates, you must have enabled the "Realtime Updates v2.0 Behavior" migration in your app's dashboard.

Page Reviews now support real-time updates. Apps can subscribe to the `realtime_updates` property to receive a ping every time a public review is posted on pages the app is subscribed to. In order for the app to receive this type of update, you must have enabled the "Realtime Updates v2.0 Behavior" migration in your app's dashboard.

- Page Posts, `admin_creator` - All Page Posts now include a new `admin_creator` field that contains the `id` and `name` of the Page Admin that created the post.

This is visible when you use a Page access token, or the user access token of a person who has a role on the Page.

- New Page Fields - `GET /v2.3/{page-id}` now supports fetching and updating those fields: `admins`, `feed_style`, `public_page_id`, `privacy_manager`, `status`, `primary_tab`, `restaurant_services`, `restaurant_open_hours`, and `status_info`.
- New Page Settings - `GET /v2.3/{page-id}/settings` now supports four new settings: `REVIEW_POLLS_BY_EMAIL`, `COUNTRY_RESTRICTION`, `AGE_RESTRICTION`, and `PROFANE_FILTER`.
- Videos New Features

- Larger Videos with Resumable Upload - We now support larger video sizes uploads up to 1.5GB or 45 minutes long with resumable video upload. See Video Upload with Graph API.
- File URL Parameter - At all `/v2.3/{object-id}/videos` edges you can create a new Video object from the web by providing the `file_url` parameter.
- Resumable, Chunked Upload - All `/v2.3/{object-id}/videos` edges support resumable, chunked uploads. For more information, see Video Upload with Graph API.
- Video Playlists - You can now create and manage video playlists for Pages by using `POST /v2.3/{page-id}/video_playlists` on the `/v2.3/{page-id}/video_playlists` edge. you can also add videos to a playlist by `POST /v2.3/{video-id}/likes` and `GET` the videos of a playlist.

- Page's Featured Video - You can now set and get the featured video of a page using `GET POST /v2.3/{page-id}/featured-video-collection`.
- Publish Fields - All Video nodes objects at `/v2.3/{video-id}` now return the new fields: `published`, a boolean which indicates if the video is currently published, and `scheduled_publish_time`.
- Custom Thumbnail - You can now upload and manage custom video thumbnails as JPEGs or PNGs with `GET POST /v2.3/{video-id}/thumbnail`. See Graph API Reference, Video Thumbnail.
- Targeting Restrictions - `POST /v2.3/{page-id}/videos` now supports targeting restrictions by country, locale, age range, gender, zipcode, timezone and excluding locations.
- Delete - `DELETE /v2.3/{video-id}` removes videos. This is supported if you have edit permissions on the video object.
- New Read and Write Fields - The Video node now supports retrieving and modifying additional fields: `backdated_time`, and `scheduled_time_and_visibility`.
- Subtitles, Localized Captions - `GET POST /v2.3/{video-id}` now supports supplying and retrieving subtitles and localized captions.
- Visibility of Video - With `POST /v2.3/{page-id}/videos` you can control where the video is seen with `visibility` and `backdated_visibility` from provided parameters. These parameters target visibility on feeds and page timelines.
- For Marketing API (formerly known as Ads API) v2.3 new features, see Facebook Marketing API Changelog.

Changes from v2.2 to v2.3

- Page Plugin - Is the new name for Like Box Social Plugin and it has a new design.
- Comments Plugins Has a new design and it now supports Comment Mirroring (private beta).
- Requests are now GameRequests - Previously this term and object-type created confusion for non-game app developers, and the intended usage of these objects are to invite others to a game. Non-game apps should use App Invites. The `/v2.3/{user-id}/requests` edge is now limited to game apps. See Games, Requests.
- read_custom_friendlists - Is the new name for read_friendlists Login permission. This is to clarify that the permission grants access to a person's custom friendlists, not the full list of that person's friends.
- Changes to Page APIs:
 - publish_pages Permission - This new permission is required to publish as a Page. Previously `publish_pages` was required. People who granted `publish_pages` and `manage_pages` before v2.3 have automatically been granted `publish_pages`. If anyone logs in via v2.3, you'll need to request `publish_pages` explicitly in addition to `manage_pages`.

- Page Publish Operations - now accept the type of access token the requests are made with. This includes publishing posts, likes and comments.

When a user access token of a Page admin is in the request such as `POST /v2.3/{page-id}/feed`, the action occurs with the voice of the user, instead of the Page. To publish as the Page, you must now use the Page access token.

- Removing Comments on Page posts - As a Page admin with `DELETE /v2.3/{comment-id}` now requires a Page access token.
- `POST /v2.3/{page-id}` - Now requires country as sub-parameter if you update the location field without specifying the `city_id` sub-parameter. The state sub-parameter is also required if country sub-parameter is 'United States'.
- Countries - The country subfield of the `location` field on a Page post is renamed `country_code` when you make a `POST /v2.3/{page-id}/post-id`.
- Page Field Updates - `POST /v2.3/{page-id}` - Now supports complete field updates for: hours, parking, payment_options.

Previously, the update behavior on these fields was to replace a specific key/value pair that was specified as part of the POST, leaving all other keys intact, but the new functionality of a POST on one of these fields will replace all key/value pairs with what is posted.

- Premium Video Metrics - Insights for Page Premium Video Posts are now deprecated.
- Picture Error - For the Link, Post, Thread, Comment, Status, and AppRequest nodes, and other nodes which don't have a picture, the `/v2.3/{object-type}/picture` edge now returns an error message. Before, the API returned a placeholder image of a 'question mark' for the picture edge requested on these nodes.
- [OAuth Access Token] Format - The response format of `POST /www.facebook.com/v2.3/oauth/access_token` returned when you exchange a code for an access token now return valid JSON instead of being URL encoded. The new format of this response is `{"access_token":"ACCESS_TOKEN", "token_type":"bearer", "expires_in":INTIME}`. We made this update to be compliant with section 5.1 of RFC 6749.
- Consistent Place Data - Content objects tagged with a place now share a consistent place data structure which contains the ID, name the location of the place. This includes Events, Photos, Videos, Statuses and Albums. As a result, the venue and location fields have been removed from the Event node. Developers should access the place field instead.

In addition, if someone tags a Photo, Video, Status, or Album at an event, that object will contain an `event` field.

- Serialized Empty Arrays - All Graph API endpoints now consistently serialize empty arrays as `[]` and empty objects as `{}`. Previously, some empty objects were incorrectly serialized as empty arrays.
- Default Result Limit - All edges will now return 25 results per page by default when the `limit` param is not specified.
- Ads API now Marketing API - We recently renamed the Facebook Ads API to the Facebook Marketing API. For details on Marketing API changes see the Marketing API v2.3 Changelog.

90-day deprecations (effective Tuesday, June 23, 2015)

- Edges and Permissions - `/v2.3/{user-id}/interests` and `/v2.3/{user-id}/activities/edges` as well as `user_interests` and `user_activities` permissions are deprecated in v2.3.

From June 23, 2015 onwards, in all previous API versions, these endpoints will return empty arrays, the permissions will be ignored if requested in the Login Dialog, and will not be returned in calls to the `/v2.3/me/permissions` endpoint.

- Social Plugins - The following are now deprecated and will no longer render after June 23, 2015:
 - Facepile Plugin
 - Recommendations Feed Plugin
 - Activity Feed Plugin
 - Like Box Social Plugin

October 30th, 2014 - API version 2.2

New Features

- Developers may now hide and unhide comments on a Page Post via the Graph API: POST `/v2.2/{comment-id}/is_hidden` to hide, POST `/v2.2/{comment-id}/is_hidden` to unhide. You can determine if a comment is hidden, or if you have the ability to hide/unhide the comment by checking the `is_hidden` or `can_hide` fields on the comment node.
- A new `token_for_business` field makes it easier to identify the same person across multiple apps owned by the same business: In addition to the Business Mapping API, there is now a new `token_for_business` field on the `user` object. This emits a token which is stable for the same person across multiple apps owned by the same business. This will only be emitted if the person has logged into the app. For games developers, this property will also be emitted via the `signed_request` object passed to a canvas page on load. Note that this is not an ID - it cannot be used against the Graph API, but may be stored and used to associate the app-scoped IDs of a person across multiple apps. Also note that if the owning business changes, this token will also change. If you request this field for an app which is not associated with a business, the API call will return an error.
- The comment node has a new `object` field which emits the parent object on which the comment was made. To get the ID and owner of the comment's parent object (for example, a Page Post) you might call: `/v2.2/{comment-id}?fields=object%3Aid,object%3Aname`
- The Page node has a new edge to manage subscriptions for realtime updates.
 - In previous versions, any app which was added as a Page Tab also received realtime updates. From v2.2 onwards there is a dedicated endpoint for managing these subscriptions:
 - GET `/v2.2/{page-id}/subscriptions` app returns the apps subscribed to realtime updates of the Page. This must be called with a Page Access Token.
 - POST `/v2.2/{page-id}/subscriptions` app subscribes the calling app to receive realtime updates of the Page. This must be called with a Page Access Token and requires the calling person to have at least the Moderator role on the Page.

- `DELETE /v2.2/{page-id}/published_app` stops the calling app from receiving realtime updates of the Page. This may be called with a Page or App Access Token. If called with Page Access Token, it requires the calling person to have at least the Moderator role on the Page.
- The `feed_targeting` parameter is now supported when publishing videos to a Page: `POST /v2.2/{page-id}/videos/feed_targeting({targeting_params})`. This lets you specify a number of parameters (such as age, location or gender) to help target who sees your content in News Feed. This functionality is already supported on `POST /{page-id}/feed` so we're extending this to videos too.
- The Page node has a number of new writeable fields to let apps update a Page's information: The following fields are now supported with POSTing to `/v2.2/{page-id}`:
 - `payment_options` takes an object which lets you specify the payment options accepted at the place.
 - `price_range` accepts an enum of strings which represent the self reported price range of the Page's business.
 - `latitude` and `longitude` can now be specified as properties of the `location` field in order to let apps programmatically update Page's physical location. Both are floats.
 - `report_coordinate_warnings` (boolean) determines if the API should throw an error when latitude and longitude are specified in location field for updating the Page's location. If set to false, an error will be thrown if the specified coordinates don't match with the Page's address.
 - `is_always_open` lets apps set the status of the place to "Always Open". This can only be set to true, and will clear previously specified hours in `hours` field. To set specific hours, use `hours` field.
 - `is_published` takes a boolean which lets you publish or unpublish the Page. Unpublished pages are only visible to people listed with a role on the Page.
- The Page node has a new readable field to let apps read a Page's information: The following field are now supported with a GET to `/v2.2/{page-id}`:
 - `name_with_location_prefix` returns a string which provides additional information about the Page's location besides its name.
- There's a new `APPEARS_IN_RELATED_PAGES` setting on `/v2.2/{page-id}/settings`. This boolean determines if your page can be included in the list of suggested pages which are presented when they like a page similar to yours. You may set or read this value.
- You can now read the permissions your app has been approved for via an API. A new edge on your App object, called `/app-id/permissions`, allows you to view the permissions that your app has been approved for via Login Review.

Changes

- There's now a limit of 50 IDs which can be specified in a single request using the syntax `{ids=ID1,ID2}`. This reduces the likelihood of timeouts when requesting data about a large number of IDs in a single request.
- The `blocked` edge on the Page node now requires a Page Access Token - this endpoint can no longer be called with an App or User token. That endpoint is available at: `GET /v2.2/{page-id}/blocked?access_token={page_access_token}`.
- The `likes` edge on the Page node now requires a Page token for GETs. POSTs and DELETES on this endpoint already require page tokens. That endpoint is available at: `POST /v2.2/{page-id}/likes?access_token={page_access_token}`. Calling GET on this edge now works for people in the 'Analyst' role. It previously required the 'Editor' role.
- The `likes` edge on the Page node will now throw an error if the caller does not have permission. Previously it would only return an empty string.
- The `/page-id/roles` edge on the Page node has been renamed to `/v2.2/{page-id}/roles`. In addition, in the response, the values returned in the `role` field have been changed:

- `MANAGER` has been renamed to `Admin`.
- `CONTENT_MODERATOR` has been renamed to `Editor`.
- `MODERATOR` has been renamed to `Moderator`.
- `ADVERTISER` has been renamed to `Advertiser`.
- `INSIGHTS_ANALYST` has been renamed to `Analyst`.
- The `settings` edge on the Page node will no longer include entries for settings where the `value` field would be null.
- `POST /{group_id}/settings` will no longer support the `setting` and `value` params. Instead, you should specify the `action` param which should be an object containing a single key/value pair with the setting enum as the key.
- From v2.2 onwards, apps calling `GET /v2.2/{page_id}/notifications` must use a Page Access Token. Previously this required the `manage_notifications` permission. User Access Tokens will no longer work for this endpoint.
- The structure of the `/v2.2/{group_id}/albums` endpoint has changed to match the response of `/v2.2/{user_id}/albums`.
- The number of results returned from the `/v2.2/{id}/insights` endpoint now defaults to 25.

90-day deprecations (effective Wednesday, January 28, 2015)

- The `facebook` social plugin has been deprecated and will stop working on Jan 28, 2015. Developers should instead use the `FB.AppInit` method of the Javascript SDK to retrieve the names of users.
- In versions previous to v2.2, it was possible for an app to see if a person liked the app's page by checking the `page_fan` FQL table or the `/flood/{app_page_id}` Graph API endpoint without needing the `user_likes` permission. Starting in v2.2, the `user_likes` permission will be required to query these endpoints. Also, we will require the `user_likes` permission on versions older than v2.2 starting 90 days from today, on Jan 28, 2015. Facebook will not grant the `user_likes` permission solely for the purpose of checking if a person has liked an app's page. This change was announced on August 7, 2014 and will come into effect on November 5, 2014.
- The Pages JSON feed (e.g. <https://www.facebook.com/feeds/page.php?id=%2019292868552&format=json>) is now deprecated and will stop returning data from Jan 28, 2015 onwards. Developers should instead call the `feed` edge on the Graph API's Page object: `/v2.2/{page_id}/feed`.
- `POST /{page-id}/tabs` and `DELETE /{page-id}/tabs` will no longer support subscribing or unsubscribing an app for realtime updates. This will take effect in all previous API versions on January 28, 2015. To subscribe an app to realtime updates for a page, use the new `/v2.2/{page-id}/subscribed-apps` endpoint.
- The Comments Plugin will no longer support commenting via third-party identifiers after January 28, 2015. This facility was rarely used and the majority of comments posted by these accounts were of low quality. People may still comment using their Facebook account, or may also comment as a Facebook Page.

October 14th, 2014 - Disabled SSL 3.0 Support

On October 14, 2014, we dropped support for SSL 3.0 across Facebook properties, including the Facebook Platform API and the Real-Time Updates API, after a vulnerability in the protocol was revealed on October 14, 2014. This change helps protect people's information.

If your HTTP library forces the use of SSL 3.0 rather than TLS, you will no longer be able to connect to Facebook. Please update your libraries and/or configuration so that TLS is available.

August 7, 2014 - API version 2.1

This is Facebook's first new API update after version 2.0 was launched at the 2014 f8 conference. API versions are supported for two years after the next version is released. This means that:

- Version 2.1 will be available starting today until two years after the release of a post-v2.1 version.
- Version 2.0 will expire on August 7, 2016, two years after the release of v2.1. (Version 2.0 was introduced on April 30, 2014.)
- Version 1.0 will expire as scheduled on April 30, 2015.

New Features

- Pages can mention other Pages when publishing via API: When making calls to several Page publishing edges such as /feed or /photos you can now mention other Pages in a message field. This extends our current availability of mentions in Open Graph. This API requires review by Facebook before it can be used by people other than the app's developers. Learn more about the Page Mentions review process in our documentation.
- New total friend count on the friends connection: /v2.1/me/friends (and /v2.0/me/friends) now provides access to total friend count - this count includes friends who use the app as well as those who don't.
- New 'facebook-api-version' HTTP header: In all API versions, we now return an HTTP response header called 'facebook-api-version' which indicates which API version your app is actually experiencing - this may be different to the API version you specify in your request due to upgrades.
- New App Insights API: v2.1 includes access to the new App Insights data via an API. This is available by calling /v2.1/{app_id}/app_insights
- A new format for Graph API Field Expansion: v2.1 introduces more concise syntax for Field Expansion. (The new syntax is also been added to v2.0 and earlier). See our documentation on field expansion for examples. The older format for field expansion is still available, but the new format is preferred.
- User-facing error messages: In some cases (such as access token invalidation or expiry) the API now returns user-displayable error messages which describe the error and what the person may need to do to resolve it. These error messages will be returned in US English by default, but if you query the Graph API specifying the locale parameter (e.g. ?locale=es_ES) the string may be returned in the specified language.
- The Event object now has five new integer fields: attending_count, declined_count, maybe_count, noreply_count and invited_count: Each of these returns an integer which represents the number of people who have been invited, not replied, are attending, are not attending or whom may attend.
- GET /v2.1/?id={url} returns a new URL node: In v2.1, when you query the Graph API with a URL as the ID, we'll return a URL object which enumerates any share info available for that URL, any Open Graph object associated with that URL, or any AppLinks that use the URL.
- The Page object now has a new `screen_names` edge: this returns a list of the other, non-Facebook accounts associated with the brand or entity represented by a Facebook Page.

Deprecations in this version

- The FQL and REST APIs are no longer available in v2.1: Previously announced with v2.0, apps must migrate to versioned Graph API calls starting with v2.1.
- The '/insights' edge on the Application object is no longer available in this version: This has been replaced by the new '/app_insights' edge.

90-Day Deprecations

The following deprecations will take place on November 5, 2014 - 90 days after the launch of v2.1.

- The Recommendations Bar social plugin has been deprecated: On Wednesday November 5th 2014, the Recommendations Bar will no longer render on any website. If you're using this plugin, we recommend you remove it from your site before this date.
- The /insights edge on the Application object will be removed in both v1.0 and v2.0: The insights API is classified as an Extended API and is subject to change within the life of a version. Developers should instead move to call `/v2.1/{app_id}/app_insights` before this deprecation takes effect.
- The 'liked' property will no longer be returned in the 'signed_request' object for Page Tab apps created after today. From November 5, 2014 onwards, the 'liked' property will always return 'true' regardless of whether or not the person has liked the page.

Changes

1. API responses are now always JSON objects, rather than booleans, integers or strings: Many API calls before v2.1 returned plain text 'true' or a raw number like '378293782' as the response. With v2.1, those calls will now return valid JSON, such as:

  "success": true

2. The dialogs/oauth endpoint no longer support the 'return_session' and 'session_version' parameters for legacy authentication methods.
3. /v2.1/me/permissions no longer contains the 'installed' permission: 'installed' was a pseudo-permission that was used to check if someone had your app installed. Instead of looking for 'installed' in the response, you should call the endpoint and, if it returns data, consider this indication that the user has installed the app.
4. GET /?id={your_url} for Open Graph object and Shares has been replaced by new URL node: Previously, when you queried the Graph API with a URL as the ID, we returned information related to shares of that URL. If the URL was also an Open Graph object, you would have to specify 'type=og' in your request. Version 2.1 introduces a new URL node which combines and replaces this functionality.
5. /v2.1/{post-id} will now return all photos attached to the post: In previous versions of the API only the first photo was returned with a post. This removes the need to use FQL to get all a post's photos.
6. 'uri' can no longer be requested from picture fields: Apps previously requesting `uri` should instead use `url`.

Changes to Platform Policies

- Games which include mandatory or optional in-app charges must now disclose this in their app's description, either on Facebook or other platforms it supports. This is to give people a clear indication that your game may charge people during gameplay.
- You must not incentivize people to use social plugins or to like a Page. This includes offering rewards, or gating apps or app content based on whether or not a person has liked a Page. It remains acceptable to incentivize people to login to your app, checkin at a place or enter a promotion on your app's Page. To ensure quality connections and help businesses reach the people who matter to them, we want people to like Pages because they want to connect and hear from the business, not because of artificial incentives. We believe this update will benefit people and advertisers alike.

These policy changes will come into effect on November 5, 2014 - 90 days after the launch of v2.1. They apply to all apps across all API versions.

April 30th, 2014 - API Version v2.0

Graph API v2.0 was introduced at the 2014 Facebook Developer Conference (f8). This changelog entry covers a large number of products and services, broken out by topic. This is the first release of Facebook's API that is versioned.

As the oldest active version of the API, unversioned calls to the Graph API will be made against this version.

Facebook Login

Version 2.0 includes a new version of Facebook Login. It has a new design that gives people more control about the info they share with your app:

- Permissions are now optional to people using your app: People using your app can now choose whether or not to give you the info that you request. The login dialog offers the ability to decline any of the permissions your app requests.
- Friend list is no longer part of the default permission set and has its own permission: Asking for access to a person's friend list is now a separate permission that your app must request. The new permission is called `user_friends`.
- Friend list now only returns friends who also use your app: The list of friends returned via the `/me/friends` endpoint is now limited to the list of friends that have authorized your app.
- The default permission set called "basic info" has been removed, and replaced by "public profile": The old default permission, called `basic_info` has been replaced by `public_profile`. `public_profile` does not include a person's friends. Specifying it as part of the initial login request is still required on iOS and Android.
- We will review how apps use Facebook Login: Apps requesting more than `public_profile`, `email` and the `user_friends` permission must be reviewed by Facebook before those permissions can be requested from people. Active apps created before April 30th, 2014 have one year before they are required to go through login review, including updates to existing apps. Facebook apps created after April 30th, 2014 must go through review.

Anonymous Login (Beta)

Anonymous Login is a new product from Facebook that lets people log into your app without sharing any personal information. To learn more and apply for early access, please see our Anonymous Login product page.

Audience Network

We now provide a widget for iOS and Android that you can use to deliver high-quality, relevant ads to people using your app.

Message Dialog

Let the people using your app easily share things with their friends via private messages in Facebook Messenger, without requiring Facebook Login. The message dialog is available on iOS and Android.

App Links

App Links is an open, cross platform solution for app to app linking. App Links provides all the tools you need to expose deep links in your app or to have your app link out to others in the ecosystem.

Learn more about app links at applinks.org and how to integrate them into your app with our iOS and Android documentation.

Like Button for Mobile

We're introducing a new Like button for mobile apps, available in beta on iOS. The Like Button is the fastest way to share stories with your friends.

New PHP SDK for Facebook

We've created an all-new version of our PHP SDK that's been completely rebuilt and takes advantage of the language features of PHP 5.4 and above.

API Versions

The Graph API now supports versioning. APIs defined as Core will be supported for at least two years. Core APIs include features such as Facebook Login, the Like button, many endpoints on the Graph API, and our iOS and Android SDKs.

Parts of the API that aren't marked as Core APIs may still use migrations to modify their behaviour within a give API version. Please see our document on versions and our upgrade guide for more information.

JavaScript SDK

- New path: In order to support Graph API versioning and the new Facebook Login, the JS SDK must be loaded from a new path. The old location was https://connect.facebook.net/en_US/all.js and the new location is https://connect.facebook.net/en_US/sdk.js.
- FB.init() now supports versions: `FB.init()` takes a new parameter: `version` that indicates what version of the API you would like to use (such as "v1.0")
- Many parameters to `FB.init()` now default to false. In particular, the `status` flag.

Graph API

Changes from v1.0 to v2.0

- App-scoped User IDs: To better protect people's information, when people log into your app, Facebook will now issue an app-scoped ID rather than that person's original ID. However, for users that have previously logged into your app, the user ID will not change.
- App Friends: The `/me/friends` endpoint no longer includes the full list of a person's friends. Instead, it now returns the list of that person's friends who are also using your app.
- All requests to Graph API v2.0 require an access token, except for `/feed` and `/me`.

- The format of the `/me/permissions` endpoint has changed. It now includes a list of permissions and a status field denoting if they were granted or declined.

New features available in v2.0

- Taggable Friends API: We've added a new endpoint called `/me/taggable_friends` that you can use in order to generate stories that have friends tagged in them, even those friends don't use your app. If you want to use the taggable friends API, your app will require review.
- Invitable Friends API: We've added a new endpoint called `/me/invitable_friends` that you can use to generate a list of friends for someone to invite to your game through a custom interface. This API is only available to apps that are games on Facebook Canvas.
- Social Context API: We've added a new endpoint to objects and apps that allow you to display a person's friend's actions on an object. For example, you might be able to answer the question "Which of my friends have watched this movie?" by looking at the `/me/movie-123?fields=context` endpoint. Or you could answer the question "Which of my friends play this game?" by looking at the `/game-app-id-123?fields=context` endpoint. The game app example is particularly useful for games that want to do cross-game promotions.
- Business Mapping API: With this release, a number of apps can be owned by a single businesses. Along with the move to emit app-scoped user IDs, we're introducing a new endpoint called `/me/ids-for-business` that allows you to correlate a user's IDs across multiple apps associated with the same Business as defined within Business Manager.
- Tagged Places API: We're adding a new endpoint called `/me/tagged_places` that lets you access all the Places a person has been tagged at in photos, videos, statuses and links. There is a new permission associated with this endpoint: `user_tagged_places`.

Endpoints no longer available in v2.0

- `/me/comments` has been removed. Please use `/me/tagged_places` instead.
- `/me/checkins` has been removed, along with the `user_checkins` permission.
- `/me/questions` has been removed, along with the `user_questions` permission. This also includes `/page-id/questions`, `/group-id/questions`, `/question-id` and `/question-object-id`.
- `/me/subscribers` and `/me/subscribedto` have been removed.
- `/me/username` is no longer available.
- `/me/notes` is no longer available, along with the `user_notes` permission.
- `/page-id/notes` is no longer available.
- `/group-id/questions` is no longer available.
- Public Post search is no longer available. (`/search/?type=post&q=foobar`)
- News Feed search is no longer available (`/me/home?q=foobar`)
- Start Now is no longer available in v2.0.

Permissions

Changes from v1.0 to v2.0

- In Graph API v2.0, access to `/me/friends` is no longer part of the default (`public_profile`) permissions. We now require you to ask for the new permission `user_friends`. With this permission, `/me/friends` now returns the person's friends who are also using the app.
- Apps using Facebook Login that require more than `public_profile` (default), `email` and `user_friends` will require review by Facebook in order to request these permissions from people.
- The permission `user_friendlists` no longer allows you to read the list of friends in a friendlist, but only lets you access the name of the list. This is useful for people building custom audience selectors when posting stories.
- The permissions at the `/me/permissions` endpoint now indicate if the permissions were granted or declined in the Facebook Login dialog.

New permissions in v2.0

We've added the new `public_profile` permission to replace `basic_info` as the default. `public_profile` contains much of the same information as `basic_info` did, but without the person's friends listed.

- As mentioned above, the `user_friends` permission is new in v2.0. It gives you access to the `/me/friends` endpoint, which lists the person's friends who also use your app.
- We've added a new permission called `user_tagged_places`. This gives you access to a new endpoint, `/me/tagged_places`, which replaces the deprecated `user_location` permission.

Permissions no longer available in v2.0

- `basic_info` is no longer available.
- `create_event` is no longer available.
- `manage_friendlists` is no longer available.
- `read_requests` is no longer available.
- `user_checkins` is no longer available.
- `user_photos` is no longer available.
- `user_online_presence` is no longer available.
- `user_questions` is no longer available.
- `user_subscription` is no longer available.
- `upload_photo` is no longer available.

All `friends` permissions have been removed. They include:

- `friend_request`
- `friends_additional`
- `friends_actions:fitness`
- `friends_actions:music`
- `friends_actions:news`
- `friends_actions:video`
- `friends_actions:API_NAMING`
- `friends_activities`
- `friends_birthday`
- `friends_checkins`
- `friends_education_history`
- `friends_events`
- `friends_games_activity`
- `friends_groups`
- `friends_home`
- `friends_interests`
- `friends_likes`
- `friends_location`
- `friends_notes`
- `friends_online_presence`
- `friends_photos`
- `friends_questions`
- `friends_relationships`
- `friends_relationship_details`
- `friends_religion_politics`
- `friends_status`
- `friends_subscription`
- `friends_videos`
- `friends_website`
- `friends_work_history`

Dialogs

- The `friends` dialog is no longer available.

- The registration plugin is no longer available.
- The feed and legacy share dialogs are now deprecated. They will continue to work, but we strongly recommend upgrading to the newer, modern Share dialog which additionally allows Open Graph stories to be published.
- In the feed dialog, the `to:` parameter will no longer accept arbitrary user IDs. You may only pass in the IDs of people who also use your app.

FQL

FQL is still available in version 2.0, but will not be available in the next version of the API. This early warning is given so that developers can start migrating off FQL to the Graph API as soon as possible. We strongly recommend that developers build no new experiences based on FQL. The vast majority of use cases can be achieved using the Graph API including field expansion and batched requests.

Test Apps

You can now create test versions of your production apps for use in development, testing, staging and QA. Test Apps are linked with your production app, but have their own app ID and settings. Test Apps are always in development mode. They share the same app-scoped user IDs as their production app. Admins of the production app have one place to manage all of the people who have access to the production and test apps.

Learn more in our documentation for test apps.

Business Mapping API

For businesses that operate multiple user-facing apps (for example, game developers), the Business Mapping API allows them to correlate a given user's IDs across the multiple apps operated by that business. To enable this API, developers must associate their apps with a parent business using a new tool called Business Manager. Learn about how to use the Business Mapping API and Business Manager.

Games

The following changes have been made to the app and games group API:

- Apps Can Post as Apps - Apps can now post to groups as apps in addition to posting on behalf of the user.
- Create Group Dialog - Apps can now show a client-side dialog as an alternative to creating groups server-side.
- Join Group Dialog - Apps can now show a client-side dialog as an alternative to adding users to a group on the server-side.
- Add user to group by API removed - Apps can no longer add any user to a group via API. They can only add users that have a role on the app (admins, developers, testers, test users).
- Read Feed Removed - Apps can no longer read a group feed. However, apps can view the posts they make via the Graph API. Apps can also comment on their posts using this same API.
- Create event Removed - Apps can no longer create events with the API.
- Delete a group has changed - Apps can only delete groups that have no members in them. If the app wants to delete a group, they must remove all members first. Deleting a group will make it non-existent.
- Removed requirement for user_groups permission - Apps should not ask for the `user_groups` permission to get a list of user's groups. Apps can now get a user's game groups that belong to an app (and that app only) without the permission.

- Removed App Center requirement - We removed the requirement for an app to be in App Center in order to use Game Groups.

Chat

The Chat/XMPP service and API was deprecated along with Graph API v1.0 on April 30, 2015.

Agree that we'd have some things to figure out there – the main goal would be to improve the development time experience apps don't end up in the store with a dialog that doesn't function (which is the with at least one iOS 6 app). Let's defer that until the next release.

Do you agree we should fix the flashing spinner problem?

Subject: Re: qa testing for a new fb4a dialog

I am going to push back on this proposal for a couple of reasons:

1. We are trading off development time usability for an error case for a runtime perf hit. The apps that we whitelist (presumably marquee partners) will need a round trip before showing the dialog. This is a development time error and the app will never work so I think the current behavior is fine as long as we give a clear error message to developers and our docs call these cases out.
2. We keep changing these business rules all the time (we changed them a few times during the iOS6 project) so I really don't want to apply any of these on the client – I think that may get us in a corner later.

Thanks

Vish

Totally agree – that fish is on deck for frying. Hopeful we can get that into this release.

That's fine. P2. The thing I care about is the static permissions -- we shouldn't show that loading dialog unless there is a permission that we don't have in a static array in the SDK or login service (which every is easiest to change).

If the whitelist size is small, it's not nuts and would be a good improvement to the development experience, even if the error only happens in sandbox mode. Hopefully this isn't an issue at all for users.

We've got bigger fish to fry this week before launch, so suggest that push that to the next FB4A.

Also, and this may be nuts, but can we check to see if the app is white listed to ask for read and write together at app startup and then throw an error if they are not, before the user sees the dialog?

Agree with Doug. Let's optimize for the (very) common case where we know all the permissions and don't have to make an API call to load them.

Subject: Re: qa testing for a new fb4a dialog

Also, can we only show the "loading text" screen if it is a permission that we don't know about statically?

I am only asking for basic and I see the spinning dialog for a little bit. I am on a fast S3 too.

This could be a question about the test app...

1. I can't seem to see what the behavior is when I already granted the app requested permission. It keeps showing the dialog.

>> by design since there's no server roundtrip. So dialog doesn't know it shouldn't show

What Ling says. It is the responsibility of the SDK to figure out which permissions have already been granted and just ask for the delta perms.

2. The NUX keeps showing up too for the same app through N installs. If I switch between apps, it stops showing the NUX after I TOS the 3rd app.

>> new test app lets you auth up to 3 apps. On the 3rd app, nux disappears. Note known issue: <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/tasks/?t=1937105>

Note that for the same app, basic_info will be asked only once by the SDK and so the NUX will be shown only once.

In terms of the GDP itself...

1. When I pop the GDP again, the dialog flickers -- it shows the progress dialog from the previous install (the spinning circle) -- and then it shows the GDP.

>> the loading indicator happens due to server hit to decide whether to show NUX. When you're no longer eligible for NUX, a bit is cached and there's never a server hit / load for standard scopes

Not quite true. We fetch the NUX status when the user logs in so this is not the reason. You may be hitting a bug that Adrian is fixing by tomorrow due to which some friend perms incur a server round trip to get the text. In general the dialog logic calls into the sentence rendering logic which may or may not finish synchronously (depending on whether all the perms are known or not). For the known perms case the spinning circle should go away instantaneously.

2. What is the point of the Cancel button on the progress dialog after the GDP dialog? I don't think we have anything like that on iOS?

>> agree but probably doesn't meet bar for fb4a at this point. Can consider in Jan

3. Are we planning on throwing an error if the developer asks for both read and write at the same time? I can do it right now in the test app.

>> since there's no server roundtrip, we can't throw error at dialog render time since we need to check server gk to see if the app is whitelisted for this. However, any dev that tests this will notice it fails because unless whitelisted, the call errors even if user clicks OK

All these install "business" rules are checked only on the server after the user clicks OK for maximum flexibility. This is the same way iOS behaves. The caller should get a clear error for this case.

Subject: Re: qa testing for a new fb4a dialog

Is the QA team clear on what the different permissions are (read/write/unknown)? Some interesting permission combinations to test for are:

Scenario 1

1. App asks for basic_info
2. App asks for email, user_about_me, friends_about_me, user_actions:spotify
3. App asks for publish_actions
4. App asks for manage_pages

We should do this scenario with changing the write_privacy level in step 3 to be friends, everyone or only-me

Scenario 2

Similar to scenario 1 but combine steps 1 & 2. I.e. Ask for basic_info, email, user_about_me, friends_likes in 1 step

Scenario 3

Trying to install an app without basic_info permission should fail

Scenario 4

Trying to install an app without specifying any permissions should fail

Scenario 5

Asking for publish_actions without specifying a write_privacy should fail

These are in addition to the test cases Peter mentions below.

Thanks

Subject: Re: qa testing for a new fb4a dialog

Hey Ronak and Amanda,

Attached is a test app for the new native GDP dialog. The test app has a few buttons which are equivalent to a "login with Facebook" button but specifying different requested permissions. Please test as follows:

- E2E case of asking for read perms initially, followed by write and unknown perms. You will need to un-tos the app to ensure that asking for write perms when un-tosed fails.
- Test cancel at authorization time. Verify intent response has the right error code
- Test that an error with retry option is shown when there is no network connectivity
- test when user is not logged in to fb4a. It should prompt for login and then redirect to the dialog
- rotate phone in each step and ensure the dialog adapts.

Known issues:

- fb4a will crash the first time you launch this if you launch the dialog immediately after install. This is being tracked in <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/tasks/?t=1920458> and the workaround is to simply open fb4a once before clicking the buttons in the 3rd party app
- testing the service doesn't work yet. The diff for that is out. If it's ok, we'll continue to add to the test app and send you updates as features land
- there will be a nux for the GDP dialog the first time it is run, but this is not in yet. This should be explicitly tested on different devices once it lands (some time Wednesday).

Please prioritize testing on gingerbread and tablets since that has had the least testing so far.

Let me know if this makes sense/if you need more details. Thanks,

-Peter

>Not 100% sure that's right (~4 minutes of writing), but I think that's the basic narrative/conversation we should have, Constantin.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>Thanks Mike, this sounds right. Let me roll this into a deck and work out the broader narrative today. Will share once I have a first rev

Douglas Purdy:

>Have feedback on the details, but I think this is exactly how we should talk about it externally as well. This is actual net good for developers in the end (provided we honor our commitments, which we do). I strongly believe that all of our decisions need to be good for users, good for developers and good for us on balance, which is where we are finally landing with Platform 3.0. Feel really really good about this. I hope everyone thinks about this as the "reboot" we have all wanted.

>Small nit that we probably aren't going to want to deprecate any of the game APIs as we have plans to improve that piece at some point. It is really just scores and achievements.

Kevin Lacker:

>for SLAs, both the AWS and Parse SLAs are themed of, "here is how we define downtime and you get x money back if we have downtime." for a free api that doesn't really make sense because there's nothing we can really give to developers to make up for it when we miss the SLA.

Kevin Lacker:

>also, typically things called SLAs are goals like "99.95 % uptime" rather than "we fix all bugs within 2 weeks". the latter is great stuff to say externally, but there is probably something better to call it rather than an "SLA"

Douglas Purdy:

>I personally think that the core need to have an SLA. Any issue that causes an app to break, within the versioning window, is a service disruption.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>Agree

Kevin Lacker:

>so for that you are talking about a goal in the dimension of "99.95% uptime"? or in the dimension of "we fix bugs within 2 weeks"

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>both

Douglas Purdy:

>I think an SLA is the former.

Kevin Lacker:

>in general, there are going to be bugs that will take long enough to fix that you won't spend 99.95% of the time bug-free

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>we've flighted an SLA that matches to the commit Mike mentioned earlier with partners

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>i.e Zynga

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>it took us a semester, but we eventually got to a 100% compliance rate

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>I think if we are aggressive with defining the scope of stable core, we can do this more broadly

Douglas Purdy:

>The Z example is a good proof point.

Douglas Purdy:

>That effort really paid off with them.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>(y)

Douglas Purdy:

>That said, I still think that we have to think about core with a little more rigor. If we all agree regressions are service disruptions, I think this is ok.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>if we look at the relationship we had with Zynga as a microcosm of the developer community at large - the SLA and bug commitment completely turned around our relationship

Kevin Lacker:

>i think we will end up in a state where some regressions count as service disruptions, but some count as bugs. a regression that is like "whenever you do a request on a user with this particular unicode character in their last name, there is now a 2% chance of an out-of-memory error.", you don't want to say "sorry we missed our SLA for March because of that." but a regression like "this api used to return the int 0 but now returns the string "0", that is a service disruption.

Kevin Lacker:

>part of what makes an sla valuable and what i hope we do is to make public how well we did against the sla. what was our uptime and how did we do on bugs

Douglas Purdy:

>This should absolutely be public, in my book.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>I'm not sure I follow. If your API request is in the set of out of mem failures, that is a disruption in service and should affect our 99.9 SLA, no?

Tirunelveli Vishwanath:

>Yeah a lot of incoming bugs are non-mainstream cases/developer confusion/non repros

Tirunelveli Vishwanath:

>should #affected devs factor into what comes in SLA?

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>as a developer my app broke. I don't care if it's your infrastructure or you engineers fault

Douglas Purdy:

>Vish: I think we cut all non-mainstream scenarios from core

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>Pragmatically I think that makes sense re: affected devs but I think it's a slippery slope >well, if you count every five minute period where some api request had an out-of-memory error as a period where we missed the sla, then we will have 0% uptime.

Kevin Lacker:

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>+1 to Doug

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>but isn't that exactly how a service oriented SLA should function?

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>if AWS is down for 5 min in a specific location, my app is still down

Kevin Lacker:

>no. if you look at the AWS SLA for example, they only consider it to be "downtime" when it's totally down

Tirunelveli Vishwanath:

>yeah I agree wrt slippery slope. I guess we need to completely specify behavior for core in our docs,

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>hmm, so cases when AWS crapped out in the entire north east, that did not count against their SLA?

Douglas Purdy:

>If the DynamoDB read API breaks, but write still works is that down?

Kevin Lacker:

>"Unavailable" and "Unavailability" mean:

>For Amazon EC2, when all of your running instances have no external connectivity.

>For Amazon EBS, when all of your attached volumes perform zero read write IO, with pending IO in the queue.

Kevin Lacker:

>that's the goal they hit 99.95% for

Kevin Lacker:

>basically, you can hit 99.95% for a goal like "It is not totally down"

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>so limited connectivity doesn't count then?

Douglas Purdy:

>I think dynamo or simple DB is a better comp

Kevin Lacker:

>for a goal like "it works perfectly", you can only asymptotically approach it

Douglas Purdy:

>That is why there are lots of 9s

Kevin Lacker:

>they don't have an SLA for dynamo

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>ie one virtual nic is connected, so it's ok if the others are not? I can understand that attitude, but I'm not sure it's the standard we should shoot for

Douglas Purdy:

>RDS?

Douglas Purdy:

>They have to have an SLA for their turn-key services?

Kevin Lacker:

>this is just how SLAs typically work

Kevin Lacker:

>SLAs are designed to cover total downtime

Kevin Lacker:

>they are not typically the mechanism used to describe quality of bug-fixing

Kevin Lacker:

>RDS is: "Unavailable" means that all connection requests to the running Multi-AZ instance fail during a 1 minute period.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

>Let's separate out the bug commitment timing for a sec

Douglas Purdy:

>I assume that you have to be able to do something with the connection?

Douglas Purdy:

>Read or write?

Douglas Purdy:

>Or is a connection, just the open?

Kevin Lacker:

>in practice, the SLA is for your promise to keep the service running >the way I see this is: we maintain an SLA for uptime. Anything that causes a service disruption (bug or infra) affects our guaranteed uptime. If something breaks, we have the bug committ (24hr hi-pri, etc) to get it operational again.

Constantin Koumouzelis:

Douglas Purdy:
>I like that frame

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>if we can provide a work around that does not require a code change (route to a different service, etc) that is sufficient to meet our commit

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>this is all completely orthogonal from our commitment to not change anything (intentionally or unintentionally).

Constantin Koumouzelis: >effectively we are writing a contract for platform that contains all of this. The service SLA is one component

Kevin Lacker:
>the azure sla is another good example - <http://www.windowsazure.com/en-us/support/legal/sla/>

Kevin Lacker:
>to get a guarantee with a lot of 9's you have to be very minimal about what functionality you promise is working. in their case it's basically "you can connect to the database" rather than "every method works absolutely as documented with zero crashes". so, anyway i think we are on the same page, it's just the precise definition of "what counts as a service disruption"

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>(y)

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>Agree that there is a spectrum here between [the graph API responds to an HTTP request] and [method X returns the correct response to every request, every time]

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>I'm a little hesitant to snap to the graph API always returns an http status code, and 500 counts - this isn't really what we have a problem with today and I think developers can see through it

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>looking at the Azure SLA - the Storage section is closer to what I'm thinking we should offer

Constantin Koumouzelis:
>we guarantee crud operations

Constantin Koumouzelis:

HIGHLIGHTS

PLATFORM FIX

Partners use the Real Time API to subscribe to changes in certain information available through the Graph API. For example, partners might use the API to subscribe to receive updates when new comments are added to a Page post. This is more efficient than having partners build custom software that repeatedly calls Facebook's APIs to detect changes. Recently, Steven Elia found a simple, clever way to add support for app scoped IDs to the Real Time API. This unblocks Page management apps that needed the Real Time API to support the ID changes we made at F8 2014 and with enough time for them to migrate to Graph API 2+ before the April 30, 2015 deprecation date.

== BUILD ==

Decision to privatize feed, notifications, and messenger APIs with Graph API 2.4 in June. At the last F8, we announced the deprecation of friend permissions and kept API access to Feed, Notifications, and Messenger. For almost a year, DevOps reviewed requests to access these APIs and has approved virtually zero apps. Given this, we plan to privatize these APIs in June with Graph API 2.4. This will reduce confusion for developers who see the feature on the public API yet are not approved to use them. We will work on messaging for this change post-f8.

The Page Social Plugin will launch at F8. This lets developers embed content from their Page in their website and replaces the Like Box. Partners can embed several sections from their page including: header + profile pictures, recent photos, recent posts and About.

Making updates to Device Login, so we can launch to developers more broadly. Device Login lets people use their Facebook identity to log into devices that do not support a keyboard or HTML. For example, a photo frame that shows pictures from your Profile might use Device Login. We have had this product for several years yet due to integrity issues, it remains in limited preview. Due to increased interest from developers building hardware, we are making updates to launch the product broadly to allow developers to use Facebook Login on hardware.

== PAYMENTS ==

P2P Latency Reduced. Attila Incze & James Yu achieved a 40% improvement in latency for P2P payments! We measure latency as the time between hitting "Send" and the payment being confirmed as sent. James & Attila decreased p95 time (the time for the 95th slowest percentile) from 7.7 to 4.4 seconds and decreased median time to send from 4.9 to 2.9 seconds.

Ads Interfaces Reliability Restored. Fix for Ads Interfaces Reliability issue is live! Following the SEV1 for fraud (<https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/sevmanager/sev/937591122947520/>), we disabled currency change for advertisers as a mitigation. However, this surfaced an issue in Lightweight Interface (LWI) where the wrong budget currency was being passed to the payments flow and payments failed for these advertisers. This impacted our overall Ads Interfaces reliability numbers by 7-8% (below 99%) for the last couple of weeks.

Ads Payments Redesign Rolled Out. Web ads payment flow redesign shipped to 100%. After a long period of testing and analysis, we're now delivering a much better, FIG compliant experience to all advertisers adding a payment method in ads flows. Critically, it also unblocks Prepaid for ads. Prepaid was built on the new flow while it was still in testing, so rolling the new flow out to 100% allows us to offer Prepaid to more advertisers around the world.

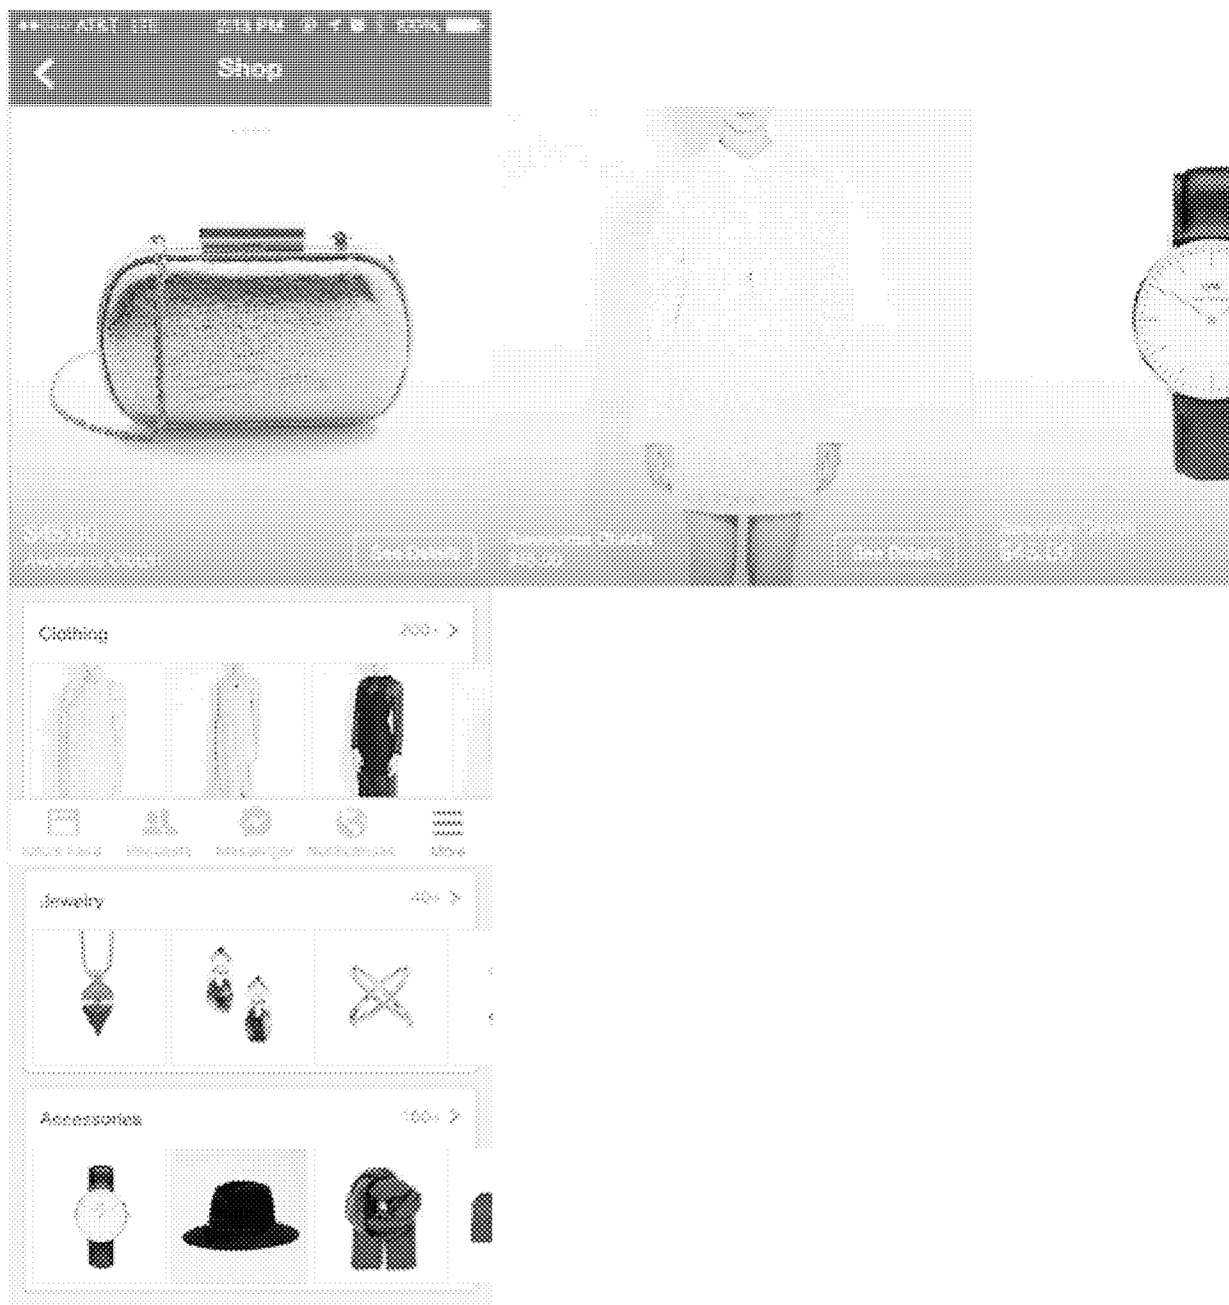

Oculus Testing Completed. Oculus Payments Integration testing is completed in time for Oculus commerce launch next week at GDC! For the last 2 weeks, the Payments, Oculus, and Finance teams have been working really hard on integration testing of Oculus Payment flows. The testing phase involved coming up with test cases, executing tests in production, making fixes as we found issues, generating reports, and verification with Finance to get the reports signed off.

== COMMERCE ==

Groups Commerce hits 20,000 daily sold items! We recently released “compact view” under the “Your Post” section on mobile that easily allows a seller to mark an item as sold and access their posts comments. This has seen our sold items per day spike to 23,000, before averaging to around 20,000 daily active.

Pages Storefronts will be available on iOS. All major Storefront features made the 02/26 iOS branch cut and the team is making excellent progress on getting the rest of the Storefront and Product details changes in by the 03/12 branch cut: <https://www.facebook.com/pxlcld/m36v>. Merchants will be able to host a collection of products on their pages for buyers to browse and purchase. This is the first set of discovery experiences we’re building out to improve the buyer purchase flow and ultimately increase mobile conversion for merchants.

== APP ADS ==

Value of install attribution fix rises. A little over a month ago, Jun found an issue affecting install attribution on devices with multi-users, which caused us to drop a lot of installs (not charging for them). Essentially what was happening was that on any device with multiple users (shared device), we were dropping installs that we weren't able to match against clicks given the broken mapping of device-to-user in the case of shared devices. See more at <https://fburl.com/87205201>. At the time, the fix initially was recovering ~50k installs a day, slowly climbing to 80k. Today, this fix is recovering ~100k installs a day which is worth about $75M over the course of the year. It's worth calling out that even though here in the valley we rarely think people share devices, there is a whole big world out there. In some countries like the Philippines and Vietnam, more than 30% of Android devices are shared! (<https://fburl.com/84114751>). In the US overall that figure is about 6% (again for Android), the global average is 15%.

Gatekeeper for the previous rollout of mobile app ads in Sideshow dialed down. This was a 10% rollout for English speaking locales (US, India, Britain). Impression logging was broken on client side so we have to wait for about 2 weeks to open this up again.

The previously announced competitive analysis dashboard project has been cancelled. We initially set out to build a customer facing dashboard showing relevant competitive benchmark metrics of top 5 and 25 advertisers with the primary aim of those metrics driving more ad spend from advertisers not in those categories, and driving more platform product adoption as a secondary goal. There were concerns about the data that could be exposed whether directly to advertisers or indirectly through sales, and so the decision was made to cancel the project.

Initial results from tail/torso developer study indicate that high CPIs are a key deterrent. A couple of months ago, we kicked off research to understand the needs and challenges of unmanaged tail/torso developers with the goal of exploring how can we serve this segment. We spoke to a number of developers in different businesses and gained some helpful insight. Please find the high level findings in this Quip, <https://quip.com/m7lfApTYbXCk>. We'll also have a final deck from Kristen Koch and team with research overview, findings and implications. Thanks Kristin Koch for designing and conducting the research and Raghu Nayani for driving from Neko team.

== GAMES ==

The bid type CPA launched on canvas app ads on 2/23. CPA is a bid type that stands for cost per action/install. It allows developers to only pay when a user they target installs their app and they select the price they are willing to pay per install. It's part of a larger ad initiative to move us closer to what developers really care about (which is ROI). CPA currently accounts for 24% of mobile app ads revenue, was one of three big wins for Neko last year, and has been a big ask from desktop app ad developers.

Play Anonymously is out to 50% of 2 beta partners and a third is going live on Monday. Data is looking good. We are iterating on design and tweaking a few things for F8. Read all about it here: <https://fburl.com/87380759>. Great work Niket Biswas, Bill Chen, Jeff Crow and everyone else who contributed to this project.

Ad revenue attribution to games in Neko have been resolved. The classification of apps into games and non-games was broken. We have now switched to the same classification used by Biz Ops. Thanks Will Laves for leading the charge here!

== FEATURED DEVELOPER ==

Developer: Inkle Studios

What they do: Inkle Studios is a 5 person shop studio in the UK. Earlier this year they launched the game "80 Days". It's a narrative-driven adventure for iOS in which players race around the world on the route of their choice. It is based on the Jules Verne classic 'Around the World in Eighty Days'. There's a huge amount of variability in the route that players can choose to take, each one with a unique story. The game was recently awarded TIME Magazine's Video Game of the Year and Apple's Best Games of 2014!

Country: UK

How Facebook helps them: To help illustrate the unique stories, and to introduce competition, the team added a light multiplayer element in the form of a live feed: all the players are connected via Parse, with a 3d globe showing the locations of other players, and hints of the stories that they've seen on their journeys.

"Parse allowed us to add connectivity that, a few years ago, would've been prohibitively complex and expensive. Although our multiplayer feature isn't a traditional synchronous form of multiplayer - players don't play directly with each other in real-time - we were able to connect players together and create a unique competitive element with just a few lines of Parse code in the client. We've also been really happy with Parse's new pricing structure. For a successful independent game, the cost in release week was very reasonable."

== FEATURED RESEARCH INSIGHT ==

Megan Witmer from Platform Research analyzed Messenger threads from a random selection of end users who had used the dollar sign in their chat to understand whether $ could be used as an accurate trigger for suggesting P2P. This led to some interesting findings: It turns out, the majority of threads did not involve a payment between the sender and recipient, so the "$" alone is not enough to signal a peer payment. Additionally, threads frequently had more than one monetary value ("$$") as participants discussed the circumstances surrounding a payment experience or discussed product options, etc. Ideally, the key to a good experience seems to be in defining other phrases like "would you take $X?" or "can we meet..." that are proximate to the $ to indicate an intent to exchange money.

I had literally started writing about the haircut that I gave Julia this weekend, when Julia came into the office, got my attention, and said, "I have a secret." For her, that normally means that she's going to whisper some gibberish in my ear or something silly. Instead, she says to me, "I love you, Mommy. Don't tell Daddy." This is truly one of the joys of having children.

* MACA lookalike revenue: $494k, -$19k w/w
[dashboard: <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/argus/view/182426>]

PAYMENTS

* Dashboard: <https://our.intern.facebook.com/intern/data/explore/platform/topline>
* Advertisers acquired in non-core markets: 2,014 (as of 02/23: +61.4% w/w). Continuing strong trend from the ramped-up volume in BR and NL. Next week, we will see higher volume because of Payment flow redesign ramping to 100%.

- * Advertiser acquisition and reactivation on Mobile Interfaces: 80,690 (as of 02/23/15: +3.50% w/w). We are seeing increased mobile advertiser acquisition, albeit at a slower rate than before. Broader advertiser acquisition rate is also slowing down.
- * Games TPV: 7-day daily average $7.24 M (-9.0% w/w). TPV coming down due to normal pattern after the Valentine's Day Sale.
- * Ads Payments Reconciliation Discrepancy: Stat-cluster to Invoice: $5.22K (7-day daily average on 02/23), Invoice to Payment: $12.61K (7-day daily average on 02/23). For Invoice to Payment discrepancy, certain RTU's are not being processed by AdsPayment RTU Handler. This is the only source of discrepancies (t 5753345). For Stat-cluster to Invoice discrepancy, there is a problem in adinvoicer where it invalidated invoices when it hits an exception (t 6109498).
- * Ads Leakage (as of 02/21/2015): 0.93% fraud. Leakage coming down from the historic heights of Ads fraud SEV1 (<https://fburl.com/81437637>).
- * Flow end-to-end reliability (Games / Ads): 99.9% / 92.5%. Reliability still lower due to stopgap measures that were put in place during Ads Fraud SEV1 (<https://fburl.com/81437637>).

COMMERCE

- * Tuzi - Groups Commerce Monthly Transaction Exit Run-Rate: 600,000 (+154% w/w). Data is stabilizing after release of the "compact view" in "your post".
- * Tuzi - Groups Commerce sell through rate: 18% (+80% w/w). Data is stabilizing after release of the "compact view" in "your post".
- * Buy on Facebook Number of Sellers with a Buy Post (Feb MTD): 99 (+16% w/w)
- * Buy on Facebook Sellers with Sales (Feb MTD): 21 (+23% w/w)

GAMES

- * Games TPV for H1 2015 is currently running at $416.24M (as of February 24), which is $51.5M (14.1%) above goal. TPV is down 9.2% week over week to $7.2M as a result of the hangover from the Valentine's Day Sales.

APP ADS STATS (MAIA + Canvas Install Ads)

STATS (MAIA + Canvas Install Ads)

Hi everyone,

See below for this week’s privacy update. The full launch calendar is available at <https://facebook.box.com/s/c80qo0x637xkpyyisszm>.

As always, please let me know if you have any questions in anticipation of this week’s privacy download. Thanks!

Product	Launch	Description	Owner	Documents
Android Permissions	Ongoing	We've been working to understand privacy risks associated with several Android permissions that will go out in the next release, including permissions associated with reading call logs and SMS. Simultaneously, we're working to mitigate policy risks associated with a proposed help center FAQ designed to list and provide an example of each permission. We reached tentative agreement on an FAQ with a general explanation of Android permissions and a single, high-level example that links to the Google Play Store's list of FB's app permissions and points people to their	Matt phone's app manager, but there is still pressure to include more examples of sensitive permissions. We've now tentatively settled on an FAQ that provides additional, non-exhaustive examples of 5 of the most sensitive permissions. Simultaneously, we are seeing complaints among our beta testers regarding the new permissions, in particular the read_SMS permission, and are working to develop reactive messaging and figure out ways to minimize such complaints going forward.

PYMK Friends List Visibility	Ongoing	A researcher flagged and publicized that creating a new FB account and sending a single friend request will reveal the recipient's friends via PYMK suggestions regardless of friends list visibility. This is an intended behavior designed to maximize the relevance of PYMK suggestions for new users. We are working with Growth on a short-term fix, which will likely consist of requiring at least one side of a friendship to be visible when returning PYMK suggestions to a user with only one connection. We are also discussing whether a better long-term approach would be to honor friends list visibility for PYMK suggestions, and will be meeting with the growth team to discuss long-term options for testing.	Matt
Privacy Shortcuts Icon Removal (FB4A & iOS)	Ongoing	In response to reports of user confusion regarding the new padlock button for privacy shortcuts added next to user names in Android (users think their account is being locked down), Product has relocated the shortcut icon to the bottom of the Bookmark/More menu in Android/iOS (where the Privacy Settings menu item used to reside). The icon was apparently causing significant user confusion in Android, although the raw numbers are unlikely to be helpful from a policy/PR standpoint given the low overall number of reports. Policy has pushed for a longer-term solution that does not bury Privacy Shortcuts in mobile, and Product has tentatively agreed to add Privacy Shortcuts to a new "drawer" next to users' names (for release in February/March). Despite potentially problematic juxtaposition with	Matt mobile SSD, mobile SSD will proceed as planned.

Advanced Feed Reporting Options	Ongoing	Report/Mark as Spam is no longer available as a top-level option in the News Feed story contextual menu flow, but has been moved to a menu that appears later in the flow under "I don't want to see this." It does not appear that this change ever went through the Privacy XFN process. Apparently, Product has determined that this new flow is less confusing for users and actually significantly improves our reporting metrics. We're waiting on precise numbers from the PM to evaluate whether we can use this internal data to defend the change if questioned by regulators.	Matt	http://fburl.com/15198907
Follow Redesign to 100% Global	Week of 12/9/13	This update introduces a "follow" button to allow users to more easily unfollow friends without unfriending them, and standardizes related language across the site.	Matt	https://docs.fb.com/writer/ropen.do?rid=osbgeb4e7c4549df844bfba849d2cf168b811
mTouch Audience Alignment Test	12/11/13	Interstitial Privacy Checkup offers people posting to Public a chance to pick a different audience (en_US + en_GB). Legal to organize a broader discussion around Legal/Policy/PR risks associated with these Trust initiatives.	Matt

Instagram Direct	12/12/13	Directed sharing is a simpler way to share photos or videos with a few selected people on Instagram (whereas currently, you can only share photos with your entire follower set). Directed shares have a separate 'upload' or 'production' flow from regular Instagram content – so these feel like picture messages. People can create photos within the app, or upload from camera roll, just as they do today. People select the other IG users they want to share with (max of 15) and share. When people receive directed shares, they will get them in a separate new inbox. Note that direct shares from people you DON'T follow on IG will go into a 'Requests Queue', but ANYONE can send anyone else a share. While this is an important feature for Instagram, because of the message-like quality of this feature, we will see increased amounts of grooming, sexting, and related press. UO is actively planning for support for this now, and security is involved to help prevent instances of material safety risks. Please note we've also created a cheat sheet for internal teams to address potential concerns around commercial messaging, see link in master messaging doc. Emailed full public policy team with collateral on Mon 12/9.	Nicky	https://docs.fb.com/writer/ropen.do?rid=osbge5230f8f8c0694f6b99695dd95ae46172
Mobile SSD Rollout (iOS)	12/13/13	Mobile SSD for iOS.	Matt
Onavo TOS and PP Update	12/18/13 (tentative)	Announcement of updated Onavo Terms of Service and Privacy Policy. These documents will apply only to new Onavo users; existing users will continue to be subject to Onavo's existing terms and privacy policy.	Matt	To be added closer to launch.
Mobile SSD Rollout (Android)	December	Mobile SSD for Android.	Matt
Wifi insights	December	The wifi insights team is working with Cisco and other manufacturers to collect insights about users whose mobile devices are detected by in-store wifi. We're working with the team on specific data protections, but the plan is to measure only opted-in users, process data dynamically so that we don't store user-identifiable information in connection with a particular business or visit, and provide opt-out functionality from both Facebook and Cisco data processing.	Rob / Maritza

SSD for Inactive Users	December (tentative)	Working with the XFN team to evaluate how to handle users that don't come back to FB regularly. Blake and team are still working through options, but it looks like less active users will get a few more months (to hopefully visit FB and receive the SSD notice). After that, we likely will deactivate their account until they return to FB and receive the notice. This is on hold pending resolution to a number of issues related to mobile SSD.	Matt
Neighborhood Groups Test	December (tentative)	User's city will be used to show users a map from which they can select their neighborhood. The info used to determine what map to display will not be saved, and teens will be gated from the recruiting flow (but others can ask them to join).	Matt	To be added closer to launch.
Onavo app lookalike targeting	December	Proposed test with a few advertisers, where Onavo would pass ad identifiers for devices that have an advertiser's app installed to Facebook. Facebook would create a lookalike audience that would allow targeting of people who are demographically similar to those who have the app installed. IDs for users who actually have the app installed won't be used for direct targeting and won't be retained by FB.	Rob
Custom gender	December	We'll begin offering the opportunity for users who identify as something other than "male" or "female" to supply a custom gender. When they do so, these users will be asked to identify a preferred pronoun, which will in turn be used for ad targeting. A checkbox marked "Show on my timeline" will determine whether the Gender field is shown on timeline, but does not affect the audience - audience will be set via an audience selector. However, Preferred Pronoun is always public.	Rob / Matt / Susan Gonzales
Public Post UFI Test (India)	January	Planning a test of updates to the Follower Settings panel of /settings--the test will apply to only follow-disabled users (but users can still enable Follow during the test). In a nutshell, the update would offer all users a filter to control who can comment on their public posts; they also would get a similarly structured notifications filter (controls when I'm notified when people interact with my public posts). A key feature of this test is that it also adds "like" to the UFI for follow-disabled people's public posts. The goal of the test is to gather data about use of the filters,	Matt	To be added closer to launch.

		content production, user sentiment / user trust. The product team wants to expand the scope of the test, so the test has been postponed until January 2014 while the product team selects additional test countries.
Cajmere	1/13/14 (tentative)	Newsfeed companion app likely will be ready for public launch early in 1Q2014. Given that Privacy Shortcuts will be the entry point to the app's privacy features (as opposed to direct-on-time or inline per post), we're working with the product team to see if we can surface privacy shortcuts more prominently.	Matt
Tag suggestions in search results	1Q2014	Ongoing discussion about a proposal to include tag suggestions in search results, so that "photos of X" will return both tagged photos of X and suggestions to tag X in photos where X is identified through facial recognition.	Erin / Rob
Aura	1Q2014?	Opt-in feature allows users to share their approximate location with friends and to keep track of their location histories over time. Currently in employee testing; potential launch as early as January, but a high likelihood that this will get pushed back significantly.	Rob
Send to Mobile	TBD	Websites that have offer a mobile app to their web users find it hard to convert engaged web users into mobile users. In the case where the website is integrated with platform, we will include a button on the website that allows a logged in Facebook user to "send the website's app to mobile." This will send an install-driving push notification when a user Logs-in with Facebook from the website to the user's mobile device. It will works for iOS and Android users who have the main FB app installed, and will be available to all apps who have integrated Facebook Login on Web and Mobile. This will enable a better user experience with near-parity with Google's OTA install.	Maritza	https://www.facebook.com/pxlcld/kKJD

Pages can comment on reviews	TBD	The XFN team is working on a solution for to address complaints from businesses about not being able to comment on reviews on their page. We wanted to change the policy so that page admins can comment on any public review on their page, but we aren't yet in a "can see = can comment" world. We're considering possible solutions that will address this problem in the interim.	Maritza
Pages can tag users	TBD	The XFN team is working with the public content team to find a solution that would allow Pages to tag individual users by name in a post. The functionality has been implemented and we're working on how to roll out the changes while maintaining user expectations and avoiding issues like spam.	Maritza
Argus: ads measurement and optimization	TBD	Our measurement team is considering entering a partnership with Argus. Argus is a financial services shop that provides credit verification and scoring services to its member banks in the US (they are beginning to expand globally). Their member banks contribute their individual transaction data to Argus so that they can better understand credit risk. Argus currently sees 90% of credit card transactions in the US and about 30% (and growing) of debit card transactions. Currently, Argus buys the anonymized, user-level transaction data directly from the banks and then works with Epsilon to re-identify the data. We are currently exploring options for facilitating transparency and control that is on par with our other partnerships.	Maritza
Use of Call Log Data	TBD	Product wants to use call log data (e.g., duration/frequency/recency of incoming/outgoing calls/texts) to generate PYMK suggestions following contact import. Call log data was being collected, used for this purpose, and stored in the past, but once we became aware of this, product agreed to stop doing this until they receive advice from Legal and Policy. In addition, there has been discussion regarding the use of call log data in connection with Messenger 3.0. Use of call log data in either case is on hold pending further input from Legal.	Matt

Lookalike audiences	TBD	A variety of teams are looking at using various data sources (marketers, data providers, Onavo) to inform the creation of "lookalike audiences." In general, this would involve collecting some data identifying individual users who fall into a particular category. We'd look at those users to identify similarities and then create a larger audience of people who share those similarities. This results in targeted advertising that is based on characteristics of a group, not specific actions taken by the group members.	Rob
Typeahead Autocompletions Test	TBD	This proposal would introduce typeahead search suggestions in graph search based on other users' searches. Typeaheads are not restricted by user privacy settings under the current proposal (but search results are restricted). Current risk mitigation measures under consideration include a blacklist for certain sensitive/abusive terms and some form of user ed (ranging from a one-time NUX or flyout to a permanent header and/or learn more link). Internal test rolled out on 11/1. Current plan is to test to a small % of en_US when happy with the quality of these suggestions, and to ship the Graph Search v2 product, which includes these suggestions, to 1% in mid-January. We briefed the FTC on this, and the reaction was positive.	Matt
"Only Me" Stickiness	TBD	Mark has asked Blake and Raylene look into making 'Only Me' not sticky. His concerned spawned from an incident where Priscilla was unaware that she was still sharing with 'Only Me' and was disappointed when she wasn't getting any feedback on her posts. Matt met with Blake, Paddy, and Richter on 12/27, and the tentative proposal is to modal users who are posting to Only Me and give users the choice to either continue or to choose a different audience. We have recommended that this approach will be lower risk if the user is presented with the full audience selector rather than just two choices (Only Me and Friends). We've also recommended that this effort be coupled with Mike Nowak's parallel effort to ensure that users who are posting to Public do not intend to be posting to Friends.	Matt

Profile Accuracy "Quiz"	TBD	Identity has proposed a profile suggestion flow that would prompt people to take a quiz titled "How well do you know your friends?" For example, users would be asked to select which of four friends attended a particular university, or which university a particular friend attended from four universities. Incorrect answers would prompt users to send a suggestion to the friend based on the user's response, with the goal being to correct inaccuracies on user profiles. Our initial feedback is that this flow suggests that we are trying to trick users into providing data about their friends, but legal and PR have signed off on this.	Matt	https://www.facebook.com/pxlcld/kJtX
Discovery / Hunch	TBD	Ongoing development of a feature that will use a range of factors, including location (potentially tracked over time, but only when you're using the app) to suggest things you might want to know about on Facebook.	Rob
Atlas/FB UDID measurement	TBD	Atlas is proposing to track impressions and behavior for measurement (not ad targeting) purposes based on the persistent device identifier on Android devices. This would involve collecting information about the behavior of particular UDIDs and then passing demographic and other information from FB accounts to Atlas (without the FB account identifier). I personally like the idea of requiring our ads to be displayed, as well as requiring the feedback on posts are posted back to FB ‹ basically, you have to show our ads if they are in the feed and they have to provide a UFI that likes, comments and shares back to FB. I don't think we need brand uplift.

Quick reminder to send the list of folks with newsfeed API access per our meeting.

As a follow up to the meeting, I think that there are three categories of "exceptions" to being cut off: 1) platforms where we want a fb app, but dont want to build it, e.g WP, Blackberry; 2) existing partners with relationship/PR issues with shutting down, ie Flipboard; and 3) partners who we may trade access to for value with the example being Home notification support. In this case, I think that we should impose some conditions for use. Some ideas are:

- 1) very direct links and/or feedback mechanisms (ie likes, comments, check-ins?) back to fb
- 2) prominence of FB
- 3) inclusion of ads, and / or limiting content volume (so that not too much content is viewed w/o ads)
- 4) other?

Interested in thoughts on the above.

I think we should block WeChat, Kakao and Line ads. Those companies are trying to build social networks and replace us. The revenue is immaterial to us compared to any risk.

And I agree we should use ads to promote our own products, but I'd still block companies that compete with our core from gaining any advantage from us.

I'd also keep blocking Google but otherwise wouldn't extend the block to anyone else.

I would block products that, if successful, could replace our core functionality & engagement / jeopardize our complete existence. I don't think E-commerce sites that compete with gifts make that cut (you could decide to block them for other reasons – but I am not arguing for that). I would be worried about SSNs like G+ / Path (if they were successful) and I am definitely worried about mobile messengers with scale (which as opposed to G+/Path have huge retention, are already extremely successful and evolving into full SSNs where you can share all types of content, have identity and profiles, are becoming gaming platforms, and are literally one step away from having a full newsfeed).

The revenue we make from this isn't the big driver of why I think we should allow competitive ads. It's not important or material. If we expand our list of what counts as competitive (e.g. eCommerce sites that compete with Gifts) it could become so but isn't for now.

Would you just block all messenger apps then? All competitive products? Trying to understand what the specific policy proposal would be that would address your concerns.

I guess my PoV on this won't be news for anyone, but sharing just in case:

Orkut, StudiVZ, Vkontakte and every other competitor we have tried to advertise on have blocked us in the past.

It sounds great to say that we should let them do it because we are better, we will look weak, etc... but we will look like complete idiots if we lose our business to these messenger services and help them along the way for a couple of $$! The sum-product of shift to mobile + messenger services morphing into fully fleshed SSN sites is IMO the biggest competitive threat we face as a business. I can see the point about where to draw the line / ever growing list of competitors, but IMO messenger services deserve special treatment, since it arguably is one of the most dangerous beach heads to morph into FB.

Some data points from the last couple of weeks:

Tweet from Whatsapp:

<image001.png>

WhatsApp Inc. (@WhatsApp)

1/2/13 21:54

On Dec 31st we had a new record day: 7B msgs inbound, 11B msgs outbound = 18 billion total messages processed in one day! Happy 2013!!!

From Korea: (<http://www.edaily.co.kr/news/NewsRead.edy?SCD=JE31&newsid=02624006602675424&DCD=A00503&OutLnkChk=Y>)

According to Korea Information Society Development Institute, the volume of messages sent via Kakao Talk has increased by 857% with this year's 104.3 billion compared to 12.2 billion of last year during 1Q. The institute reckoned that the number of Kakao Talk users amounts to 46 million. The number of app downloads for Kakao Talk constituted 26 million or 80 percent of the total 33 million. During the respective period of study, the number of Kakao Talk messages consisted of 56.7 percent of the gross messages in Korea. The trend contributed to a 22.6 percent decrease in the number of SMS messages from 121.6 billion in 2010 to 94.1 billion in 2011. The institute also added that mVoIP rarely had an impact on user landscape of voice calling via mobiles.

(+Javi) If we don't block WeChat / Kakao / Line, should we reconsider our decision to block G+?

Also, the thread below suggests we would increase the price for competitors. If we don't block them, should we at least charge a premium to account for the cost to us of their growth?

FYI, we're going to continue blocking messenger apps from accessing friends.get, even if we don't block them from running ads.

I continue to believe we should allow ads from competitors for several reasons:

- We should be secure enough in the quality of our products to enable them to compete effectively in the open marketplace.
- I'd like to believe our ads system can have enough impact to make or break a product, though that is often debatable. If that is the case, we should be able to use it better than anyone else to compete effectively.
- It looks weak to be so defensive.
- This will be a challenge to enforce. We have many competitors and the list will grow in time. How will we judge retailers and e-commerce sites as we grow Gifts, since they arguably are competitors too?

Subject: Re: Competitive Mobile App Install Ads

In August, we decided to reject ads for directly competitive Google products but to continue to allow ads for other advertisers/products. However, given the changing competitive landscape, we've been asked to revisit whether we should extend this restriction to messenger apps. As context, WeChat spent $544K in Dec. on Neko ads to drive installs (see screenshot) and is accelerating spend. Two other messenger apps spent <$2K.

On the Platform side, we're restricting access to friends.get for all messenger apps so that they're not using our data to compete with us. If we decide to begin rejecting ads for messenger apps, we have a couple of options (I recommend the 2nd):

- Reject ads for WeChat and a specific list of competitors. This is "surgical" but the list is difficult to maintain as new products/companies become successful and it's difficult to explain.
- Reject ads for all messenger apps. This would potentially affect more advertisers, but it is easier to consistently enforce and explain, especially since it mirrors the Platform policy.

In both scenarios, we'd still allow Wechat and other messenger apps to have a Page, but they could not advertise or access the friends graph.

Please let us know your thoughts.

If we're able to model the competitive cost to us as part of the price and distribution determination, I'm fine with that rather than an outright block. (E.g., if twitter paid enough for an install [or impression while we're building CPI pricing], we'd allow that.)

I know a single install of one of those products is not infinitely damaging to us, and that's what an outright blocking incorrectly models.

If folks want simple: I think we should block all actually competitive apps. Like Mike, I'm not sure we need to block all of the below, and I'm not sure that there aren't others that we should be blocking, too.

Is there room between option #1 (prohibiting "all" competitive products) and options #2 (google only)?

I think we should basically be willing to block key competitors, which is likely only Google, but you could imagine including Twitter or 2-3 other apps over time. I don't think we should be talking about blocking all competitor apps.

Subject: FW: Competitive Mobile App Install Ads

We have a policy decision to make around our mobile app install network: Do we want to allow competitive apps to participate? Twitter has already expressed interest in participating and I'm sure this is only the first of many to come.

To date, we've had a policy to prohibit ads from direct competitors but have defined that only as G+ and a small number of additional Google products like their local business pages (see more detailed list below in Jud's note).

I'd expect that a large part of the market for our network will come from current and potential competitors. Here's the list that Jud worked up of what we'd likely prohibit if we were to adopt a ban "competitors" using a broad definition:

- Social network apps (Google+, Twitter, Path, etc.)
- Photo sharing apps (Picasa, Flickr, LiveShare, Shutterfly, etc.)
- Messaging apps (WhatsApp, Viber, Imo, KakaoTalk, etc.)
- Local apps (Google+ Local, Google Offers, Yelp, yp, etc.)
- Social search apps (HeyStaks, Wajam, etc.)
- Platforms (Google Play, Amazon, etc.)

My recommendation would be to be an open platform and allow these apps to participate. I don't believe we can have the winning product if we rule out such large parts of the market. Someone else will enable full participation and offer developers and publishers better monetization and a better experience. This is tricky since our success in this initiative could hurt us in other ways, but I expect that we will be able to use this network effectively to drive installs of our own apps, and that our products should stand up well enough on their own to succeed in this way.

Let's see if we have a consensus. If not, I'll suggest that Sheryl and Elliot set up a meeting with the right people to discuss this since I'm on a plane now and out of office for the next week.

Subject: Competitive Mobile App Install Ads

David,

I've tried to lay out the issue, history and decision set for your (and ultimately Mark and Sheryl's) consideration below. Please let me know if you have any questions or suggestions.

Jud

Issue: Twitter wants to participate in our mobile app install ads beta test. We need to decide whether launch of the mobile app install ad product causes us to change our stance on ads for mobile apps that compete with Facebook products.

Policy background: We reserve the right to reject ads for any reason, including those that promote competitive products. So far, we've limited the list to Google products in the following categories:

- Geo/Local (Google Offers, Places, maps, etc.)
- Social (Google +, Groups, Orkut, Blogger, etc.)
- Platforms (competing games and other platforms like Google Play, etc.)

Options:

- Prohibit ads for products that compete with Facebook products. This would implicate a lot of advertisers and developers and potentially alienate those using Facebook integration:
 - Social network apps (Google+, Twitter, Path, etc.)
 - Photo sharing apps (Picasa, Flickr, LiveShare, Shutterfly, etc.)
 - Messaging apps (WhatsApp, Viber, Imo, KakaoTalk, etc.)
 - Local apps (Google+ Local, Google Offers, Yelp, yp, etc.)
 - Social search apps (HeyStaks, Wajam, etc.)
 - Platforms (Google Play, Amazon, etc.)

- Continue to prohibit only Google products (and allow the others above). There have been an increasing number of internal inquiries about the perceived inequity, and we're likely to get external inquiries at some point as well.
- Allow advertising for Google products. Given our view of Google's competitive strategy, this would effectively be a decision to allow ads for all competing products.

Recommendation: My preference (from both a policy and personal perspective) is that we should choose either option #2 or #3. As David said, if we intend to become the leading mobile app distribution network, we will have to allow apps that may compete with elements of Facebook.

On 8/18/12 2:43 PM, "David Fischer" <davidf@fb.com> wrote:

Jud,

Thanks for raising this. We should tee up a larger set of conversations here as there will be a whole bunch of potential competitors who are interested in our mobile app install network. We need a view on the following:

--Twitter

--G+

--messaging apps -- what's app, kakao talk, etc

--photo apps

I'm sure there will be plenty more we put into the "competitor" camp.

My own take is that we should allow all of these since I don't see that we can be the leading mobile app distribution network without these but this needs debate and to go up to Mark.

Can you frame the broader decision set we need to consider for Elliot and me and we can then take to Sheryl and Mark?

Thanks

Whatsapp have apparently been placing domain ads through an agency that lead to whatsapp.com (rather than the app). Do we want to add them to the list of messenger apps we reject? If so, the list would be:

WeChat, Kakao, Line and Whatsapp

Google products in the following categories:

- Geo/Local (Google Offers, Places, maps, etc.)
- Social (Google +, Groups, Orkut, Blogger, etc.)
- Platforms (competing games and other platforms like Google Play, etc.)

Also, should we establish a subset of this group to decide on additions going forward?

I think we should block WeChat, Kakao and Line ads. Those companies are trying to build social networks and replace us. The revenue is immaterial to us compared to any risk.

And I agree we should use ads to promote our own products, but I'd still block companies that compete with our core from gaining any advantage from us.

I'd also keep blocking Google but otherwise wouldn't extend the block to anyone else.

I would block products that, if successful, could replace our core functionality & engagement / jeopardize our complete existence. I don't think E-commerce sites that compete with gifts make that cut (you could decide to block them for other reasons – but I am not arguing for that). I would be worried about SSNs like G+ / Path (if they were successful) and I am definitely worried about mobile messengers with scale (which as opposed to G+/Path have huge retention, are already extremely successful and evolving into full SSNs where you can share all types of content, have identity and profiles, are becoming gaming platforms, and are literally one step away from having a full newsfeed).

The revenue we make from this isn't the big driver of why I think we should allow competitive ads. It's not important or material. If we expand our list of what counts as competitive (e.g. eCommerce sites that compete with Gifts) it could become so but isn't for now.

Would you just block all messenger apps then? All competitive products? Trying to understand what the specific policy proposal would be that would address your concerns.

I guess my PoV on this won't be news for anyone, but sharing just in case:

Orkut, StudiVZ, V Kontakte and every other competitor we have tried to advertise on have blocked us in the past.

It sounds great to say that we should let them do it because we are better, we will look weak, etc... but we will look like complete idiots if we lose our business to these messenger services and help them along the way for a couple of $$! The sum-product of shift to mobile + messenger services morphing into fully fleshed SSN sites is IMO the biggest competitive threat we face as a business. I can see the point about where to draw the line / ever growing list of competitors, but IMO messenger services deserve special treatment, since it arguably is one of the most dangerous beach heads to morph into FB.

If we're able to model the competitive cost to us as part of the price and distribution determination, I'm fine with that rather than an outright block. (E.g., if twitter paid enough for an install [or impression while we're building CPI pricing], we'd allow that.)

I know a single install of one of those products is not infinitely damaging to us, and that's what an outright blocking incorrectly models.

If folks want simple: I think we should block all actually competitive apps. Like Mike, I'm not sure we need to block all of the below, and I'm not sure that there aren't others that we should be blocking, too.

Is there room between option #1 (prohibiting "all" competitive products) and options #2 (google only)?

I think we should basically be willing to block key competitors, which is likely only Google, but you could imagine including Twitter or 2-3 other apps over time. I don't think we should be talking about blocking all competitor apps.

Subject: FW: Competitive Mobile App Install Ads

We have a policy decision to make around our mobile app install network: Do we want to allow competitive apps to participate? Twitter has already expressed interest in participating and I'm sure this is only the first of many to come.

To date, we've had a policy to prohibit ads from direct competitors but have defined that only as G+ and a small number of additional Google products like their local business pages (see more detailed list below in Jud's note).

I'd expect that a large part of the market for our network will come from current and potential competitors. Here's the list that Jud worked up of what we'd likely prohibit if we were to adopt a ban "competitors" using a broad definition:

- Social network apps (Google+, Twitter, Path, etc.)
- Photo sharing apps (Picasa, Flickr, LiveShare, Shutterfly, etc.)
- Messaging apps (WhatsApp, Viber, Imo, KakaoTalk, etc.)
- Local apps (Google+ Local, Google Offers, Yelp, yp, etc.)
- Social search apps (HeyStaks, Wajam, etc.)
- Platforms (Google Play, Amazon, etc.)

My recommendation would be to be an open platform and allow these apps to participate. I don't believe we can have the winning product if we rule out such large parts of the market. Someone else will enable full participation and offer developers and publishers better monetization and a better experience. This is tricky since our success in this initiative could hurt us in other ways, but I expect that we will be able to use this network effectively to drive installs of our own apps, and that our products should stand up well enough on their own to succeed in this way.

Let's see if we have a consensus. If not, I'll suggest that Sheryl and Elliot set up a meeting with the right people to discuss this since I'm on a plane now and out of office for the next week.

Subject: Competitive Mobile App Install Ads

David,

I've tried to lay out the issue, history and decision set for your (and ultimately Mark and Sheryl's) consideration below. Please let me know if you have any questions or suggestions.

Jud

Issue: Twitter wants to participate in our mobile app install ads beta test. We need to decide whether launch of the mobile app install ad product causes us to change our stance on ads for mobile apps that compete with Facebook products.

Policy background: We reserve the right to reject ads for any reason, including those that promote competitive products. So far, we've limited the list to Google products in the following categories:

- Geo/Local (Google Offers, Places, maps, etc.)
- Social (Google +, Groups, Orkut, Blogger, etc.)
- Platforms (competing games and other platforms like Google Play, etc.)

Options:

- Prohibit ads for products that compete with Facebook products. This would implicate a lot of advertisers and developers and potentially alienate those using Facebook integration:
 - Social network apps (Google+, Twitter, Path, etc.)
 - Photo sharing apps (Picasa, Flickr, LiveShare, Shutterfly, etc.)
 - Messaging apps (WhatsApp, Viber, Imo, KakaoTalk, etc.)
 - Local apps (Google+ Local, Google Offers, Yelp, yp, etc.)
 - Social search apps (HeyStaks, Wajam, etc.)
 - Platforms (Google Play, Amazon, etc.)
- Continue to prohibit only Google products (and allow the others above). There have been an increasing number of internal inquiries about the perceived inequity, and we're likely to get external inquiries at some point as well.
- Allow advertising for Google products. Given our view of Google's competitive strategy, this would effectively be a decision to allow ads for all competing products.

Recommendation: My preference (from both a policy and personal perspective) is that we should choose either option #2 or #3. As David said, if we intend to become the leading mobile app distribution network, we will have to allow apps that may compete with elements of Facebook.

Jud,

Thanks for raising this. We should tee up a larger set of conversations here as there will be a whole bunch of potential competitors who are interested in our mobile app install network. We need a view on the following:

--Twitter

--G+

--messaging apps -- what's app, kakao talk, etc

--photo apps

I'm sure there will be plenty more we put into the "competitor" camp.

My own take is that we should allow all of these since I don't see that we can be the leading mobile app distribution network without these but this needs debate and to go up to Mark.

Can you frame the broader decision set we need to consider for Elliot and me and we can then take to Sheryl and Mark?

Thanks

Hi David,

Twitter is approaching one of our PMD partners to run mobile app install ads as part of our beta test. We'd agreed a year ago that we'd accept ads from them if approached (they hadn't yet), but just want to make sure our thoughts about them as competitor haven't changed in the meantime.

Thanks,

Jud

However, on this particular issue, it seems important for you to understand the full context. I will copy you in to the appropriate thread.

Deborah Liu:

>Thanks, Justin. I raised it in this week's HPM. They are spending a decent amount on Neko ads ($50K+), but we have also have no policy in place so we cannot take action of any type for now.

Michael Vernal:

>Fwiw, I think I am fine with this advertising (or, at the least, I'm not as troubled as others might be). At the very least, we should make sure we treat competitors holistically in the ads system rather than making a local decision here.

Samuel Lessin:

>I agree that it is best for it not to be local / to consider the whole ads system, but I really don't think we should be selling them ads. Justin, if you are working on this we should be ready to frame it up for mark a week from Monday.

Justin Osofsky:

>Will do. The meeting with the xfn team is on Friday, 1/4 so we should be ready to discuss with Mark on Monday, 1/7.

Michael Vernal:

>Can we try to talk about this in the Ads team's slot with Mark?

>I think it's important to discuss, but I also think its really neither an Open Graph or Identity topic. It's more relevant to either Ads or Messaging. Per mark's feedback, I'd rather keep the Monday slot focused on Identity, Open Graph, and data acquisition.

Michael Vernal:

>And just to set context why I feel this way -- one of things we're exploring is just making "Install App" an objective, like "Like Page." In that world, every ad can be a "Neko" ad. So this really is a question about who can use the ad system.

>Also, I think we already have some rules around this -- I think we prohibit google from using our ad system in places. So best to be consistent with those.

>Lastly, if we did ban WeChat from using "Neko" ads, and then they started advertising a URL to the App Store and just paid CPC, would we be ok with that? If so, why? If not, then it (again) implicates the entire ad system.

Justin Osofsky:

>I agree that this issue is broader than Neko. We'll frame it up with the ads team. I'm also reaching out to Gokul to ensure that we're coordinated with his team.

UNREDACTED VERSION OF DOCUMENT SOUGHT TO BE LODGED UNDER SEAL

Facebook Messenger Bundle & Platform Opportunities

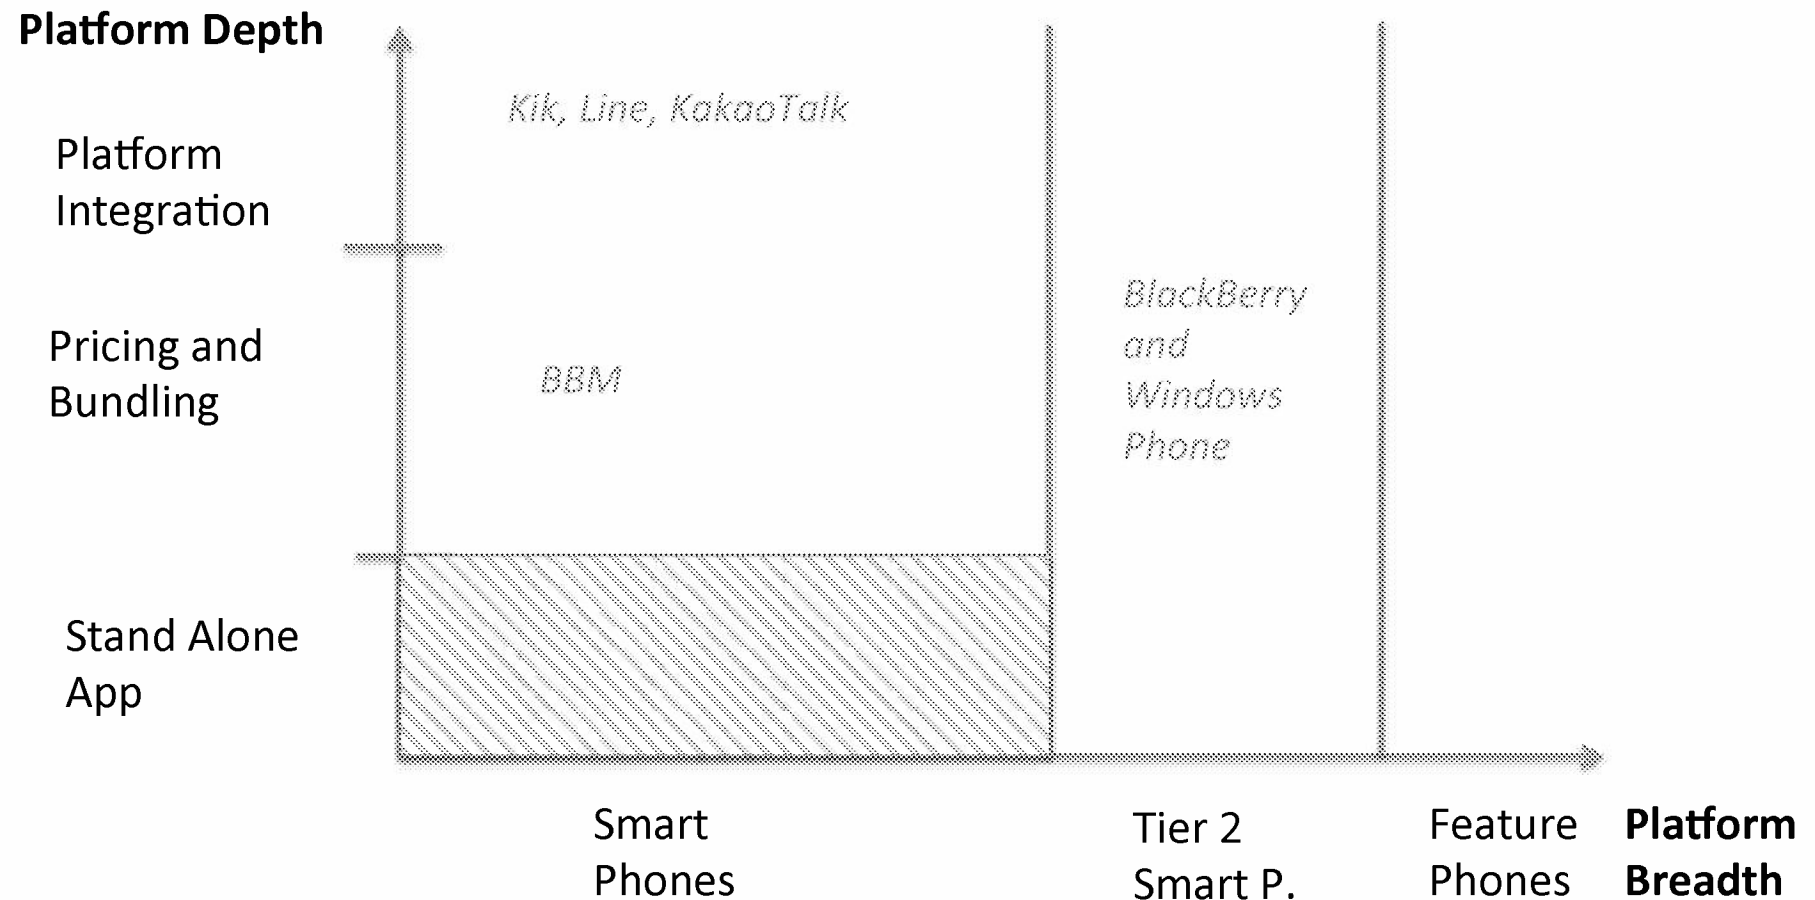

October 2013

Intro

- Platform/ Product Partnership Lead on OTT Video, Stickers, and Messenger
- Spent 10 years building platform services for operators and developers at BlackBerry.
 - Led team responsible for XP-BBM.
 - Big believer in leveraging partners for innovation (devs) and reach (operators).
- Introducing some potential opys; what should we chase?

Consider 'Design Space'

- Opportunity to expand Messenger “coverage”

Existing Ecosystem Bundling

- Operators are partnering/ pre-loading for combinations of 3 reasons:
 1. Increase entry-level data adoption
 2. Differentiate offering with exclusive partnerships
 3. Directly Monetize
- Examples: Orange + Spotify (link), Reliance + WhatsApp (link), DT + Path (link)
- Operators are already bundling Facebook, but we have 3 barriers to doing so sustainably:
 1. Complex product leads to complex integrations (eg. click off to YouTube)
 2. Undifferentiated: Facebook is the same for every operator.
 3. No opportunity to directly recoup costs associated with zero-rating.

Facebook Messenger Bundling Opportunities

- Goal: Accelerate the take up of Facebook Messenger/ Facebook by leveraging operator and partner promotion.
 - Allows us to test “Messenger as a Platform” effects without significant eng effort.
 - Allows FB to soften the SMS-revenue threat to operators.
- Two potential models:
 1. FB Messenger + Music Partner:
 - Deezer (220 countries) & Spotify (35 countries) have partnered with operators to zero-rate traffic, but rev share premium subscription revenue. Requires carrier billing integration.
 - FB drives WOM with ‘private recommendation’ integration using Messenger channel.
 2. FB Messenger + Game Partner:
 - FB game publishers select a property with high transaction frequency. Requires carrier billing integration.
 - Facebook zero-rates our, and game traffic. Provides game access to users who wouldn’t otherwise afford the data (incremental).
 - FB drives WOM with ‘highly curated experiences’ for invites and game mechanics leveraging Messaging channel.
 - Game revenue pays for data costs. Concept ‘pitched’ to Tigo with some interest.

Bundling Opportunities

Why a Platform?

- GOAL: Leverage the characteristics of a multi-sided platform to make Facebook Messenger the #1 Mobile Messaging client globally.
- Currently, we're competing on the basis of single-sided network effects (ie more people = increased likelihood your friends are on Messenger). See 'Invisible Engines, MIT Press)
 - Similar strategy to WhatsApp.
 - Difficult to break these effects when penetration is high/ category is mature with low product differentiation, and high ease in multi-homing (ie if the only difference between WhatsApp and FB Messenger are the friends list, I'll just install two app).
- Introduction of a second-side to the platform allows Facebook to:
 - Increase multi-homing costs for competitive services: exclusive app integrations creates differentiation between us and competition. (ie gives a user a functional reason to use Facebook Messenger)
 - Benefit from cross-side network effects: more apps drives more users.
 - Accelerates single-side effects: retaining and driving engagement for existing users, will compound messenger adoption by new users.
 - Promotional Leverage: Partners/ developers/ operators are constructively aligned with us to evangelize Messenger for us.
 - Compete asymmetrically with category leader: WhatsApp (though this is a similar approach as Kakao, Line, BBM, and Kik).
 - Rely in innovation leverage of 3rd parties: We won't need to predict everything worth building.

Opportunities for Platformization

FB Role	Description	Opportunity/ Risk
Facebook as Content Distribution Platform	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Facebook provides 'hooks' to partners to include their experience in our Messenger product. Eg. Kik, KakaoTalk, Line 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Creates differentiation that resists multi-homing (ie power users of Evernote will be inclined to use FB Messenger, and competitors must implement features to catch up).
Facebook as Interop Partner	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Facebook interops with 'competitive' 3P and operator services. Eg. iMessage, BBM, SMS. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Creates a 'commoditization' effect by breaking down network effects (ie, if we can't win, commoditize) Ideally, done in a way to ensure 'adoption' is in FB's favor. (eg. iMessage 'pecking order' approach). With operators, leverage their fear of commoditization by offering 'a seat at the table' / alternative $ streams.
Facebook as Service Provider	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Facebook maintains namespace (user must be FB user) and UX integrity (eg. Chat heads), but extends the Messenger experience inside 3rd party apps. Eg. BBM 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Creates additional contexts/ use cases for people to use the FB platform. Drives increased engagement in app context, but does it drive sustained, app-agnostic, usage? Kick starts partner 'community' efforts (ie aren't required to build auth, identity, and communications stacks).
Facebook as Infrastructure Provider	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Facebook white labels infrastructure assets to Eg. Layer, Twillio (sort of) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reduces cost basis to offer Messenger (eg. Amazon AWS) On ramp for platform adoption.

Competitive View

Competitor	Description
KakaoTalk	KakaoLink API (link): Leverage Custom URL Schemes to enable developers to send URL and App links through KakaoTalk. Evernote attachment integration. Partner View

Partner	Platform type	Description
Evernote	Service Provider	From within their Skitch product, allow people to initiate a chat from specific 'mark ups' on documents to collaborate on changes synchronously.
Nike	Service Provider	1/ From within Nike+ allow friends to chat/ co-ordinate runs. 2/ Pivot based on app-users and allow groups to co-ordinate a pick up football game.
Dropbox	Content Distribution	From within Messenger, allow people to select an attachment that originates in Dropbox.
Apple	Interop Partner	From within the iMessage interface, 'fail over' to Facebook Messenger gracefully, before SMS. Prevents iMessage users from adopting another Mobile Message client.
Song Kick	Service Provider	From within SongKick, allow friends to share a concert and co-ordinate logistics for going to a concert (chat heads within SongKick to keep them in the app).
Netflix	Private Sharing	Not really a Messenger opportunity. They are looking for a request/ invite channel to allow users to share recommendations.
Pinterest	Private Sharing	Not really a Messenger opportunity. They are looking for a request/ invite channel to allow users to share recommendations.

Next Steps

- Lean in to bundling opportunity: Identify opportunities to draft Messenger behind 3P value proposition.
- Continue to look at Messenger as a platform, but 'on ice' until lockdown ends.

UNREDACTED VERSION OF DOCUMENT SOUGHT TO BE LODGED UNDER SEAL

This agreement was written in English (US). To the extent any translated version of this agreement conflicts with the English version, the English version controls. Please note that Section 17 contains certain changes to the general terms for users outside the United States.

Date of Last Revision: December 11, 2012.

Statement of Rights and Responsibilities

This Statement of Rights and Responsibilities ("Statement," "Terms," or "SRR") derives from the Facebook Principles, and is our terms of service that governs our relationship with users and others who interact with Facebook. By using or accessing Facebook, you agree to this Statement, as updated from time to time in accordance with Section 14 below. Additionally, you will find resources at the end of this document that help you understand how Facebook works.

1. Privacy

Your privacy is very important to us. We designed our Data Use Policy to make important disclosures about how you can use Facebook to share with others and how we collect and can use your content and information. We encourage you to read the Data Use Policy, and to use it to help you make informed decisions.

2. Sharing Your Content and Information

You own all of the content and information you post on Facebook, and you can control how it is shared through your privacy and application settings. In addition:

1. For content that is covered by intellectual property rights, like photos and videos (IP content), you specifically give us the following permission, subject to your privacy and application settings: you grant us a non-exclusive, transferable, sub-licensable, royalty-free, worldwide license to use any IP content that you post on or in connection with Facebook (IP License). This IP License ends when you delete your IP content or your account unless your content has been shared with others, and they have not deleted it.
2. When you delete IP content, it is deleted in a manner similar to emptying the recycle bin on a computer. However, you understand that removed content may persist in backup copies for a reasonable period of time (but will not be available to others).
3. When you use an application, the application may ask for your permission to access your content and information as well as content and information that others have shared with you. We require applications to respect your privacy, and your agreement with that application will control how the application can use, store, and transfer that content and information. (To learn more about Platform, including how you can control what information other people may share with applications, read our Data Use Policy and Platform Page.)

4. When you publish content or information using the Public setting, it means that you are allowing everyone, including people off of Facebook, to access and use that information, and to associate it with you (i.e., your name and profile picture).
5. We always appreciate your feedback or other suggestions about Facebook, but you understand that we may use them without any obligation to compensate you for them (just as you have no obligation to offer them).

3. Safety

We do our best to keep Facebook safe, but we cannot guarantee it. We need your help to keep Facebook safe, which includes the following commitments by you:

1. You will not post unauthorized commercial communications (such as spam) on Facebook.
2. You will not collect users' content or information, or otherwise access Facebook, using automated means (such as harvesting bots, robots, spiders, or scrapers) without our prior permission.
3. You will not engage in unlawful multi-level marketing, such as a pyramid scheme, on Facebook.
4. You will not upload viruses or other malicious code.
5. You will not solicit login information or access an account belonging to someone else.
6. You will not bully, intimidate, or harass any user.
7. You will not post content that: is hate speech, threatening, or pornographic; incites violence; or contains nudity or graphic or gratuitous violence.
8. You will not develop or operate a third-party application containing alcohol-related, dating or other mature content (including advertisements) without appropriate age-based restrictions.
9. You will follow our Promotions Guidelines and all applicable laws if you publicize or offer any contest, giveaway, or sweepstakes ("promotion") on Facebook.
10. You will not use Facebook to do anything unlawful, misleading, malicious, or discriminatory.
11. You will not do anything that could disable, overburden, or impair the proper working or appearance of Facebook, such as a denial of service attack or interference with page rendering or other Facebook functionality.
12. You will not facilitate or encourage any violations of this Statement or our policies.

4. Registration and Account Security

Facebook users provide their real names and information, and we need your help to keep it that way. Here are some commitments you make to us relating to registering and maintaining the security of your account:

1. You will not provide any false personal information on Facebook, or create an account for anyone other than yourself without permission.
2. You will not create more than one personal account.
3. If we disable your account, you will not create another one without our permission.
4. You will not use your personal timeline primarily for your own commercial gain, and will use a Facebook Page for such purposes.

5. You will not use Facebook if you are under 13.
6. You will not use Facebook if you are a convicted sex offender.
7. You will keep your contact information accurate and up-to-date.
8. You will not share your password (or in the case of developers, your secret key), let anyone else access your account, or do anything else that might jeopardize the security of your account.
9. You will not transfer your account (including any Page or application you administer) to anyone without first getting our written permission.
10. If you select a username or similar identifier for your account or Page, we reserve the right to remove or reclaim it if we believe it is appropriate (such as when a trademark owner complains about a username that does not closely relate to a user's actual name).

5. Protecting Other People's Rights

We respect other people's rights, and expect you to do the same.

1. You will not post content or take any action on Facebook that infringes or violates someone else's rights or otherwise violates the law.
2. We can remove any content or information you post on Facebook if we believe that it violates this Statement or our policies.
3. We provide you with tools to help you protect your intellectual property rights. To learn more, visit our How to Report Claims of Intellectual Property Infringement page.
4. If we remove your content for infringing someone else's copyright, and you believe we removed it by mistake, we will provide you with an opportunity to appeal.
5. If you repeatedly infringe other people's intellectual property rights, we will disable your account when appropriate.
6. You will not use our copyrights or trademarks (including Facebook, the Facebook and F Logos, FB, Face, Poke, Book and Wall), or any confusingly similar marks, except as expressly permitted by our Brand Usage Guidelines or with our prior written permission.
7. If you collect information from users, you will: obtain their consent, make it clear you (and not Facebook) are the one collecting their information, and post a privacy policy explaining what information you collect and how you will use it.
8. You will not post anyone's identification documents or sensitive financial information on Facebook.
9. You will not tag users or send email invitations to non-users without their consent. Facebook offers social reporting tools to enable users to provide feedback about tagging.

6. Mobile and Other Devices

1. We currently provide our mobile services for free, but please be aware that your carrier's normal rates and fees, such as text messaging fees, will still apply.
2. In the event you change or deactivate your mobile telephone number, you will update your account information on Facebook within 48 hours to ensure that your messages are not sent to the person who acquires your old number.

3. You provide consent and all rights necessary to enable users to sync (including through an application) their devices with any information that is visible to them on Facebook.

7. Payments

If you make a payment on Facebook or use Facebook Credits, you agree to our Payments Terms.

8. Special Provisions Applicable to Social Plugins

If you include our Social Plugins, such as the Share or Like buttons on your website, the following additional terms apply to you:

1. We give you permission to use Facebook's Social Plugins so that users can post links or content from your website on Facebook.
2. You give us permission to use and allow others to use such links and content on Facebook.
3. You will not place a Social Plugin on any page containing content that would violate this Statement if posted on Facebook.

9. Special Provisions Applicable to Developers/Operators of Applications and Websites

If you are a developer or operator of a Platform application or website, the following additional terms apply to you:

1. You are responsible for your application and its content and all uses you make of Platform. This includes ensuring your application or use of Platform meets our Facebook Platform Policies and our Advertising Guidelines.
2. Your access to and use of data you receive from Facebook, will be limited as follows:
 1. You will only request data you need to operate your application.
 2. You will have a privacy policy that tells users what user data you are going to use and how you will use, display, share, or transfer that data and you will include your privacy policy URL in the Developer Application.
 3. You will not use, display, share, or transfer a user's data in a manner inconsistent with your privacy policy.
 4. You will delete all data you receive from us concerning a user if the user asks you to do so, and will provide a mechanism for users to make such a request.
 5. You will not include data you receive from us concerning a user in any advertising creative.
 6. You will not directly or indirectly transfer any data you receive from us to (or use such data in connection with) any ad network, ad exchange, data broker, or other advertising related toolset, even if a user consents to that transfer or use.
 7. You will not sell user data. If you are acquired by or merge with a third party, you can continue to use user data within your application, but you cannot transfer user data outside of your application.

8. We can require you to delete user data if you use it in a way that we determine is inconsistent with users' expectations.
9. We can limit your access to data.
10. You will comply with all other restrictions contained in our Facebook Platform Policies.
3. You will not give us information that you independently collect from a user or a user's content without that user's consent.
4. You will make it easy for users to remove or disconnect from your application.
5. You will make it easy for users to contact you. We can also share your email address with users and others claiming that you have infringed or otherwise violated their rights.
6. You will provide customer support for your application.
7. You will not show third party ads or web search boxes on www.facebook.com.
8. We give you all rights necessary to use the code, APIs, data, and tools you receive from us.
9. You will not sell, transfer, or sublicense our code, APIs, or tools to anyone.
10. You will not misrepresent your relationship with Facebook to others.
11. You may use the logos we make available to developers or issue a press release or other public statement so long as you follow our Facebook Platform Policies.
12. We can issue a press release describing our relationship with you.
13. You will comply with all applicable laws. In particular you will (if applicable):
 1. have a policy for removing infringing content and terminating repeat infringers that complies with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act.
 2. comply with the Video Privacy Protection Act (VPPA), and obtain any opt-in consent necessary from users so that user data subject to the VPPA may be shared on Facebook. You represent that any disclosure to us will not be incidental to the ordinary course of your business.
14. We do not guarantee that Platform will always be free.
15. You give us all rights necessary to enable your application to work with Facebook, including the right to incorporate content and information you provide to us into streams, timelines, and user action stories.
16. You give us the right to link to or frame your application, and place content, including ads, around your application.
17. We can analyze your application, content, and data for any purpose, including commercial (such as for targeting the delivery of advertisements and indexing content for search).
18. To ensure your application is safe for users, we can audit it.
19. We can create applications that offer similar features and services to, or otherwise compete with, your application.

10. About Advertisements and Other Commercial Content Served or Enhanced by Facebook

Our goal is to deliver ads and commercial content that are valuable to our users and advertisers. In order to help us do that, you agree to the following:

1. You can use your privacy settings to limit how your name and profile picture may be associated with commercial, sponsored, or related content (such as a brand you like) served or enhanced by us. You give us permission to use your name and profile picture in connection with that content, subject to the limits you place.

2. We do not give your content or information to advertisers without your consent.
3. You understand that we may not always identify paid services and communications as such.

11. Special Provisions Applicable to Advertisers

You can target your desired audience by buying ads on Facebook or our publisher network. The following additional terms apply to you if you place an order through our online advertising portal (Order):

1. When you place an Order, you will tell us the type of advertising you want to buy, the amount you want to spend, and your bid. If we accept your Order, we will deliver your ads as inventory becomes available. When serving your ad, we do our best to deliver the ads to the audience you specify, although we cannot guarantee in every instance that your ad will reach its intended target.
2. In instances where we believe doing so will enhance the effectiveness of your advertising campaign, we may broaden the targeting criteria you specify.
3. You will pay for your Orders in accordance with our Payments Terms. The amount you owe will be calculated based on our tracking mechanisms.
4. Your ads will comply with our Advertising Guidelines.
5. We will determine the size, placement, and positioning of your ads.
6. We do not guarantee the activity that your ads will receive, such as the number of clicks your ads will get.
7. We cannot control how clicks are generated on your ads. We have systems that attempt to detect and filter certain click activity, but we are not responsible for click fraud, technological issues, or other potentially invalid click activity that may affect the cost of running ads.
8. You can cancel your Order at any time through our online portal, but it may take up to 24 hours before the ad stops running. You are responsible for paying for all ads that run.
9. Our license to run your ad will end when we have completed your Order. You understand, however, that if users have interacted with your ad, your ad may remain until the users delete it.
10. We can use your ads and related content and information for marketing or promotional purposes.
11. You will not issue any press release or make public statements about your relationship with Facebook without our prior written permission.
12. We may reject or remove any ad for any reason.
13. If you are placing ads on someone else's behalf, you must have permission to place those ads, including the following:
 1. You warrant that you have the legal authority to bind the advertiser to this Statement.
 2. You agree that if the advertiser you represent violates this Statement, we may hold you responsible for that violation.

12. Special Provisions Applicable to Pages

If you create or administer a Page on Facebook, or run a promotion or an offer from your Page, you agree to our Pages Terms.

13. Special Provisions Applicable to Software

1. If you download our software, such as a stand-alone software product or a browser plugin, you agree that from time to time, the software may download upgrades, updates and additional features from us in order to improve, enhance and further develop the software.
2. You will not modify, create derivative works of, decompile or otherwise attempt to extract source code from us, unless you are expressly permitted to do so under an open source license or we give you express written permission.

14. Amendments

1. Unless we make a change for legal or administrative reasons, or to correct an inaccurate statement, we will provide you with seven (7) days notice (for example, by posting the change on the Facebook Site Governance Page) and an opportunity to comment on changes to this Statement. You can also visit our Facebook Site Governance Page and "like" the Page to get updates about changes to this Statement.
2. If we make changes to policies referenced in or incorporated by this Statement, we may provide notice on the Site Governance Page.
3. Your continued use of Facebook following changes to our terms constitutes your acceptance of our amended terms.

15. Termination

If you violate the letter or spirit of this Statement, or otherwise create risk or possible legal exposure for us, we can stop providing all or part of Facebook to you. We will notify you by email or at the next time you attempt to access your account. You may also delete your account or disable your application at any time. In all such cases, this Statement shall terminate, but the following provisions will still apply: 2.2, 2.4, 3-5, 8.2, 9.1-9.3, 9.9, 9.10, 9.13, 9.15, 9.18, 10.3, 11.2, 11.5, 11.6, 11.9, 11.12, 11.13, and 15-19.

16. Disputes

1. You will resolve any claim, cause of action or dispute (claim) you have with us arising out of or relating to this Statement or Facebook exclusively in a state or federal court located in Santa Clara County. The laws of the State of California will govern this Statement, as well as any claim that might arise between you and us, without regard to

- conflict of law provisions. You agree to submit to the personal jurisdiction of the courts located in Santa Clara County, California for the purpose of litigating all such claims.
2. If anyone brings a claim against us related to your actions, content or information on Facebook, you will indemnify and hold us harmless from and against all damages, losses, and expenses of any kind (including reasonable legal fees and costs) related to such claim. Although we provide rules for user conduct, we do not control or direct users' actions on Facebook and are not responsible for the content or information users transmit or share on Facebook. We are not responsible for any offensive, inappropriate, obscene, unlawful or otherwise objectionable content or information you may encounter on Facebook. We are not responsible for the conduct, whether online or offline, or any user of Facebook.
 3. WE TRY TO KEEP FACEBOOK UP, BUG-FREE, AND SAFE, BUT YOU USE IT AT YOUR OWN RISK. WE ARE PROVIDING FACEBOOK AS IS WITHOUT ANY EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTIES INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, AND NON-INFRINGEMENT. WE DO NOT GUARANTEE THAT FACEBOOK WILL ALWAYS BE SAFE, SECURE OR ERROR-FREE OR THAT FACEBOOK WILL ALWAYS FUNCTION WITHOUT DISRUPTIONS, DELAYS OR IMPERFECTIONS. FACEBOOK IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ACTIONS, CONTENT, INFORMATION, OR DATA OF THIRD PARTIES, AND YOU RELEASE US, OUR DIRECTORS, OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES, AND AGENTS FROM ANY CLAIMS AND DAMAGES, KNOWN AND UNKNOWN, ARISING OUT OF OR IN ANY WAY CONNECTED WITH ANY CLAIM YOU HAVE AGAINST ANY SUCH THIRD PARTIES. IF YOU ARE A CALIFORNIA RESIDENT, YOU WAIVE CALIFORNIA CIVIL CODE §1542, WHICH SAYS: A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND TO CLAIMS WHICH THE CREDITOR DOES NOT KNOW OR SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS FAVOR AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THE RELEASE, WHICH IF KNOWN BY HIM MUST HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR. WE WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ANY LOST PROFITS OR OTHER CONSEQUENTIAL, SPECIAL, INDIRECT, OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES ARISING OUT OF OR IN CONNECTION WITH THIS STATEMENT OR FACEBOOK, EVEN IF WE HAVE BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES. OUR AGGREGATE LIABILITY ARISING OUT OF THIS STATEMENT OR FACEBOOK WILL NOT EXCEED THE GREATER OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100) OR THE AMOUNT YOU HAVE PAID US IN THE PAST TWELVE MONTHS. APPLICABLE LAW MAY NOT ALLOW THE LIMITATION OR EXCLUSION OF LIABILITY OR INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES, SO THE ABOVE LIMITATION OR EXCLUSION MAY NOT APPLY TO YOU. IN SUCH CASES, FACEBOOK'S LIABILITY WILL BE LIMITED TO THE FULLEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW.

17. Special Provisions Applicable to Users Outside the United States

We strive to create a global community with consistent standards for everyone, but we also strive to respect local laws. The following provisions apply to users and non-users who interact with Facebook outside the United States:

1. You consent to having your personal data transferred to and processed in the United States.
2. If you are located in a country embargoed by the United States, or are on the U.S. Treasury Department's list of Specially Designated Nationals you will not engage in commercial activities on Facebook (such as advertising or payments) or operate a Platform application or website.
3. Certain specific terms that apply only for German users are available here.

18. Definitions

1. By "Facebook" we mean the features and services we make available, including through (a) our website at www.facebook.com and any other Facebook branded or co-branded websites (including sub-domains, international versions, widgets, and mobile versions); (b) our Platform; (c) social plugins such as the Like button, the Share button and other similar offerings and (d) other media, software (such as a toolbar), devices, or networks now existing or later developed.
2. By "Platform" we mean a set of APIs and services (such as content) that enable others, including application developers and website operators, to retrieve data from Facebook or provide data to us.
3. By "information" we mean facts and other information about you, including actions taken by users and non-users who interact with Facebook.
4. By "content" we mean anything you or other users post on Facebook that would not be included in the definition of information.
5. By "data" or "user data" or "user's data" we mean any data, including a user's content or information that you or third parties can retrieve from Facebook or provide to Facebook through Platform.
6. By "post" we mean post on Facebook or otherwise make available by using Facebook.
7. By "use" we mean use, copy, publicly perform or display, distribute, modify, translate, and create derivative works of.
8. By "active registered user" we mean a user who has logged into Facebook at least once in the previous 30 days.
9. By "application" we mean any application or website that uses or accesses Platform, as well as anything else that receives or has received data from us. If you no longer access Platform but have not deleted all data from us, the term application will apply until you delete the data.

19. Other

1. If you are a resident of or have your principal place of business in the US or Canada, this Statement is an agreement between you and Facebook, Inc. Otherwise, this Statement is an agreement between you and Facebook Ireland Limited. References to "us," "we," and "our" mean either Facebook, Inc. or Facebook Ireland Limited, as appropriate.
2. This Statement makes up the entire agreement between the parties regarding Facebook, and supersedes any prior agreements.

3. If any portion of this Statement is found to be unenforceable, the remaining portion will remain in full force and effect.
4. If we fail to enforce any of this Statement, it will not be considered a waiver.
5. Any amendment to or waiver of this Statement must be made in writing and signed by us.
6. You will not transfer any of your rights or obligations under this Statement to anyone else without our consent.
7. All of our rights and obligations under this Statement are freely assignable by us in connection with a merger, acquisition, or sale of assets, or by operation of law or otherwise.
8. Nothing in this Statement shall prevent us from complying with the law.
9. This Statement does not confer any third party beneficiary rights.
10. We reserve all rights not expressly granted to you.
11. You will comply with all applicable laws when using or accessing Facebook.
